Featured at the Holly theater today are two new stars and a brand new love team. Lee Tracy and Ann Dvorak who are featured in "The Strange Love of Molly Louvain," are teamed for the first time and make a decided hit. Ann Dvorak has had but few parts in the movies but in these few parts she has been so outstanding that fans throughout the nation have wanted to see more of her and she has rapidly become a star. Lee Tracy is an interesting character also. His work heretofore has been confined principally to the New York stage where he carried off top honors in such outstanding plays as "Broadway," "Front Page" and "Louder Please." The supporting cast of these two in "The Strange Love of Molly Louvain" includes Guy Kibbee, Leslie Fenton and Evelyn Knapp. Short subjects at the Holly today include a comedy wow, featuring Richey Craig, Jr. in "Maybe I'm Wrong."

Fiero Returns—Al Fiero has returned to Medford after spending several days attending to business matters in northern California.

Guests of Howards—Professor and Mrs. E. L. Musick and daughter, Beth, of Newark, Calif., are guests in this city of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Howard. Professor Musick is principal of schools in Newark. Mrs. Musick is Mrs. Howard's sister.

To Paint Numbers—LeRoy Hornsby today was given permission by the city to paint house numbers on the street curbs in the city. It is not required by the city, however, for townspeople to have this work done. It was pointed out, Mr. Hornsby plans to start soliciting the first of the week from house to house. He said today that the background would be painted black with white letters.

Visit Relatives—Lt. and Mrs. Jesse Dressler and daughters Caroline and Gertrude Ann of the Hawaiian Islands, where Lt. Dressler is stationed, arrived in Medford Friday on the Shasta to spend a few days visiting his folks, the F. H. Dresslers. The Dresslers have not been in Medford for two years. They are en route to New York City.

To Raise Frogs—S. D. Brown of Ferrydale recently obtained a shipment of breeding frogs from R. J. Worth of Portland, who maintains several frog ponds near Vancouver. The consignment to Brown was placed in a pond fed with cold water from a mountain spring. The investment in this vicinity is largely an experiment. Its success depends upon how cool the water of the ponds can be kept, during the summer months. Frogs require cool water for a habitat. — Grants Pass Daily Courier.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

To Our Southern Oregon Friends!

During the past year we have truthfully and sincerely endeavored in every way to present to the Southern Oregon public the most outstanding and highest calibre entertainment procurable. We have diligently combed the markets for screen attractions of proven worth, and the same identical programs have been presented in a multitude of cities elsewhere at much higher admission prices . . . in fact twice as much in many instances.

In the meantime our film costs have been mounting all out of proportion to previous seasons, and it is continuing thus, despite the drop in costs in other commodities.

Because of this, and because we are extremely anxious to maintain our high level of quality entertainment, and because, under our present admission price schedule we are unable to continue these types of programs, we find it imperative that we revise our admission prices.

Beginning on Sunday, June 26th, 1932, our new matinee adult general admission price at the Holly and Fox Craterian theaters will be 25 cents, and our evening adult general admission price will be 35 cents. The children's price in both theaters continues at 10 cents anytime.

We are sincerely grateful for your past patronage, and it will be our sole aim to offer only the utmost in service and entertainment in the future, and we trust we will continue to enjoy the hearty cooperation extended to us by our friends in the past.

In Shopping Saturday—Mrs. S. E. Howlett and daughter, Miss Hattie Howlett of Eagle Point were shopping in this city yesterday. Mrs. Howlett reported a recent visit from her daughter, Mrs. Millie Hoyt. Mrs. Dale Stokes of Eagle Point was also a visitor as was Mrs. Otto aster of Phoenix.

"The Lost Squadron" spectacular air epic, playing at the Fox Rialto today and tomorrow, brought Richard Dix, the star, many new acting experiences.

For the first time in his career, Dix plays a tramp—a real, pandhandling, red-idling "senior boy." For once he doesn't get the girl. He reveals himself as a first class pantomime in a series of eight scenes. He also plays an aviator for the first time.

Dick Grace, famed stunt aviator and novelist, wrote the story and performed many of the "crack-ups" seen in the picture.

A superlative cast supports Dix, included in the list of the players are Mary Astor, Erich von Stroheim and Robert Armstrong.

Geddes Announces Big Craterian Hit

Contracts were closed today by Don Geddes, manager of the Fox Craterian theatre, for a road show presentation of "Grand Hotel," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's most ambitious screen production. The picture, which is now being shown as a legitimate attraction throughout the country, will be seen here for only two days—Wednesday and Thursday, July 6th and 7th.

The cast in "Grand Hotel" is regarded as probably the greatest which has yet been seen in one picture. Heading the list are Greta Garbo, John Barrymore, Joan Crawford, Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone and Jean Harsholt.

Reports from other critics where the film has been shown indicates that it has proved an outstanding

Hollywood—screen fame and the price it demands and a revelation of the inside stuff that builds a star creates the unusual setting for Constance Bennett's new starring vehicle, which comes to the Fox Craterian for three days, starting today. Teeming with glamour, colorful as an eye-stopping fireworks display; flashing with vivid personality and loaded with that fascinating humaneness that everyone loves, this picture comes as one of the most outstanding productions of the season. For the first time, the human, dramatic side of the film capital of the world is pictured as it actually is—no ridicule, no glorification. The supporting cast includes Nell Hamilton, Lowell Sherman, Gregory Ratoff and Eddie Anderson. The story was written by Adela Rogers St. John and directed by George Cukor.

and notable success, winning the hearty approval of press and public and establishing many new attendance records.

Plans now are being made to make the local engagement a gala affair, according to Geddes. The Fox Craterian showing will be the only time "Grand Hotel" will be seen in this southern Oregon territory this season. Prior to its being made into a talking picture, "Grand Hotel" won international fame both as a book and as a play. More than 5,000,000 people have read the novel, it is reported. On the stage it was possibly the outstanding hit of a number of years, playing a full season in New York, London, Paris and Berlin.
