BUTLER EXPECTS PROHI REPEAL TO BENEFIT PEOPLE

PARIS, July 1.-(AP)-Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, said today that the work of the two political conventions in Chicago shows clearly that the 18th amendment is "fortunately doomed to early repeal."

The result, he said, "will be of the greatest benefit to the American people, for it will bring to an end an era of lawlessness and contempt for law and profitable violation of the law which is without parallel in the history of any modern nation."

"Plainly the Hoover straddle plank is doomed to the fate which it invites and deserves," said Dr. Butler.

"The prohibition plank adopted by the Democratic convention is definite and direct. Of its five paragraphs the first three are in effect identical with declarations contained in the minority report of the committee on resolutions at the Republican convention, which was defeated by the most vigorous efforts of the administration and its office holders on the convention floor.

It is clear that the overwhelming sentiment in both political parties favors immediate repeal of the 18th amendment to the end that the police power of the states may be restored to them and that the liquor traffic, which is now running wholly as large, may be brought under effective control and subjected to tax."
