

ARTIFICIAL BOOST FOR EGGS FINDING TRADE UNWILLING

PORTLAND, July 8—(AP)—There are two schools of interests trying to artificially advance the price of eggs in face of a trade that appears unwilling to make such a movement. The real market for eggs is not showing the strength previously indicated. Instead of the advance that is being tried by manipulative interests. There is no change in the selling price of eggs and there is no shortage of supplies even though receipts are decreasing.

General trading trend of the butter market is not better than steady. In fact in spots the situation appears a trifle dull.

There is a rather good demand in the market for live chickens. The entire line is showing a strong tone at the late price advance offered by killers. Turkeys are arriving and generally selling 16c for best dressed hens.

In spots the market for tomatoes is up a trifle here with the trade getting larger day by day as a result of the low price. Hothouse stock is up 1c lb.

There is a demand for good green corn but the market is receiving considerable stock that is not so good. Sales of the best are being made around 25¢/doz.

More or less excitement results from the extreme shortage of string beans. Both yellow and green stock are very scarce with prices higher for the day.

Very keen demand is showing for loganberries along the wholesale way with wholesale prices up to 75¢ crate generally for the day. Raspberries and blackcaps are just about holding. Strawberries are of nominal volume.

CATTLE PRICES TREND UPWARD

CORVALLIS, Ore., July 8.—(AP)—With cattle prices taking an upward trend, Oregon range and pasture conditions are reported generally good to excellent, according to information gathered from county agents and other sources by the O. S. C. extension service, co-operating with the U. S. D. A. bureau of agricultural economics.

Lower ranges are beginning to brown but livestock is in excellent condition. A heavy increase in grass fed cattle over the last year is reported from Crook county.

Cattle prices at Chicago made another gain of 25 cents during the week, although prices at Portland remained unchanged.

Hog prices have advanced almost steadily in the past month and have now reached a high point for the season at $5.50 in Portland and $5.35 at Chicago for top quality light butchers.

LAKEVIEW, BURNS LINK IS OPENED

LAKEVIEW, Ore., July 8.—(AP)—An automobile caravan which started Thursday from Redding, Calif., and stopped here over night was en route today to Burns for the formal opening of the highway between Lakeview and Burns.

The Lakeview-Burns highway is the final link in the Yellowstone cut-off route which affords a new motor path from Yellowstone and other points east to Redding, Calif. At Redding it connects with the Pacific highway.

The caravan, numbering more than 100 persons, was entertained here last night at a banquet arranged by the Lake county chamber of commerce. Portland, San Francisco, Oakland, Klamath Falls, Redding, Burns and other cities were represented.

CROP DAMAGES REPORTED FROM WORM BRIGADE

Complaints of crop damages from the recent invasion of army worms are still pouring into the county agent's office, R. O. Fowler reported today. The worms are appearing in all sections of the county and loudest cries have been received from growers of melons, tomatoes, potatoes and other garden produce.

While the worms are plentiful in alfalfa fields, they leave as soon as the hay is cut and in no way damage it for market, if discovered before they have eaten the leaves off the plant. The exodus from alfalfa fields to gardens then begins and the real trouble starts, Mr. Fowler explained this morning, as removal of garden produce from the soil at this time would mean great loss.

The best method of combat, where the worms are very thick, he stated, is accomplished by first digging a trench 12 or 15 inches deep in front of the pest's line of march. Post holes constructed in the trench then become the gathering place of the worms, upon their arrival, and burning is a simple process.

Where they are not so plentiful, poison bait is being used effectively in the county, but where the worms are found in great droves it is impossible to feed them all poison before they have destroyed the crop. Although the worms are found over a much larger territory, they are not so numerous as they were two years ago, Mr. Fowler reports. Practically every farming community of the county has complained of existence of the worms and the county agent is of the opinion that they hatched right in the vicinity of their present locations. In the spring the worms come out as moths and lay the eggs, which are now hatching out the army worms. The worms, in turn, will soon enter the cocoon stage to send forth another crop of moths next spring.

The parasite, natural enemy of the worms, which usually destroys a large portion of them each season, was evidently inactive last summer. County Agent Fowler stated today in explanation of their reappearance in great number this year. The parasite commonly destroys the pest while in the cocoon stage. The drought of last year might have had something to do with the parasite's failure to function, he said.
