The one sure way to keep the baby's milk clean and pure is in an electric refrigerator. No chances must be taken with his food. But grown-ups live healthier and perhaps longer if their food is also protected from moisture, germs and dirt. In most families the food saving alone will pay for the refrigerator, and what a convenience to have ice cubes always available—delicious, frozen desserts and salads from left-overs—milk foods and sandwich spreads always ready, perfectly fresh even for days. You can afford to wait no longer for your electric refrigerator. Visit your hardware, furniture or electrical store and see their displays.

In the opinion of yesterday's theatre crowd "Tom Brown of Culver" is one of the finest shows to come to Medford for some time. Yesterday's audiences expressed themselves as very well pleased with the picture. "Tom Brown of Culver" is not, as some have supposed, strictly a children's picture. In fact, it is very much of an adult picture and one that the kiddies will get all excited about, too.

The characters are all adults and not, as some have suspected, children. H. B. Warner, who is well known for his dramatic ability, has a very important role in the picture and one that is very impressive. The lead is played by Tom Brown, a recruit from the stage. The picture will be at the Holly for the remainder of the week.

KERBY GRANGERS FAVOR ECONOMY

At a recent meeting of the Illinois Grange in Josephine county a resolution was adopted whereby members of the organization pledged themselves not to vote for any candidates in November who does not voluntarily subscribe to a public pledge to take a 30 per cent reduction in salary even though fixed by law.

Other items to be subscribed to were "a revulsion of all widows' and paupers' expenses other than those absolutely necessary." The money thus saved, according to the Grange plan, is to be used to provide employment for destitute families.
