The Grants Pass outfit it seems is in a drive for state championship honors, though just who they have defeated to warrant such consideration is not clear at this end of the line.

LOMSKI HAS FILL OF M'CARTHY BOY

Prospects of a re-match for Leo Lomski and Jack McCarthy on Promoter Mack Lillard's next fight card here August 3, appear remote as the "Aberdeen Assassin" apparently has had all of Mr. McCarthy he wants. Leo landed a kayo at the opening of the fourth round in their bout here Wednesday, hitting the Frisco lad when he was turned talking to someone outside the ropes. The unsatisfactory ending of the battle which during its three rounds was the most hectic display seen here in years, with McCarthy giving the Polish boy an artistic shellacking, left the fans eager for a rematch. However, Lillard's efforts to sign Lomski have proven fruitless, even the offer of a $300 guarantee leaving the "assassin" cold.

Talk of a match between McCarthy and Dixon, the Portland colored man, have been heard, though according to Lillard, it may be that an entirely new lineup will be imported for the next card.

house, the veterans administration and the treasury, were bent on sending the men home.

As the week ended President Hoover still was concerned with finding the right men to fill two places on the reconstruction finance corporation board. They must take the place of ex-officio members removed in the relief bill.

Applications were already pouring in from states and cities for loans out of the $300,000,000 set apart for relief of destitution, but even larger scale plans were afoot for launching self-sustaining construction by states, counties, cities, and semi-public agencies, out of the grand total of $1,500,000,000 which the reconstruction unit is empowered to raise and lend for the purpose.

Federal Aid Uncertain. "Congress has passed legislation which in time may help this community but there is no knowing how long before that help will arrive, nor in what form it will come. Neither are we certain that it will take the place of such self helps as the Community Chest. But of one thing we are certain and that is that even if we were certain of help in the future that does not mitigate our present suffering nor does it excuse those whose pledges are unpaid and uncollectable. The good name of this community is at stake and the directors of your Community Chest propose to allow the citizens themselves to settle the question."

ectors or to the workers in the afflicted organizations or to their fellow citizens who have lived up to their pledges, to refuse to honor their promises.

"The monthly reports of the Red Cross, the Salvation Army and the County Health Association show the huge amount of necessary work which these three organizations carry on. The money pledged last fall has been carefully expended and every dollar has helped directly to relieve hunger, sickness or some similar distress. The character-building clubs have already taken a twenty percent cut in their proposed budgets and are willing to cut even further in the interest of those in dire need.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hadley and the employees of the Rex Cafe entertained for the couple with a wedding supper at the cafe. The table was beautifully decorated with a bouquet of pink and white flowers.
