Grants Pass Show

Attracts Visitors

Of interest to many members of the local garden club was the gladiolus show held in Grants Pass Saturday and Sunday, in which were exhibited some of the choicest and most attractive flowers produced in the neighboring city. The show, arranged by the Grants Pass Garden club, was described in the Courier as the largest and most elaborate gladiolus show ever held in Grants Pass.

Not entered in competition, but shown for the express purpose of indicating to the tourists and people of this community the result of ideal climatic conditions for raising different types of flowers, large displays of gladioli of many varieties were arranged by the following growers: Ben R. Bones, D. S. Pruitt, J. K. Wilbur and Harry Plummer.

The Medford Garden club gladiolus show was held a short time ago and the products of local gardens were viewed by guests from all sections of the valley. Interest in the production of the brilliant summer flowers is apparently on the increase throughout southern Oregon and many unusually beautiful blossoms of superior size and coloring are being produced.

Diamond Lake Gathering

Place of Many Folk

The Diamond Lake resort has been a popular gathering place of local society folk during the past several weeks. Swimming, boating and fishing add much interest to summer days there and cabins furnish the necessary comforts.

Among those returning from a holiday at the lake yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Parrett, Mr. and Mrs. John Butler and Miss Margaret Hensley, who was guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arnel Butler and Miss Arlene Butler at the resort during the past week.

Presbyterian Group

Has Jolly Sunday

The Christian Endeavor group of the First Presbyterian church had a crowded day yesterday. The members followed church with a trip to Shady Cove, where they were guests at the Elliott cabin. Swimming, boating and a picnic filled the early hours of the day, which was completed with an Endeavor program.

Those enjoying the day on the river were Betty Vilm, Shirley Chadwick, Amy Elliott, Dorr Barrett, Barbara Holt, Cherokee and Lucille Seltzer, Dolph Jones, Russell Ulrich, Bob Littrell and Harvey Field.

COUNTY IN MOVE TO OBTAIN FUNDS VOTED ON RELIEF

The Jackson county court today took preliminary steps for the securing of financial relief, as provided by the unemployment relief act, as passed by the last congress and approved by the President.

The county court will seek knowledge on the extent of its legal rights in the question and the procedure necessary for filing of a formal application for the funds. Copies of the unemployment relief bill are expected to arrive this week from Washington, D. C. from Senator Stetson, and the district attorney has been instructed to point out the Oregon law bearing upon the subject.

Under the Oregon law, it is said, the county court cannot obligate the county in any sum in excess of $5000, except when an emergency exists. The county court holds the present situation comes under this heading and that federal funds for road work are needed for early action, and during the coming winter to relieve the local unemployment. Under the relief law, Oregon will receive close to $3,000,000 for road work.

The county court is also desirous of knowing whether or not a vote of the people is required on the subject, and to have a legal ruling if such is the case, in ample time to have it placed upon the November ballot.

The unemployment relief act provides that the federal funds be distributed to states and counties for road work, and not to individuals, as a few presume.

Talent

TALENT, July 25.—(Sp.)—Eight members of the Willing Workers of the Talent Bible school spent Monday afternoon helping their neighbors. They helped Mrs. Percy Brown and Miss Mary Leslie with quilts they are making.

Mrs. Bowman Brown has returned to her home on Anderson creek from Portland, where she was a guest of her parents for a week, helping them celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Marsh of Los Angeles are visiting in the valley, the house guests of Mrs. Marsh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Wedge.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy LeVander joined a party of friends from Medford and Roseburg at Thompson creek on the Applegate, for a picnic Sunday. Mrs. Dora Smith and son William of Napa, Cal., are guests of Rev. and Mrs. Lewisadder.

Illa and Ollie Hill returned with Lena Howard to her home in Riddle, Ore., for a week's visit.

Miss Gladys Crosby is here from Dunsmuir to spend the summer with her father, William Crosby. Frank Cameron of Seattle came down and took his sister, Mrs. Byron DeFord, and son Buddy, home with him, returning by way of Myrtle Point and Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Newbury, Miss Edna Newbury, Mrs. Joseph Pope and Miss Mabie Fall of Ashland attended the missionary meeting at Grants Pass Tuesday. Miss Edna Newbury is a delegate to the state convention at Portland and gave her report at Grants Pass.

Miss Abbie Learning is in Klamath Falls this week, guest of her sister, Mrs. Elvie Coocan and Mr. Coocan.

Mrs. J. B. Plymire and son Giles of Seattle and Mrs. Clyde Plymire of Los Angeles were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jones. The ladies are sisters-in-law.

Claud Jones, who is employed by the forestry service, spent the week-end at home.

Miss Esther Holdridge, who spent the past week in Portland visiting friends, has returned home.

Mrs. Spencer Ames of Bremerton, Wash., arrived in the valley Sunday via airplane and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bell.

Mrs. Clarence Hunter and infant daughter, Virginia Ann, are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bates.

Mr. Cobel, who is working in Merrill, spent the week-end at home.

Mrs. Mary Lowe is quite ill at her home this week.

Charles Long, Jr., is driving for Everett Skeeters since he was hurt.

Art of Ancients Shown In Objects Brought Here

(By Eva Nealon.)

A tall brass lamp, bearing miniature of the crescent moon, the royal peacock, and other forms significant in the life of the Egyptian, before which a shah stood in reverence while the oils burned slowly, a lock of his loved one's hair, conjuring her heart forever his, has been brought to Medford by John Kerenian of Seattle, formerly of this city. An Armenian by birth, an American by many years and habits, and a worker of rugs.

"And the lamp is out of oil," electrified in keeping with the modern trend, "and modern youths need not expect magic from it." Mr. Kerenian said yesterday, after placing the lamp in the Holly theater to be displayed for two weeks with other furnishings which knew the luxury that was Egypt's 100 years ago.

Towering high above the heads of the populace, to those who can interpret the intricate carvings of its perfectly molded brass, the lamp conveys the thoughts of Omar Khayyam and many another eastern poet and philosopher, but tells no other tales of harems it has known.

Above the standard in the bottom of which, incense was burned, the lamp proper is enclosed in glass of several colors, green for holiness, blue for friendship, red for affection, and above all other decorations are the crescent moon and star, which Mr. Kerenian said yesterday, explaining the presence of the star in all the lavish furnishings, reveals a Christian maker, under Mohammedan rule.

Near the lamp in the Holly enclosure stands a royal chair, inlaid with mother of pearl in the height of regal splendor. The high back, which is almost a solid mass of lead, brass and mother of pearl, all inlaid in a design of exquisite workmanship.

is topped with two white doves of peace. The star also makes its appearance. No paint, no nails or other modern methods of workmanship have been utilized in construction of the chair.

A desk, of royal design, made for Hodge Kender Bay, for the favorite of his harem, who later became his bride, rivals the lamp in beauty and legend. Seven years, seven months and seven days were required for its completion. Many kinds of woods have been worked into the rich pattern, which covers each little knob of the desk, its back, legs and the chair in which the harem beauty sat to pen stipules. To illustrate the time required for its making, Mr. Kerenian said there are 5200 pieces of wood in one leg of the desk.

The pattern is brought out through the use of dark and light woods in their natural colors entirely, no paint or varnish being applied to the desk. Its making was kept secret until the heart of the girl was won by Hodge Kender Bay, through the burning of a lock of her hair at the magic lamp, which Mr. Kerenian accredits with breaking many eastern hearts.

When the girl of his choice died Kender Bay sent the desk to his very dear friend, Cardinal Azarian at Constantinople. When the cardinal died 41 years ago the desk was sent to Jerusalem, where it was purchased by an American collector and brought to the states 28 years ago with the Kerenian, the royal chair and another of less decorative design, but equivalent in beauty, now on display at the Holly.

They were all made at Damascus, Mr. Kerenian said, by workmen who were judged and judged themselves not by the financial worth of their products but by their beauty and perfection, disregarding all clocks in their supreme effort to create something of beauty to leave behind them.

My Beauty Hint

JANET GAYNOR

To keep my complexion good I use a honey treatment night and morning.

I cold cream my face, rub it in and remove it with a soft cloth. Next I wash my face with soap and warm water.

Then I apply the honey and pat it in for five minutes. Next I wash it off with cold water and apply an astringent. The honey removes impurities and leaves my skin in excellent condition.

PAVED GARDENS LATEST METHOD TO FOIL WEEDS

ARLINGTON, Va.—(AP)—Paving may be better than plowing for your backyard garden.

Growing vegetables in "cracks" in a garden pavement is the latest experimental idea of the department of agriculture. It may have been inspired by the persistence of grass that grows up through the cracks in old brick and cement sidewalks.

The garden "pavement" is really a mulch made of concrete blocks, an extension of the old paper mulch idea. A mulch covers all the surface of the soil except the space where the crops are grown.

Other mulches of iron, cinders, zinc and aluminum are being tried. The experiment still is in its infancy, but in tests so far beans, peas, strawberries and other small fruits have grown as well with the permanent "pavement" mulch as with ordinary cultivation.

The permanent mulch controls weeds and conserves moisture. It also warms the soil earlier in the spring and keeps it warm longer in the fall, because the blocks absorb the heat of the sun. Rain enters the ground along the rows between the blocks.

The blocks made of cinders are covered with asphalt to make them black, so that they will absorb as much heat as possible, and blocks made of other materials are painted black for the same purpose. Government scientists believe the "pavement" will have no ill effects on the soil.

Would Bar "Walkathons." ST. LOUIS—(AP)—As a result of two "walkathons" staged here a movement for an ordinance to prohibit such endurance contests as degrading and harmful to health was started by a group of citizens.

SEE THE DIFFERENCE!

LOOK, HE AND KIT HAVE BEEN DANCING TOGETHER ALL EVENING

I WONDER IF THEY'RE REALLY ENGAGED

No excuse for "B.O."

even in hottest weather

TRUE, we perspire freely these broiling summer days. But it's our own fault if perspiration ever offends. Not the humidity but our own carelessness is to blame for "B.O." (body odor). For there's such an easy, delightful way to be safe. Just bathe regularly with Lifebuoy. Its creamy, refreshing, searching lather purifies pores—frees them of odor. Guards health by removing germs from hands. Its pleasant, extra-clean scent—that vanishes as you rinse—tells you better than words that Lifebuoy protects.

STOCK ON ROADS TRAFFIC MENACE

Stock running loose on the highways of southern Oregon, outside of herd law districts, are becoming a menace to the authorities and a problem to the traffic.

The Crater Lake highway, north of the Eagle Point district, is one of the favorite ranges of cattle and horses, and within the past ten days the state police have been called upon to go out and kill a maimed horse or cow that came out second best with an auto or truck. It is claimed that motorists are kept so busy watching out for a steer they have no time to gaze upon the scenic beauties.

It is further charged that the horses, of which there are quite a few, lie down upon the pavement to dose, and blend in so well with the color of the pavement that the driver does not see them in time, resulting in quite a mess. A truck ran over a colt last Thursday night, and any number of fenders have been crumpled by smashing into the back end of a cow.

Just what to do about travel arteries being made a range is the puzzle. In herd law districts the authorities can hold the owners responsible, but in open country the stock can roam where it will.

PROSPECT P. M. EXAM SLATED

To fill the vacancy in the position of postmaster in the Prospect district, the United States civil service commission has announced, at the request of the president, an open competitive examination to be held in this city. The Prospect postoffice is one of nine in the United States in which vacancies have occurred. The salary offered is $1100.

Full information and application blanks may be obtained at the postoffice for which the examination is held, or from the United States civil service commission, Washington, D. C.

To be eligible for the examination an applicant must be a citizen of the United States, must reside within the delivery of the post office, where he must have his home for two years, and must be in good physical health, not younger than 21 years of age and not older than 65.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Guches and two children, and Mr. Guches' two brothers visited a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Mark Applegate of the Buzzard mine. They returned to Medford July 21.

George Trusty and Clifford Ayres left Thursday for Abbott Butte to rebuild a cabin for T. E. Daniels of Medford.

Stewart Ditworth has been doing maintenance work on the Copco lines between Elk creek and Perist, the past few days.

Roy Ganfield, representative of Watkins products was doing business here one day this week.

Harvey Morgan delivered a load of lumber to Mrs. Clara Hood July 20. Mrs. Hood plans to erect a house on her homestead near Eagle Point.

Hugh Guthrie, Henry Childreth and Clarence Moore are grading the new Woodruff Meadows motorway.

Martin Abbott, the Rawleigh's man called in the Perist district July 21. The dance given at the old Morgan home Saturday night was well attended. Over seventy plates were served and a good time was reported by all.

J. P. DeWitt and son Don called at the Matthews cabin Thursday.

ANGELS, ROYALTY IN STONE, FIND BUYERS

LONDON—(AP)—Kings in good condition, nine guineas each; one queen eight guineas, because she is rather crumpled; angels at five guineas, fairly well preserved.

These are some of the bargains being offered in stonework taken from the houses of parliament in the process of re-facing.

Members of parliament are taking pieces of the stone home for garden ornaments. Dominion visitors are often buyers, but few Americans seem interested.

When Traveling

VEGETABLE, FRUIT GROWERS WARNED

C. R. Jester, inspector for the state department of agriculture, issued a warning to all growers of fresh fruits and vegetables here today to the effect that the grades established for fresh fruits and vegetables will be stringently adhered to in the future.

Inspector Jester is stationed in Grants Pass and will make the southern Oregon territory frequently, examining all marketable products with aim to enforcing the law. Names and addresses of growers must be on the packages and the weight and grades.
