BLOOD FLOWS AS BONUS ARMY BATTLES COPS AT CAPITAL

Comment on the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
THESE words are written at McKenzie Bridge, on the McKenzie highway, about half way between Bend and Eugene.
Back up the McKenzie a few miles is the Belknap hot spring. Off to one side, just above Horse Creek, is the Foley hot spring.
Both are popular resorts.

THERE was a time when these hot spring resorts were patronized by people who came there and settled down and spent all the way from two weeks to the whole summer.
Those days are gone. They are patronized now by flitters—people who fit in and spend a day or two and then flit on, restless and distance hungry. That is what the automobile does to us.
Resort owners cuss and sigh for the good old days, but little good it does them. They'd better be looking forward and figuring out what they're going to do when the airplane comes along.

FOLEY SPRINGS is owned, operated and publicized—especially the latter—by Mrs. Ella Hafflinger, who is a character in her own right and proud as Lucifer of that fact.
She can out-cuss a mule skinner whenever the spirit so moves her, and it does so rather often. And she is just as apt to cuss out a prospective guest as anybody else.
As a result, her reputation has spread all over Oregon, and people come from far and near to see if she is really as shocking an old hellion as she is pictured.
All of which is good for her business.

HERE is a dark secret: As an old hellion, Mrs. Hafflinger is a first class fraud. She can cuss, to be sure, and does so. And she can tell an off-color story in a manner to cause hardened traveling men to turn pale green with envy.
But under this rough exterior beats a warm and sympathetic heart. When some good deed that involves considerable effort and sacrifice needs doing up in this country, it is pretty apt to be Mrs. Hafflinger who does it.

BUT, for heaven's sake, don't ever let her know that this writer has given her away in this shameless manner. Skinning alive and rubbing salt over the flayed carcass would be the mildest penalty she would mete out if she ever heard of it.
She is proud of her wicked reputation and wouldn't lose it for worlds.

HARRY HAYES is the mayor and city council, the street commissioner and the chief of police of McKenzie Bridge. He is a guide and packer of sorts, and can talk the left hind leg off of a mule.
The devil of it is that he talks interestingly enough that one has to listen, even when sleepy.

HARRY is a former city slicker—for many years a hardware man. His health failed him, and to get it back he headed for the hills. To make a living while getting his health back, he went into the guiding and packing business.
His business thrived to such an extent that when his health returned he twiddled his fingers at the city and claimed the great open spaces for his own.

HOW does such a business thrive? Well, here is one detail: Last spring, Harry and his dogs treed and did away with ten cougars. "The bounties," he explains, "paid my taxes for the year and paid for the keep of my horses."
Just how the cougars were slain this writer does not know, but suspects they were chased out on a limb, where they were helpless, and then were talked to death.

SPEAKING of characters, this McKenzie country isn't what it used to be when old Ben Finn was alive. Old Ben called himself Huck, and

Officers Open Fire When Veterans Resist Eviction From Federal Structure

Ex-Service Man Killed, Several Wounded Brickbats Thrown During Rioting Cavalry Called to Scene

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP)—White House officials late today said information had come to them from secret service agents that the veterans who led the attack upon policemen here today "were entirely the communist group." This statement was made by one of the president's secretaries. It was not amplified in any way.
WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP)—William Hashka, veteran from Chicago, was shot dead and another veteran seriously wounded in rioting between bonus seekers and police near the capitol today, and troops were ordered out at the direction of President Hoover.
A bullet through the heart was the one that killed Hashka, when police opened fire upon veterans who were advancing toward them. A group of his comrades took the man to a hospital in a patrol wagon, accompanied by two policemen. He was dead when he reached there.
Everett Carlson, 40, a bonus marcher from Ohio, is in a serious condition at casualty hospital with a bullet wound in the back and lower abdomen. Doctors said his recovery was doubtful.
Several wounded.

Several other bonus marchers were treated for lesser injuries inflicted by brickbats. They included an Indian, Chief Mountain Bear, 42, who was cut about the chest, and John Wyndom, 39, of Cleveland, O., who was cut about the hip and neck.
Secretary Hurley ordered cavalry from Fort Myer to rush into the city at fast pace, saying he had been informed by the president that "the civil government of the District of Columbia has reported to him it is unable to maintain law and order."
After hearing a report from Officer George Shinault, who said he fired the first shot, Pelham D. Glassford, police chief, said the shooting which killed was "justified."
Several police were injured, one, Private Scott, being reported to have died from a blow by a flying brick that hit him in the head in a clash in the morning. This report, which could not be verified immediately, aroused the police to anger in the minutes before the rioting that led to the shooting.
The second squadron of the "drain" cavalry from Fort Myer was taken up on the Mall at the rear of the White House waiting for orders.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP)—A group of the bonus seeking veterans today resorted to violence after being evicted from a building they had been occupying on lower Pennsylvania avenue. They chased police for some distance by throwing bricks at the officers.
Apparently without any reason, the fighting broke out near the assembly ground of the veterans, after they had been removed from their shelter.
A thousand or more of the bonus seekers had arrived on the scene from Anacostia and had broken through thin police lines around the block.
This developed after Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, had ordered every officer available for that purpose to guard against trouble.

Evacuation Ordered.

HITLER DECLARES DEMOCRACY NEAR END IN GERMANY

Fiery Socialist Leader Winds Up Campaign With Prediction Sunday Election Will Change Nation's Rule

BERLIN, July 28.—(AP)—Democracy in Germany was given only a few more days of life today by Adolf Hitler, fiery national socialist leader. Winding up a dashing airplane campaign for next Sunday's elections with a speech at Berlin stadium last night, Hitler brought thunderous cheers from 100,000 of his followers when he said:
"July 31 must remove the rule of democracy and of Marxism and its vessels from Germany and restore a regime of discipline, national conscience, honor and power."
To Banish Parties
"We aim," he continued, "to sweep the thirty political parties out of the country. We Germans must be a united people. We are on the eve of great historical decisions. The thirteen years of decadence (the life of the republic) are nearing an end."
"We don't believe in the possibilities for international aid, but only in aid founded on our own strength."
The Tuesday night radio speech of General Kurt von Schleicher continued to kick up a furor throughout the country. The Bavarian Courier, powerful organ of the southern

POMERENE GIVEN LINE ON DUTIES AS FUND LENDER

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP)—Atlee Pomerene, lawyer and former senator, today discussed with President Hoover the duties of his new post as chairman of the board of the $3,800,000,000 reconstruction finance corporation.
Arriving in the capital this morning from Ohio, Pomerene went almost directly to the White House. Secretary Mills and Charles Miller, regional director for the corporation's activities in the New York district, also joined in the party.
As he left the White House, Pomerene said he had discussed money lending affairs, as well as the appointment of a director to fill the only vacancy on the board of seven.
Pomerene said the appointment would be made shortly, but declined to discuss the man to be chosen.
"I have been happy in the practice of law and thought I was out of public life for good," Pomerene said when asked his view of the new post. "But I am ready to go to work here in earnest next Monday."
Pomerene said he would spend the day in conference with his new colleagues in the corporation, familiarizing himself with his new duties.

HERDER BATTLES 5 GRIZZLY BEARS

WHITEFISH, Mont., July 28.—(AP)—Steve Pettis, shepherd, fought off five grizzly bears in the mountains near here Tuesday and killed them all, it was learned today.
Pettis killed the first four with his rifle. The fifth bear attacked him, tearing flesh from his chest and abdomen. One claw went into his mouth and came out under his chin. A shot into the last bear's head split, and half it struck Pettis in the leg, causing a flesh wound.
Pettis walked about Whitefish today with a decided limp, still somewhat surprised that he lives to tell of his experience.

NEWS LINOTYPERS' ARM IS BROKEN

Jay Walton, Linotype operator on the Medford Daily News, is in the Sacred Heart hospital receiving treatment for a bad fracture of the right arm, received when the line he was operating jammed.
In an attempt to rectify the difficulty, Walton gave his strength to a push on the bar and the clutch slipped, tearing his arm with sufficient force to fracture it. He was taken to the hospital about 6 o'clock this morning.

HARRY MOORE IS RELIEF MANAGER; STARTS ACTIVITY

Harry G. Moore, appointed yesterday afternoon by the board of control as manager of the Unemployment Relief association, opened offices today in the city hall with Chris Gottlieb, manager of the United States employment bureau here, and will start work at once on the program of relief to be carried out in this city. The appointment was made upon recommendation of the Medford Association of the Unemployed. Mr. Moore's telephone number is 104-33, and he will start contacting members of the unemployed and other citizens of the city at once.
A number of projects were discussed yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the board of control and the principal idea developed centered around the necessity to work out a more comprehensive plan of relief.
The board of control will meet with the county council of the governor's relief committee at the county courthouse, Friday afternoon, to work in conjunction with that group to discuss plans for avoiding duplication in their programs.
The Unemployment Relief association, as the Medford working organization will be known, is composed of two parts, the Medford Association of the Unemployed and the business men of the community. The latter branch will be composed of the Central Civic council, organized here, which has not been functioning actively here for some time. A meeting of the organization has been called for Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce, by Larry Schade, president, and the active cooperation of all units in the city is expected in the program now being developed to put the city's jobless back to work.
The Central Civic council includes representatives of all service clubs, the Chamber of Commerce, city council, Medford post of the American Legion and the planning commission.
It was emphasized at the meeting of the board that the Unemployment Relief association will in no way interfere with the progress of the Community Chest or duplicate that organization's work to any extent. The chest is a purely charitable organization and the former an association aimed to obtain employment for the ranks in Medford who are not asking for charity, but for work.

AUTOISTS DECIDE TO BUY LICENSE

Twenty-three auto licenses were issued today by the sheriff's office, in response to Gov. Meier's pronouncement that the motor moratorium would end July 31. Most of the applicants today were from Medford and the Central Point districts, with a smattering from this rural section. It is estimated that the bulk of the unexpired licenses are from this city and Ashland.

THREE INJURED IN HIGHWAY SMASHUP

Three Eagle Point youths—Ralph Dinmore, Delbert Tingleff and Jesse Walton—whose auto turned over on the Rutte Falls road near Reese creek this afternoon, were reported in serious conditions at the Sacred Heart hospital when the Mail Tribune went to press.
All were in the surgery and the full extent of their injuries could not be learned. One, believed to be Walton, received a fractured skull in the wreck; Tingleff, a broken right leg and other injuries. No information could be obtained regarding Dinmore other than that he was badly hurt. The youths were brought to the hospital about 2 o'clock and rushed to the surgery.
Pendleton Hot.
PENDLETON, July 28.—(AP)—A temperature of 100 degrees was reached in the Pendleton district Wednesday, putting the five-day average at 92 degrees.

ANOTHER WOMAN IN BARNUM'S LIFE IS WIFE'S CHARGE

The defense started its cross-examination of Mrs. Helen Barnum this afternoon, with prospects that she would be on the stand most of the day.
Mrs. Barnum, among other charges, alleged that Barnum "beat me and told me it was none of my business, when I asked what provisions had been made in the settlement of his father's estate, for a daughter by a former marriage."
Under sharp questioning the defense replied, "I did not fight back because I was busy crying."
She alleged she sustained a black eye, which she "treated with a beefsteak."
The divorce action of Helen V. Barnum against George C. Barnum of this city was started this morning in circuit court before Judge H. D. Norton with a dozen witnesses—mostly women—subpoenaed to testify.
Mrs. Barnum in her suit seeks gross alimony of $25,000, or monthly payments of $500, with 50 per cent for the care of a minor child, one-third of property rights, the custody for the care of a minor child, one-year and $1000 attorney's fees and suit money.
Mrs. Barnum was the first witness called to the stand. She testified that the defendant was "cruel and stingy" and mentioned "another woman" whom she did not mention by name, but described as "a beauty operator." She alleged that when her husband went to Portland in 1929 for a minor operation "the beauty operator" accompanied him by auto. She further averred that Barnum met the "beauty operator" at a "blind date party, given by the volunteer fire department," and had told her, "I want to marry her."
The plaintiff further alleged that Barnum always referred to his woman

GRAIN CORPORATION PLAYED IN HEARING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 28.—(AP)—A scathing denunciation of the farmers' national grain corporation, a federal farm board setup, by one of its former officers, was written today into the records of the congressional committee conducting an inquiry into business conducted by the government.
The attack was made by Lawrence Farlow, Bloomington, Ill., a director of the farmers' national grain dealers' association. Farlow, who resigned as a director of the farmers' national grain corporation in 1930 because of differences over policies, told the committee the setup was neither farmer-owned, nor controlled, and it was not working in the interests of the farmer.

WILL ROGERS SAYS: BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., July 28.—You remember during the war when we would read that the Liberty bond issue had been oversubscribed. Well the other day congress voted that they was going to loan folks something like two billion dollars. Well you talk about a thing being "oversubscribed," why the whole issue was spoken for before sundown. Why I honestly believe they could have loaned twice that much and they perhaps will when they meet again, for that was the "loaningest" and appropriationist congress that ever was. Be a good joke on 'em if after loaning all the money they then go home and get beat and had all their "loaning" for nothing. The coming election has already cost the taxpayers billions of dollars.

JOHN E. LUNDINE TAKES OWN LIFE WITH SHOTGUN

Savage Rapids Service Station Operator in Ill Health and Despondent, Fires Death Charge Into Chest

John E. Lundine, 55, operator of the Savage Rapids service station, took his life this morning shortly after 8 o'clock, by firing the charge from a 12-gauge shotgun through his chest. Ill health and despondency were named this afternoon as the motive by state police and the local coroner's office, investigating the case.
Lundine, who came to southern Oregon a short time ago from Los Angeles to open the service station on the Rogue river near Savage Rapids, left his home adjacent to the station at the usual time this morning. Soon after his departure from the house the discharge of a gun was heard. His wife hurried to the scene to find the man dying. Neighbors, who had also heard the shot, arrived, and the coroner and state police were summoned. Lundine had been seen crossing the street a few minutes before by the operator of a neighboring service station.

There are no surviving relatives here with the exception of the man's widow, officers stated, and no relatives in other sections had been learned of today.
