Janet Gaynor in Craterian Hit

For the first time since she essayed the memorable role of Diane in "7th Heaven," Janet Gaynor wears a wedding dress in a motion picture production. It is a dress in which every girl who sees it will visualize herself, according to Manager Don Geddes of the Fox Craterian theater, where "The First Year" opens today.

Wedding On Stage Will Be Feature At Fox Craterian

An exceptional array of entertainment has been prepared for patrons of the Fox Craterian theater for the next two weeks, according to Don Geddes, manager of that show house. An unusual feature has been arranged for patrons who attend the Craterian Wednesday, Miss Jessie Cole and B. L. Hardman, popular southern Oregon couple, will be married on the Fox Craterian stage with Rev. A. G. Bennett officiating. The ceremony will be a colorful and dignified affair with Ellow Mae Wilson, popular Medford artist, as soloist and Barbara LaMarr presiding at the organ.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday will be red-letter days at the Fox Craterian when Frank Buck's intangible picture of animal adventure will be presented. "Bring 'Em Back Alive" will be the title of this amazing picture filmed in the heart of the wild Malaysian jungle.

On Wednesday, August 17, feminine hearts will flutter in Medford when James Hall, leading man in "Hell's Angels" and other well known pictures will appear in person on the Fox Craterian stage as headliner in the vaudeville unit show which manager Don Geddes has booked for that day. Hall, debonair and able actor, will give Medford folk a real treat when he entertains Craterian fans on August 17th.

"We have an exceptionally fine array of entertainment booked for the next few weeks," Manager Geddes said. "We are making every effort to offer the people of southern Oregon the very finest in entertainment during the summer season and the 'Bring 'Em Back Alive' film and the personal appearance of James Hall are examples of what we are bringing to Medford in the way of entertainment."

At the close of the business session, refreshments will be served by the losing side of the attendance contest recently completed. Mrs. L. O. Carter is chairman of the serving committee and any member of the losing side not informed as to what to bring is asked to get in touch with her.

ANNOUNCE ORR AS COUNCIL OFFICIAL

J. King Byron, managing director of the retail furniture dealers of Oregon, is in Medford, and upon his arrival, announced that Albert E. Orr of Weeks and Orr of this city, was elected to the vice-presidency of the Northwest Allied Furniture council after the meeting conducted in Tacoma last week. Mr. Orr was recently elected president of the Oregon Furniture Dealers' association.

The council is made up of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of furniture, who have organized for the purpose of standardizing policy and service to the consuming public.

At the meeting in Tacoma, manufacturers expressed the belief that manufacturing costs had reached rock bottom, and that an advance in costs is bound to operate this fall.

Mr. Byron is conferring with Mr. Orr, who will make his committee appointments for the new administration and formulate the program.

Chic Sale Star Holly Picture

Featured at the Holly today is "Stranger in Town," a comedy drama about real folks. The cast is composed of Ann Dvorak, David Manners, Chic Sale, Noah Berry and Raymond Hatton. This group is certain to make the laughs come fast and last long. This will be the first time in the movie career of "Chic" Sale that he appears without his whiskers and in so doing he looks about 40 years off his age. The earlier sequences of the "chic" show him coming west with the covered wagons to start the town of Hollaville, Nebraska. As he becomes older he dons his whiskers again and the transformation is almost unbelievable. Ann Dvorak, who has been attracting a great deal of attention through her work on the screen adds a lot to the picture through her performance as Sale's granddaughter. This picture will be at the Holly for three days starting today.

John Weismuller Star Rialto Hit

"Tarzan, the Ape Man," adapted from the novel by Edgar Rice Burroughs and featuring Johnny Weismuller in the title role, is at the Fox Rialto for today and tomorrow. Maureen O'Sullivan plays the part of the girl, the first white person he has ever seen, and with whom he falls in love.

Also on the program is a Liberty short story, "Ether Talks," and the Paramount Sound News showing the opening of the Olympic Games in Los Angeles last week.

STATE HAS JOE BROWN IN BASEBALL COMEDY

Joe E. Brown opens today at the State theater in "Fireman Save My Child."

As the baseball player and lover whose prime affection is for fires and fire equipment, Brown is furnished his greatest comedy opportunity. That he is at home on the baseball diamond is evident in the game sequences. Brown once played professional baseball, first in the St. Paul league and later with the New York Yankees.

BIGGEST SALE IN 3 YEARS, REPORT

It might sound unreasonable now, but Mann's ready-to-wear buyer reported last evening that the most successful dress sale conducted by the store in three years opened there yesterday, with hundreds of dresses being sold. Sensational values were quoted in Mann's ads in Friday's issue of the Mail Tribune, and is given as the reason for hundreds of buyers visiting Mann's yesterday. All spring and summer dresses must be sold to make room for the new fall and winter garments, the ready-to-wear buyer has announced, and for this reason the sale will continue Monday.
