

ALABAMA YOUTH WILL VISIT HERE AS ESSAY GUEST

Reaping his reward for turning in the winning essay among 3000 submitted in the American Boy Magazine contest on "Why I Want to Spend My Vacation in Oregon," Shelby Southard, 17, of Athens, Ala., is in Oregon this week, and will be the guest of the Medford Chamber of Commerce and the Crater Lake National Park company tomorrow, when he will be taken to Crater Lake for the first time.

Young Southard will arrive in Medford at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, coming direct from the Oregon Caves, which he visited today as a guest of the Grants Pass Chamber of Commerce. Last week he spent at the Oregon beaches, and fishing on the Mackenzie and Deschutes rivers.

The contest, which he won, and which brought several thousands of dollars in advertising in the American Boy, as well as placing Oregon chambers of commerce in contact with many homes over the country by letter and literature, was sponsored by On-to-Oregon, Inc., and the advertising department of the Portland Chamber of Commerce.

Southard will be greeted on his arrival in Medford by W. S. Bolger, president of the Medford chamber, and will be taken to Crater Lake in the afternoon, where he will remain overnight at Crater Lake lodge, as a guest of R. W. Price, manager of the Crater Lake National Park company. After leaving Crater Lake, Southard will leave for San Francisco and Los Angeles, en route home.

During the trip, Southard is writing newspaper and magazine articles for release in a number of eastern publications, and officials of the local chamber of commerce believe that southern Oregon will receive a considerable amount of publicity as a result of his visit here.

Extensive plans are being made by local singers for the sixth national radio audition of the Atwater Kent foundation, Medford's participation in which is scheduled for August 30.

All ambitious young singers in the valley are urged to join those of the nation in competition for the $15,000 in prizes offered. All singers within the ages of 18 and 25 are eligible for entrance. Mrs. George Andrews, chairman for Jackson county, stated yesterday in issuing a call for participants.

Singers are urged to make sure their selections of songs are free from copyrighted restrictions. This is important, Mrs. Andrews pointed out yesterday, since restricted songs cannot be broadcast. Practically all modern French and Italian operas, other than those of Massenet, are withheld from broadcast use. A list of songs on the prohibited list, if not available at the radio station, may be obtained from the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, Paramount building, New York City.

BIG SALMON PACK ON LOWER ROGUE

Information received today from the lower Rogue river indicates a salmon pack of 11,000 cases up to date this season, sportsmen announced this morning. While this pack is larger than that of last year, it amounts to only one-third of the pack in 1926 and only one-fifth of the supply taken in 1925 from the Rogue.

Reports from Alaska are to the effect that a large red salmon pack is being taken and that in excess of two million cases of the fish, the finest packed on the Pacific coast, will be on the market this year.

Prices quoted on this fish at the present time are $1.25 per dozen one pound cans. It was pointed out here today, with much salmon going for $5 a case, which contains 48 cans.

What Chinook salmon will sell for this fall is described as entirely problematical, depending upon the amount of pink salmon packed from the Columbia, Puget Sound and Alaska, which will probably total five million cases.

The Rogue river contribution of 11,000 cases will accordingly be of small consequence in the market, sportsmen here stated. In addition to this fact there are between a million and a half and two million cases of last year's salmon unsold and stored in warehouses.

Rogue river is expected to pack some additional salmon if the fall run of fish, hoped for, comes into the river, the late summer run of Chinook salmon, however, fails to reach the upper river.

To correct an erroneous impression, the county court today issued the following statement on the local labor situation:

"The county is not finding employment for people at this time, but is endeavoring to assist residents of this county to obtain the preference in securing whatever work there is here. That is, the county is asking all employers to give preference to residents of the county, so as to overcome the situation that has been prevalent; especially on account of outsiders coming in for the fruit work, or other work, and making it more difficult for home people. To assist in solving this problem, the county court is issuing what are called 'labor cards,' and which employers are asking applicants to exhibit before considering their applications.

Bar Ass'n Votes Faith
The Southern Oregon Bar association held a meeting last evening, issued a statement, in which they expressed faith in the high integrity and learning of the court, and confidence that the people of the judicial district would not take the movement seriously.

All but three attorneys of the two counties signed the statement. Two are out of the city, and the other is not a member of the bar association. The statement was as follows:

Medford, Ore., Aug. 8, 1932.
Honorable H. D. Norton, Circuit Judge, Medford, Oregon. Dear Sir: We have too much faith in the people of the First judicial district to take seriously the reported movement for your recall, but we are glad of this opportunity to express to you the confidence and respect which are unanimously held for you by all of the members of the bar of this district.

We consider your learning, your fairness, your patience, and your high integrity of inestimable value to the people of southern Oregon. Sincerely and truly yours, E. E. Kelly ation by the American government with the league.

STIMSON'S TALK ON PEACE PACT IRRITATES JAPS

In Washington the speech was accepted as pointing the way to the American government's policy in the Far East—apparently an open door policy.

Secretary Stimson described the Kellogg-Briand pact as the codification of a far-reaching new doctrine of international relations. The new doctrine which the treaty codifies, he said, is that a war is the concern of every country and not merely of the belligerents.

"The recognition of the doctrine of neutrality," he said, "was predicated upon the duty of a neutral to maintain impartiality between two belligerent has equal rights and is owed equal duties by the neutral. It implies that the war between them is a legal situation out of which these rights and duties grow."

HOTEL OWNER IS BILKED ON SIGN

It sounded like a good idea at the time—but in seven days, when the eight-foot neon sign "Hotel and Cottage-Valandra" failed to arrive at the Valandra hotel at Central Point, Andret Chomel, owner, began to make inquiries concerning Will-O-

Lite, Inc., which C. Burnton claimed to represent, and to whom he paid $7.50. He discovered the company did not exist.

On July 21 Burnton visited Mr. Chomel at Central Point, the hotel man told the city police here, and sold him an electric sign "complete for $15." Mr. Chomel paid $7.50 of the amount by check, and at the end of seven days, the sign was to be delivered to the hotel, he said.

Burnton gave the address of the firm as 810 Grand avenue, Portland.
