

PINE PRODUCERS SEEK MODIFYING ANTI-TRUST LAW

PORTLAND, Aug. 11.—(AP)—An immediate move to seek modification of the anti-trust laws to permit agreements to regulate lumber production will be taken by the Western Pine association. This step was agreed upon at the semi-annual meeting of directors of the association here yesterday.

Besides urging modification of the laws to permit regulation of production, the lumbermen seek legislation authorizing industrial self-government whereby an appropriate part of any given industry may adopt rules of practice binding upon the entire industry.

Speakers declared the present methods of sawmill production are not sound and should be regulated to balance output with market demand.

One of the first objectives, it was declared, is general tax reduction. The substitution of property tax on timber for a system of yield or income tax was demanded.

Readjustment of working hours weekly in order to provide employment to the full, normal personnel was another point in the program adopted by the lumbermen, who also will attempt to force equitable rates on lumber as compared with other commodities, and public regulation of competing transport facilities.

SPORT SLANTS

There will be many rumors flying around during the next few weeks as to where Rogers Hornsby will do his baseball master-minding, if at all, next season. If he stays in the National league, and that is where all his baseball life has been spent, there are five probabilities and two possibilities.

The contracts of George Gibson, of the Pirates; Max Carey, of the Dodgers; and Bill Terry, of the Giants, are for one year and expire this fall as do the three-year contracts of Dan Howley, of the Reds, and Burt Shotton, of the Phillies.

Unless portents fall or their teams take a terrific tumble between now and the end of the season you can mark the Pirates, Dodgers and Phillies off the list.

Gibson is the newest "miracle man" of baseball with his Buccaneers riding high at the head of the league.

Shotton of the Phillies seems secure in his relatively low-salaried post and probably will be tendered a new contract. He has the Phillies higher in the race now than the oldest inhabitant can remember.

Although there was some question for a time as to whether Carey would get another year to show his managerial wares the latest word from Brooklyn, with the fans tramping back to watch the rejuvenated Dodgers perform, is that he probably will be tendered another one-year term.

Two Best Bets That leaves New York and Cincinnati as possibilities for Hornsby. "Howling Dan's" chances for remaining at Cincinnati are none too secure, I am told. Despite his rebuilding, he has been unable to lift the Redlegs out of the National league cellar. Also, in the year of the depression, he is receiving one of the best salaries in the National league. That's a bad combination.

No one knows what to expect of the Giants. One of the club's inner council, when questioned about Hornsby's chances, said "not a chance." But Terry, who to all outward appearances was anathema to the Giants' front office, was named to succeed the ill McGraw and if Charles Stoneham thought Hornsby could give him a winning team the troubles of 1927 which sent Hornsby to Boston probably would be forgotten.

There is one thing fairly sure and that is that Hornsby will be managing a ball club somewhere next year. Cup Nears U. S.

Although our prediction that Ellsworth Vines, Jr., would lead the United States to Davis Cup victory over France was not exactly fulfilled, Vines did his part in defeating Cochet and prospects never were more bright than for 1933.

No one would have been so rash last winter as to predict that Jean Borotra would come bounding back into the Davis Cup picture to win the cup for France and neither could anyone have foreseen the unexpected slump of Frank Shields which kept him out of the challenge round.

As for 1933, Vines exploded the legend of Cochet's invincibility at Roland Garros and the lanky Callidrop a match to Borotra or anyone else the French can send against him. That leaves one victory more to win the cup and Allison and Van Ryn will do as the world's best doubles team until something more than a defeat at Wimbledon comes along to disprove their claim.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The market had its long expected shake-out today when a torrent of selling in the last hour carried many issues off 1 to 5 points, and a few from 6 to 12. It was the first sharp setback since the summer recovery got under way. The closing tone was weak. Transfers approximated 3,500,000 shares.

Many traders had wondered at the ability of the recovery to progress so far without a technical reaction. There was no agreement in brokerage quarters on the possible effects of President Hoover's acceptance speech, opinions evidently depending on political tastes. The president's supporters, however, said the speech had undoubtedly been discounted in advance, and the reaction was overdue.

ARIZONA MAN DECIDES MEDFORD BEST PLACE TO RESIDE IN WINTER

Pleased with the southern Oregon climate, resources of the Rogue River valley and opportunities for business here, A. Fortner, who recently arrived from Prescott, Ariz., with his family to visit Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Bray while touring the northwest, announced this morning that he will return to Medford to spend the winter.

He is going back to Prescott to settle his business affairs and will then take the road back to Medford with his family. If the winter is as much to his liking as the summer, he will move his family here to make their permanent home in the Rogue River valley.

Mr. Fortner operates the Buick agency in the Arizona city and is one of Prescott's largest property owners. The climate, the opportunities for fishing and other sports, the Medford water supply and the people here have won his heart, he stated.

Mr. Fortner arrived in Medford after a tour of the United States and Canada and found no other place, which suited his fancy, he said today.

Those who will attend the council and have the right to deliberative vote are the bishops of the province.

NORT POWDER—Improved road running through Wolf Creek farming district, adjacent to this place on west, completed.

The vacuum process of packing coffee is the only method that fully preserves coffee freshness—the air is removed from the can and kept out. It was originated by Hills Bros. over thirty years ago. The deep, rich flavor of coffee! There is refreshment that nothing equals! And when it's Hills Bros. Coffee, you have the flavor at its deepest and richest. For Hills Bros. is perfectly roasted. The exclusive Controlled Roasting process develops the coffee-berries to the correct degree... never under-roasts nor over-roasts.

Keep cool with coffee... iced to a bracing thirst-quenching goodness.

Order Hills Bros. Coffee today, by name, and look for the Arab trademark on the can.

HOW TO MAKE A MARVELOUS GLASS OF HILLS BROS COFFEE—iced

Prepare the coffee in your regular way. Then instead of adding ice to the hot coffee, cool it in a pitcher or dish—and chill in your refrigerator. Do not add ice until ready to serve—for ice dilutes the delightful, bracing flavor. Serve with cream, if desired, and sweeten to taste.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow... a little at a time... so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the exclusive process that roasts evenly, continuously... "a little at a time."
