HOOVER DEMANDS DRY LAW REFORM IN ACCEPTANCE

simple and so plain that every man and woman who may hear or read my words cannot misunderstand."

Only once did he mention the Republican party. He willingly gave credit to Democratic members of congress who helped in enactment of the emergency reconstruction measures. He attacked the Democratic house under Speaker Garner, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, for some of its economic proposals. Obviously pointing at Governor Roosevelt he demanded Democratic specifications on tariff reform; supported the protective tariff and "squarely" opposed the Democratic proposal of "a competitive tariff for revenue."

Points to Record.

Mr. Hoover asked renomination on his record. The word "I" appeared frequently, as did the phrases "I shall persist in that" or "I shall continue to oppose that" as he ran the scale of governmental problems and political issues. He apparently sought to overlook no outstanding question in the 6000-word address.

"I rest the case of the Republican party on the intelligence and the just discernment of the American people," he concluded. "Should my countrymen again place upon me the responsibilities of this high office, I shall carry forward the word of reconstruction. I shall hope long before another four years have passed to see the world prosperous and at peace and every American home again in the sunshine of genuine prosperity. I shall seek to maintain untarnished and unweakened those fundamental traditions and principles upon which our nation was founded and upon which it has grown. I shall invite and welcome the help of every man and woman in the preservation of the United States for the happiness of its people. This is my pledge to the nation and to the Almighty God."

Economic Issue Stressed.

Representatives of the last 12 years of Republican rule surrounded the speaker whose words came slowly and evenly as he rested his hands on a small table before the microphones.

Mr. Hoover hammered away on the economic emergency and steps, past and contemplated, to meet it. He blamed over-optimism and speculation in this country as the first cause of trouble and the world-wide economic collapse resulting from war evils as the subsequent and more devastating cause. Of his efforts to meet the situation, he said:

"These programs, unparalleled in the history of depressions in any country and in any time, to care for distress, to provide employment, to aid agriculture, to maintain the financial stability of the country, to safeguard the savings of the people, to protect their homes, are not in the past tense—they are in action. I shall propose such other measures, public and private, as may be necessary from time to time to meet the changing situations and to further speed economic recovery. That recovery may be slow, but we will succeed.

To Retain Principles.

"And come what may, I shall maintain through all these measures the sanctity of the great principles under which the Republic, over a period of 150 years, has grown to be the greatest nation on earth."

On foreign affairs, the president eyed favorably a general world economic conference even along lines suggested by Senator Borah, of Idaho, but he emphatically warned against war debt cancellation. He did open the door for a trade on particular annual payments in the interests of American commerce.

His direct promise to the farmer was a drive for tax reduction. He saw as "the most practicable relief to the farmer today aside from the general economic recovery" something to alleviate the "unfair burdens of taxation which the current readjustment in values has brought about."

Dependent On Tariff.

"With the collapse in world prices and depreciated currencies the farmer was never so dependent upon his tariff protection for recovery as he is at the present time," said Mr. Hoover. "We shall hold to that. We have enacted many measures of emergency relief to agriculture. They are having effect. I shall keep them functioning until the strain is passed."

He defended the farm board and its huge stabilization activities.

"The original purpose of the farm board was to strengthen the efforts of the farmer to establish his own farmer-owned, farmer-controlled marketing agencies," he said, "it has greatly succeeded in this purpose, even in these times of adversity."

The price stabilization loans, he said, "served to stem panics in agricultural prices and saved hundreds of thousands of farmers and their creditors from bankruptcy."

CUBS REGAIN LEAD UNDER FIRM HAND OF NEW MANAGER

(By the Associated Press.)

Nine days after Charley Grimm took over the managerial reins, the Chicago Cubs have regained first place in the National league pennant race.

Whether or not attributable to Grimm's master-minding, the fact remains that the Cubs, under his handling, have won six of their last eight games, all on the road.

Their 3-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday gave them a half-game margin over the Pirates for first place and reinstated them in the pace-setting position for the first time since June 26th, when the Corsairs first took command.

The battle of the two leaders started out as a pitchers' duel between Steve Swetonic and Lon Warneke, but neither was around at the finish. Warneke went out for a pinch hitter in the eighth, after the Pirates had counted twice on doubles by Gus Suhr and Earl Grace and a single by Floyd Vaughan.

The only other National league game of the day saw the Phillies end a six-game losing streak at the expense of the Boston Braves, 7-2.

Action in the American league also was limited to two games. Wes Ferrell won his 19th victory of the season as Cleveland beat Detroit, 3-0. Earl Averill's 27th homer accounted for one run.

The St. Louis Browns walloped Ted Lyons for five runs in the fifth inning and beat the Chicago White Sox, 6-5.
