

ALONZO STAGG IS HALE AND HEARTY ON 70TH BIRTHDAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, dean of America's football coaches, celebrates his 70th birthday today, hale, hearty and happy—the most engaging figure in the game.

The grand old man of the midway, now working at a movie lot at Los Angeles as technical adviser to a gridiron thriller, will return to the University of Chicago next week to develop his forty-first Maroon team, which, advance reports indicate, may be the thriller of the 1932 western conference season. The tide is due to turn, Stagg believes, after years of defeat.

Despite his 70 years, Stagg's face, tanned and seared by the life that has been rugged and clean, is not wrinkled, nor drawn, nor old. His body is vibrant and tough, just as though it was when he made "end rush" on Walter Camp's first all-American team back in 1889, pitched Yale to five successful baseball championships, lived on bread and milk, and spent his night hours studying for the Presbyterian ministry.

Stagg's titch of hair is as black as it is gray. His daily tennis game is as fast and seriously played as it was 20 years ago. The man who first thought of using the forward pass, the fake pass, and the triple pass, looks no older than 50 years. He is a marvel of physical fitness, capable today of undertaking exercises that would make an ordinary individual weary.

TOURIST FISHING LICENSE URGED

"There is an agitation in Grants Pass and Medford to have a three-day fishing license for transients, as a method of promoting the tourist trade. The idea is that if a license can be obtained for three days at a nominal fee, tourists will remain three days on a stream, and then when they move on to another county they can take out another temporary license, the license to be good only in the county where it is issued," reports Alexander G. Brown of Portland, who returned to Portland yesterday after a swing through the southeastern part of the state. "Tourists do not care to buy a license for a year when they are hurrying through the state, but it is argued that a temporary license would be an inducement, and keep them longer." Mr. Brown says that foreign cars are penetrating sections heretofore avoided. In Lakeview, foreign cars are becoming common, the Yellowstone cut-off, the road to Bend and Klamath Falls cause tourists to swing into Lakeview, a town that only a short time ago never saw a car with an out-of-state license. The result of this new development is that Lakeview is presenting a lively appearance. Nebraska, Illinois and Kansas cars, while not as numerous as those bearing California plates, are not infrequently seen. The sheepmen of Lake county, says Mr. Brown, are wondering what is going to happen to that industry, but express the opinion that it will improve.—Oregonian.

MONK NIPS EARS OF ROYAL LADIES

CANNES, France, Aug. 16.—(AP)—A monkey which had escaped from its cage in the new Spanish club here during the finals of a tennis match Sunday spread panic among the spectators.

Lady Ursula Filmer Stankey, daughter of the Duke of Westminster, was bitten on the ear.

The pet, which belongs to the new tennis club, climbed on the seats and attacked Lady Ursula. Then it jumped to the shoulder of Countess Naillies, and threatened other spectators. Several women screamed and there was a rush for the doors.

The monkey was captured by the Duke of Devon, son of the Countess Naillies.

Desperate Spurt Retains Bears Title

California's varsity crew won the tenth Olympiad eight-oared championship by a margin of inches in one of the most spectacular rowing finishes ever witnessed. Italy's University of Pisa boatload was so close that only a desperate spurt swept the Golden Bears to victory on the very last stroke, only a matter of inches ahead of the Italians. The Californians covered the 2000 meters in 6 minutes 37 3/5 seconds, Italy a tenth of a second behind, closely followed by Canada, third, and Great Britain. Less than a boat length separated the four crews. Four years ago California crew won the Olympic title at Amsterdam. (Associated Press Photo.)

BILL MORGAN'S POUNDAGE IS PROBLEM FOR "PRINK"

L. H. Gregory, Portland Oregonian sports writer, has the following to say regarding Prink Callison, former Medford high school football coach, and Bill Morgan, ex-grid star of the same school:

If Prink Callison is half as tough a taskmaster as Doc Spears used to be, I foresee considerable grief about a month from now for the big Bill Morgan, captain of the University of Oregon football team. Bill has grown as big as a mountain this summer. When the young man weighs all of 235 pounds, on about a 200-pound chassis when in the pink—that means at least 35 pounds to sweat off in the first couple of weeks of football. Doc would get it off if he had to swing an ax to supplement the ordinary conditioning methods, and I've never heard Prink mentioned as tender-hearted in that respect, either. Bill has a big sweat coming.

Bill has a good excuse for his 235 pounds, however. For the last couple of years Bill and the doctors have gone into consultation every few months relative to pains in the young fellow's tummy. Bill was subject to spells of stomachache, the ordinary conditioning methods, and I've never heard Prink mentioned as tender-hearted in that respect, either. Bill has a big sweat coming.

During the summer months the club has been shooting every two weeks. The next shoot will be Aug. 28th. Beginning 5th September it is planned to resume the regular weekly shoots, with a tournament once a month featuring prizes of name and bacon. Later in the season a series of turkey shoots will be held.

DODGERS CAPTURE OPENING GAME OF TELL-TALE SERIES

By Herbert W. Barker, (Associated Press Sports Writer.)

First blood in the crucial series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Pittsburgh Pirates rana with the Dodgers, and second place in the National league—only a dream a few weeks ago—was only a game away from Max Carey's charges today.

The Dodgers piled up nine runs in the first inning of their battle with the Conairs yesterday and then coasted to an 11-6 victory, their 20th in 25 games. Not only are the Pirates now only a half-step ahead but the league-leading Chicago Cubs are only a game and a half distant.

Meine was on the firing line for the Conairs when the game opened. Henry was handicapped badly by errors by the young Pirate key-stones combination of Floyd Vaughan and Tony Piet.

Taylor, first man to face Meine, tripled and scored on Stripp's fly. Then followed a hit batsman, a single by Wilson, doubles by Cucinello and Lopez and two bad fumbles by Piet and Vaughan. Six runs had scored and Meine had enough. Harris came in to pass Shaute and allow Taylor, up for the second time, to single. Stripp's sacrifice scored one more run and O'Doul's single accounted for the last two tallies.

The Brooklyn-Pittsburgh fray was the only game played in the major leagues, all other clubs having an off day.

THREE BONUSERS ARE INDICTED IN CAPITAL BATTLE was badly injured in the fighting which preceded the calling out of troops by President Hoover.

John O. Olson, 44, a carpenter whose address was given as Valparaiso, Neb., was charged with felonious assault upon Patrolman Richard O. Bankert. The indictments said Olson used a table leg as a weapon and that Faulkner and McCoy flung bricks.

It was indicated that no other charges were expected and that in all probability the inquiry growing out of one of the most spectacular peace time incidents in the nation's history was closed.

Police said today that apparently all three men indicted were veterans, but that their credentials were being checked to determine definitely.

PORTLAND HOPES SEATTLE SERIES WILL HALT SKID

(By the Associated Press)

With less than four games separating the first four teams in the Pacific Coast league, the play this week assumes more than usual interest.

Portland remains in first place, only one game ahead of Hollywood. The Beavers entertain Seattle on the home lot, opening Tuesday night, and hope to take enough games from the sixth-place Indians to keep on top of the heap.

The Hollywood-San Francisco series in Los Angeles should produce some of the week's best competition. Last week the Seals took five games from Portland, and are out to advance in the percentage column. The Stars slipped into third place for a short time, but managed to get back into second by taking a Sunday doubleheader from Seattle.

A series with the Missions in San Francisco furnishes the Angels with a real opportunity to get into second, or possibly first place.

Sacramento remains at home for a series with the Oaks. Since Earl McNeely took command as manager of the Bolons recently they have played a lot of baseball. By taking a Sunday doubleheader from the Missions they ran their winning streak to 11 of the last 12 starts.
