CHARLES A. WING REGAINS CHARGE REALTY AGENCY

This morning negotiations were completed between Clinton Spencer and others whereby Charles A. Wing purchased the majority of stock in the Charles A. Wing Agency, Inc. Mr. Wing went into active charge of the agency this morning. The amount of consideration involved was not made public. The Charles A. Wing Agency was started in 1924 and has been very active in the real estate, loan and insurance business in the past. During the time over 700 parcels of real property have been sold through the agency. The office has one of the largest listings of real property between Salem and Sacramento. The business is not entirely limited to the selling of real property, but also represents two large loan companies, the Inter-State Fidelity Building and Loan association of Salt Lake City, Utah and the Western Loan and Building company of Salt Lake City. Clinton Spencer, who has been president of the agency for the past 1 1/2 years, intends to remain in Medford. Pearl B. Rhodes, who has been associated with the agency for the past eight years, will retain her position as secretary of the agency and as office manager. James Hall Coming To Craterian Stage

James Hall, idol of feminine cinema fans and known in Hollywood as "the screen's most romantic lover" will appear on the Fox Craterian stage tomorrow and Thursday afternoon and evening, according to Dan Geddes, manager. Hall, who has quite a reputation on the stage as well as on the screen, offers a clever musical act, interspersed with personal chats with the audience. His last big screen appearance here was in "Hell's Angels." On the same program Conrad Nagel's latest film, "The Men Called Back" will be shown with Doris Kenyon in the feminine lead. This picture is little changed from the original novel, deals with the regeneration of a once famous surgeon (Conrad Nagel) who has allowed an unsuccessful operation to destroy his morals. "Bring 'Em Back Alive," Frank Buck's gripping animal adventure thriller, ends a successful three-day run at the Fox Craterian tonight.

JAIL YAWNS FOR GARDEN RAIDERS

State police and the sheriff's office continue to receive complaints of raided gardens and stolen stock, and in several instances have secured leads that may result in arrest of the culprits. There seems to be four or five separate gangs operating, and no garden is safe. It is figured that most of the garden truck stealing is commercialized, and that the thieves transport the loot to Crescent City, and other coast points, where it finds a ready market. A couple of east side gardens were virtually stripped of all vegetation Saturday night. Butchershops of the city are co-operating with the authorities in putting a stop to cow stealing. Investigation was under way today relative to veal that had been sold, and all brands and the ears cut from the hide. The butchers refused to buy meat from those they know never owned a cow in their lives. Before meat can be legally sold it must bear a license tag issued by the sheriff's office. Farmers of the north end of the valley reported to the state police the loss of milk cans and other farm machinery that could be easily stolen.
