CANDIDATE SILENT ON HOOVER'S PLEA FOR LAW CHANGE

They have NOT come up to the expectations of those who introduced and supported them.

"While this problem has NOT been and should NOT be partisan, yet the republican party wishes to solve it and is anxious to bring the farmer into a situation of equality with industry."

"One of the problems is to reduce the spread between what the producer on the farm receives and what the ultimate consumer pays for such products. Another is to provide the farmer better marketing facilities."

"While I have for years believed a national co-operative system would help solve the problem and I still believe such a system, properly organized and conducted, would enable the farmer to get a better price for his products and at the same time do NO injury to those who deal honestly in the buying and selling of farm products, while protecting the farmer against those who will NOT give him a square deal."

INDIGENTS FROM OTHER COUNTIES TO BE RETURNED

County authorities continued today to take steps to balk any efforts of transient indigents to establish a residence here and share in the relief work and food being marshaled for the assistance of worthy residents of the city and county. Six months' residence in the county makes anyone a legal resident.

Migrations of transient indigents from Klamath and other eastern Oregon counties has started, and two or three families traveling in auto have been returned. Correspondence has been carried on with other county courts relative to "keeping them there." A check-up is being made on families who spend the summer in Klamath county and return here for the winter, and secure aid from both counties.

A check is also being made on the local labor cards, to determine if there are any illegal holders of the cards. A smallpox patient, held by the county health department, who was stricken the third day after his arrival from Idaho, was found to possess a local labor card. He has friends here and was seeking work in the fruit.

Caring for home people is a drain on the indigent fund of the county, and the county court is showing an inclination to "see hard-boiled with transient indigents" and give them short shrift. Two or three have been offered "a dollars' worth of grub and gallon of gas" to return from whence they came.

The county court also suspects that some who make appeals to the county have money "but are trying to 'mooch' all they can get."

County Commissioner Victor Bur-

sell favors the adoption of the Lane county policy of "sawing a cord of wood before eating." His information indicates that this has caused a heavy decline in appeals of transients for aid.

The two great problems which must be solved, he said, were to secure employment for the unemployed and to make a market for the products of the farm and factory.

"In these trying times of worldwide economic disturbances," he said, "republican tariffs and immigration restrictions account largely for American wages being more than in any other country. Not only are our wages higher than in any other land, but American standards of living are far higher, hours of labor shorter and working conditions better than in any other nation."

Would Write Bureau
The vice president proposed a "systematic investigation and reorganization of governmental agencies with a view of eliminating duplications and of uniting bureaus where union is possible without impairing the efficiency of the departments."

He expressed gratification with the "important part" women have taken in management and control of the country's affairs.

Reviewing the "distinct gains" made toward "realization of labor's laudable aims," he said "the five day week should and will come."

Mr. Curtis quoted figures in support of his contention the present administration had taken active steps to put hoarded and idle money in circulation, to show that since the "crash" in October, 1929, the per capita circulation, then $40.23, decreased to $36.38 one year later, and increased to $45.50 as of June 30, 1932.

"No president in peace times ever had so many difficult problems to solve, no president ever worked harder to improve conditions, and none ever took the people into his confidence as has the careful organizer, the great student of the needs of our people—Herbert Hoover."

JNO. ANDERSON'S CORN GROWS TALL AT TOLO

John Anderson grows fine corn. Proof was brought to Medford this morning in two long stalks which measure 12 feet, 9 inches in height. There are ears on the stalks, too. The length of them was not registered at the Chamber of Commerce building, where the corn is on display, but compares well with the stalks.

The corn was brought in by Chas. M. English, who owns the ranch at Tolo operated by Mr. Anderson, one of the valley's best known farmers. Mr. Anderson reports a yield of barley which ran 72 bushels to the acre, oats which threshed out 41 bushels to the acre, and wheat which ran 42 bushels to the acre.

Mr. Anderson did not send a recipe for good farming along with the corn this morning but his practice, according to those who know him, is "hard work."

Medford Dry Cleaners

Announce a Policy of UNIFORM PRICES!

On CLEANING and PRESSING (EFFECTIVE THURSDAY, AUGUST 18th)

What the Cleaning Industry Means to Medford!

The Cleaning Industry is deserving of an important place among the activities of the Rogue River Valley. In Medford, alone, in excess of $200,000 are invested in cleaning plants and equipment to properly serve the people of this city and vicinity. 30 people are regularly employed in the 5 plants and 8 cleaning establishments in Medford with a payroll totaling many thousands of dollars annually.

Uniform prices, equally fair to the public and cleaners, are necessary for the very life of this important Medford industry. These prices, consistent with high quality work and excellent service, will end price competition that is harmful to business activities of this city and tends to destroy public confidence.

Following is a partial list of the new uniform price policy as adopted by Medford Dry Cleaners. You will note a two-price schedule enabling you to save about 20% by using the cash-and-carry method.
