BONUS AGITATION TO BE MUFFLED DURING CAMPAIGN

Most of Expedition Vote Already Against Hoover Is View — Prohis Would Boom Governor Pinchot

By BYRON PRICE.

In spite of all the excitement in Washington, there is no indication the bonus agitation will cut much ice on election day.

Plenty of placards berating President Hoover were on display in the bonus camp, but most of the votes behind these placards probably would have gone against the Republicans anyway, on the score of the depression and unemployment, political observers believe.

It must be remembered that the American Legion—which numbers its millions where the B. E. F. numbers its thousands—rejected a bonus resolution at the Detroit convention, after a special appeal from the president.

Legion officials later were much displeased when the administration recommended cuts in certain already-authorized veterans' allowances; and the legion stood by and watched during the administration's subsequent troubles with the Washington paraders.

But evidence is wholly lacking that the legion intends to take the issue into the campaign.

Pinchot for President?

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania is being boomed for the prohibition party nomination for president in place of William D. Upshaw, who has said he would hand over the standard given him at Indianapolis if any outstanding leader could be induced to accept it.

Some of those on the inside of prohibition affairs have been told Pinchot would bolt Hoover and ruh if two or more of the big dry organizations—which do not ordinarily flock with the prohibition party—would support him. So far, this condition has not been met.

Love Feasts.

This is a season of reconciliation among the Democrats. One by one the pro-Smith leaders are signing up under Roosevelt.

The development is news, considering the previous hesitation. But the more important news will develop at the ballot box in November, when it will be known how many of the pro-Smith rank and file also fell into line.

Feeling ran strong at the Chicago convention, and those who remember 1924 and 1928 know that the conciliatory words of leaders do not always deliver the votes.

It is interesting that in spite of the various love-feasts in the Smith eastern bloc of states, the latest election forecast to emanate from high Democratic quarters omits Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Jersey from the "probably democratic" column, and lists them as doubtful.

Borah Again.

Senator Borah has done it again. At a time when both parties apparently thought they had the war debt problem safely asleep until after the election, the versatile Idaho independent set off a cannon cracker by his proposal that the facts be recognized and something done about them now.

The reverberations contribute one more chapter to a career which probably has worried more politicians than any other of our time.

THREE RETIRED FROM BASEBALL

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Charlie Jamieson, one of Cleveland's baseball immortals, today was placed on the voluntarily retired list by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis.

The veteran flyhawk of the Indians was used almost exclusively this season as a pinch hitter.

Bob Burke of the Washington Senators, who pitched a no run, no hit game last year against Boston, also was placed on voluntarily retired list.

Outfielder Robert Worthington of the Boston Braves, out with a broken leg, was the third major league player to be given voluntary retirement by the commissioner.

'HOGGER' HOBNOBS WITH KING BORIS

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Augustus Phillips of Falls City, Neb., a locomotive engineer, is back from Bulgaria, still a bit dazed by the reception he said King Boris gave him.

No sooner had Phillips arrived in his native Bulgaria for a visit, he said ,than the king, whose hobby also is locomotives, sent a carriage and a military escort to bring him to the summer palace at Varna.

"You know, railroading is my hobby," Phillips quoted the king as having said. "We never have a new engine over here but I pull the throttle and start the train going. There is a lot I want to ask you."

Hoover Cancels Cabinet Meeting

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19. — (AP) — President Hoover today cancelled his customary semi-weekly cabinet meeting. The president conferred with Secretaries Hyde and Doak, both of them reporting routine affairs only had been discussed.

Noted Violinist Will Play At Claunch Lecture Here

Lucie Bruch

Opening wider her large brown eyes, which have received the ovation of opera crowds here and abroad since pre-war days, when a pair of gangling legs supported a very little girl and her violin, Lucie Bruch, artist of international fame appearing here with the lecturer, Dr. Claunch, voiced a plea yesterday for the return of "showmen."

"That's what's the matter," the grand niece of the great composer, Max Bruch, and sister of Fritz Bruch, composer and cellist, declared with a delightfully German full pronunciation of her vowels. "Business men have been running the shows and it can't be done. It takes showmen to run shows."

The inability of business men to judge or deal with artists was then emphasized by the vivacious young violinist in explanation of the wane in visitations by operas and vaudevilles, lamented in Medford as well as other cities during the past few years.

"B. F. Keath was a great showman," she added. "Many others have died, and unlike Rin-Tin-Tin," she borrowed a suggestion from her companion with a laugh, "they have no sons to carry on."

"Martin Beck, who is coming back to Orpheum, is a great showman, but the whole of them you can count on one hand." The public will not be satisfied with mediocre artists. I think the public is smarter than that." Miss Bruch tossed back her bobbed hair, which in color, and almost unruly ambition for curling, further expresses her obvious faculty for being at all times, alert and enthusiastic.

"Business men do not pay enough to keep the real artists in shows. They do not pay writers of the better things enough," she added. "They just can't run shows. That's why I am here. The show business has gone hay-wire."

In further explanation of her arrival in Medford with Dr. Claunch, Miss Bruch continued, "I have always been interested in new things, when there is real logic behind them."

Asked a bit of h.r history, Miss Bruch, responded with increased vivacity, "I was born in Berlin. I entered concert and solo work when I was eight, and I sometimes think it rather a pity."

Asked why, she answered, "People expect me to be so old. So may years in opera they talk. She must be a nice old lady now'."

Miss Bruch, who, is in reality very young and very small, with eyes that meet the questioner more than half way in their directness of glance, came to the states just before the war with her brother Fritz (nice German names we had for war days, here,) she said yesterday. They were sponsored by the Wolfsohn Musical Bureau.

"Then some one started a dirty war for us," she complained, "and we went into vaudeville with the Orpheum circuit."

Turning the conversation back to Germany, where her mother still lives, she said, "The German people do not want Hitler. He is too hard, too military. The German people are gemuelicheit. I can't translate it well," she apologized, "just gemuetlichkeit. I guess you would say home loving. People whose houses look lived-in, easy going people, who want a leader who will be as a father, who leads in the home."

Miss Bruch will present a concert each evening at the Knights of Pythias hall in connection with Dr. Claunch's lectures. "And 7:45 is 7:45 with us," she declared, asking those who want to hear her to come early.

NO STALLING IN J'VILLE BOUTS

Saturday night's fights at Jacksonville will be decided by knockouts, declares Promoter Mack Lillard, who has one of the most interesting cards he has lined up since taking over the promotional end of local fistic affairs. The battles, which will be refereed by Les Weiss, will be conducted under strict Marquis of Queensbury rules, permitting a minimum of clinching and forcing the gladiators to a maximum of mixing at all times. Fans who have attended recent bouts here have been pleased by this arrangement which has practically barred stalling.

Enthusiasm for the open air mitt festival to be staged in conjunction with the Jacksonvill Gold Rush Jubilee is growing, owing to practically all the fighters having a large and intensely partisan following in the valley.

The first bout will start promtly at 9:15, permitting Medford business men to get over to the former county seat town after stores close.

Montgomery Ward Catalogue Is Key To New Policies

According to I. P. Andres, local Montgomery Ward manager, during the past several months, the eyes of the business world have been attracted to Montgomery Ward & Co. With the appointment of Sewell L. Avery as the new president of the company, many things began to happen. The organization was materially changed and new blood from the outside was brought in to work out the principles and policies that Mr. Avery was laying down.

With the mailing of the fall catalogue today to millions of customers, it is interesting to see what the new policies have done to this book, which has been issued twice a year for over 60 years. Anyone familiar with catalogue making knows that it takes more than a few months to make any substantial changes in its makeup.

However, even allowing that the time has been short, there are many interesting indications in it of the new attitude. The first and most radical departure from conventional mail order methods is the departmentizing of the catalogue. Instead of finding baby shoes, for instance, with rubber boots, baby bottles with cough remedies, and high-chairs with kitchen cabinets, as has been the custom for more than half a century, the customer now finds everything for the baby in one section of the book. Likewise, the sportsman, farmer and the housewife—all find the things they need gathered together just as they would in a big department store.

This is a simple and fundamental idea that has occured to many users of catalogues, but in the minds of dyed-in-the-wool mail order men it involved too many problems to be accomplished. It is believed that the suggestive selling developed by this new method of cataloguing will be of material benefit, in addition to the greater ease and convenience of ordering from the new style book. The 40,000 items in the big 600-page book have been grouped in 1 departments. The new plan is said to have so simplified catalogue buying that the traditional catalogue index may eventually be eliminated.

The book opens with a frank statement of policies, which includes a declaration that selling effort will be confined to facts devoid of confusing or exaggerated claims. "The statements we make about this merchandise are not the manufacturer's selling claims. They are facts that we ourselves can guarantee," is one of the declarations. And it is a fact that the exaggerations and ballyhoo that were so familiar to an era of business now past, are not to be found in its pages.

OLD UNCLE STEPHEN IS 'TUCKERED OUT'

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, O. (AP)—"Uncle Stephen" Phillips, 90 years old and still a lad, capped his 75-year racing record by driving his trotter to victory. But it probably will be his last race. "I'm pretty tuckered," he said, as he stretched out in an armchair given him by admirers.

TRAVELING MAN ENDORSES ALL-BRAN

Says It Brought Relief From Constipation

"I want to take this unsolicited means to tell you what ALL-BRAN has done for me.

"I am on the road all the time, and this has a tendency to constipate me, or any one who travels all the time. I used to suffer a great deal from constipation, until some one told me about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since I have been eating this cereal, I have been cured of constipation. I heartily endorse it to any one suffering as I did."—Mr. B. F. Pollard, Marion, N. C.

Constipation isscaused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN provides ooth. At the same time, it supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Being a natural corrective ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming.

How much better than risking pills and drugs — so often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation—serious cases, with every meal. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
