

PORTLAND EGGS JUMP ONE CENT THURSDAY MORN

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Advance of 1c down in the selling price of eggs on the Portland market, effective Thursday morning, is announced by E. J. Dixon, general manager of the Pacific Co-ops, in spite of the undergrade seats at low prices by outsiders. The new price on extra-weights will be 20c dozen. The markets elsewhere are considered just fair.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Receipts of butter on the Portland market recently have continued their previous decrease but along the coast conditions are a trifle mixed in this regard. While both Portland and San Francisco butter offerings have of late decreased, there has been a slight gain in offerings at Los Angeles for a like period.

Trade in butter is generally steady without price change. Indications were that peach prices were about on the stabilized margin suggested by the Yakima valley peach growers for a resale value to consumers of about 50c with jobbers selling 40c in lots for Edwinton.

Quality cantaloupes out of theillard section are showing a steady movement at $1.10 top. The Dalles and Yakima stock is practically unchanged. Market for huckleberries is weaker. Sales of coast stocks are reported around $9.75 with mountain offerings around $9.90 lb. Quality is very good.

Peaches overwhelmed the East Side farmers' wholesale market today. Peaches from Yakima, from Wapato, from Milton-Freewater, from southern Oregon and the Willamette valley were all there and in plenty. There was very good quality in general but prices were weak to generally lower. Sales of Crawford's ruled generally 30¢-45¢ for Willamette valley boxes with most sales of bushel boxes at 60¢-75¢. Yakima Crawford-Eberts were mostly 35¢-40¢ with a few 50¢. The Dalles has a few very large sized Odawards which moved at 50¢ as did a few of the Willamette valley. Yakima J. H. sold around 50¢ generally top for large sized fruit.

Pears were in further abundance during the day, Bartlett moving slowly at 40¢-50¢ bushel box.

Reports today from various sections of the county, continued to confirm the belief that the abortive recall plot against Circuit Judge H. D. Norton was meeting with high disfavor, in city and country alike.

merchant. The complaint was filed by Mrs. Vera Wilson, and a statutory offense is alleged. The wife is represented by Attorney M. O. Wilkins of Ashland, independent candidate for district attorney.

Wilson, who was returned from Auburn, Calif., late Monday is at liberty on $1000 bond.
