Editorial Correspondence

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 19.—In an effort to deceive the voters, the political crowd behind this recall of Judge Norton, is trying to maintain that those opposing such action, are in some mysterious way trying to deprive the people of the community of their constitutional rights.

To give plausibility to this ridiculous claim, they keep reiterating that the recall is as much a part of the state constitution as any other law—and the people have the same right to invoke it that they have to invoke any law. And then twist this obvious truth around to make it appear that those opposing THIS recall are opposing the right of recall ITSELF.

We can't believe there are many voters in Medford or Jackson county who can't see through this characteristic distortion of the facts—this sneaky perversion of the truth which has marked every political move of this crowd, for so many years.

No one in Jackson county is opposing the recall—or the initiative, or the referendum—or any other part of the organic law in this state. No one questions the RIGHT of anyone to initiate the recall against Judge Norton or anyone else—or the RIGHT TO SIGN such a petition.

But a great many do oppose initiating the recall against Judge Norton—do oppose anyone signing such a petition—for they believe such action is not only absolutely unwarranted, but absolutely wrong—the most flagrant and outrageous abuse of the recall privilege in the history of southern Oregon.

And believing so, they are doing everything in their power to prevent this recall being invoked—and if they fail in that, they are going to do everything in their power to see that the recall is beaten at the polls, by such an overwhelming majority that a similar assault, not only upon the judiciary but upon the self respect and good name of the community, is never attempted again.

In taking this action, those who oppose this recall are not only entirely within their rights, they are merely answering to one of the first obligations of good citizenship—which is to uphold right against wrong, and good government, and defend those men in our public service who have been true to the highest ideals

OF that service against the machinations, of cheap politicians, and self seeking and unscrupulous trouble makers. That's all.

If anyone doubts this is the true situation, let them ask themselves this question: Why is it that the crowd trying to "get" Judge Norton, spends all its time shouting about the sanctity of the recall and has not one word to say about why they are seeking the downfall and the disgrace of our Circuit Judge?

Isn't it rather peculiar? The recall, we repeat is a perfectly legitimate weapon, but it is an emergency weapon. It should be used only when a public official has been so derelict in his duty, or so inefficient, or so corrupt, that the public safety and welfare demands his immediate removal.

If this is the belief of this crowd, why don't they say so! Why don't they come out like men and file their charges? What has Judge Norton done in his official capacity—or his private capacity for that matter—that would justify his summary removal from office, his humiliation and disgrace?

WHAT? Can't this pack of troublemakers bring one definite charge—if not, why not? And another question: If these people are so jealous of the good name of Medford and Jackson county, so eager to clean up the judiciary, and so convinced Judge Norton is unworthy of the high position he occupies, why, oh why, is there no man or woman in Jackson county—and no group of them—daring to come out in the open and sponsor this recall petition?

Why are the people of Jackson county denied the right of knowing who sponsored this recall, who started it, who is behind it now and who was behind it at the outset?

Why, oh why! R.W.R.

The Farmers Rebel. It Interests T. R. JU-49 Is Coming. Sado Araki Dislikes Us.

Copyright King Features Synd., Inc

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Farmers in the middle west, and farther west, have decided that the way to attract attention is to do something. "Suffering in patient silence does not get you anywhere," is their new idea. And the plan is "if the cities will not pay us a decent price, we shall not feed the cities."

Farmers patrol highways leading to the cities, and turn back loads of farm produce and supplies of milk. In one case a freight train was compelled to stop, its load of live stock was turned loose in the fields.

The "farmers' rebellion," that is what it amounts to, started vigorously in Iowa, and is spreading to other states, Nebraska, and Wisconsin.

Iowa farmers got results, among other things an increase of almost one hundred per cent in the wholesale price of milk. Even so you wonder that the farmer can live. His new milk price is only a little more than two dollars a hundred pounds.

If striking, blocking highways, etc., will bring better prices, the example will spread. It is the first important demonstration by farmers, hitherto content with futile speech making and routine voting.

The Outlook magazine, which died a little while ago, will return to life as the New Outlook, with former Governor Alfred E. Smith, as editor in chief. The late Theodore Roosevelt, where he sits above, would like to see the first A. E. Smith number of the New Outlook, for Mr. Roosevelt was once editor of the old Outlook, and what he wrote was emphatic.

You can imagine him saying to the other angels, showing his teeth as he talks, assuming that angels have teeth, although they do not eat, "You should have seen that magazine when I ran it. I told every woman to have 12 children. I made the malefactors of great wealth wish they had never seen the light of day. But, of course, you know nothing of such things, up here. You ought to have seen me, when I was a mortal. The earth was not so dull, then."

In Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ceretto's baby was born "dead," no sign of life, no breathing. They called the police, and they called, not a doctor, but the fire department. It sent its rescue squad, and for three hours big firemen worked over the tiny baby, until its face turned gradually from dark blue to pink. Then they took it to the hospital. That would have been considered a first-class miracle, five hundred years ago.

Watch for the news of the JU-49. It is a plane, built by the Junkers works in Germany to travel through the thin, non-resisting stratosphere, and is expected to fly from Berlin to New York in half a day.

The JU-49 will be all metal, a monoplane with 90 feet wing spread, carrying one engine of 850 horse power.

Ten miles up, there are no storms, winds or fog, and the rarefied atmosphere offers little resistance to any body moving through it.

Move your hand rapidly through the water in your bath tub, then move it through the air above the water, and observe the difference.

Water offers six hundred times as much resistance as our normal atmosphere, and the thin air of the stratosphere, compared with the air we breathe, is almost like our air, compared with water.

The speed planned by the Junkers company will seem slow to our descendants, only 300 miles an hour. Planes have already flown much faster, near the earth's surface.

James Madden, Chicago city employee, was shot to death yesterday, while in an automobile with two policemen. Those that desired his death were determined to get him, but it is not known just why he was killed.

The Chicago Herald and Examiner thinks that criminal court judges should not set free "on probation," thugs brought before them, and captured with revolvers, or sawed-off shot guns. "The suggestion seems reasonable.

Regulation of crime might start with regulation and reorganization of certain criminal courts and judges, in New York, as well as in Chicago.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT SNAKEBITE

Everybody should study snakes, at the zoo, in their natural habitat or elsewhere, at least enough to be able to tell at sight whether a snake is venomous or harmless to man. There still prevail among people who fondly imagine themselves intelligent a good deal of silly superstition of a childish kind in regard to snakes, and this leads to much cruelty to the common harmless snakes and wanton destruction of some of the larger snakes that are friends of man and, indeed, often prized household pets.

People who know snakes sometimes speak of them as "beautiful"; people who are ignorant cannot comprehend this, for to their benighted consciousness all snakes are ugly creatures.

While copperheads and moccasins occur in this country and occasionally bite, in the great majority of cases of bite by venomous snake one or another kind of rattlesnake inflicts the wound.

Rattlesnakes are unable to strike higher than the middle of the calf of a person standing or walking. So it is a good plan to wear stout leather leggings or heavy shoes that lace half way up the leg when you are working or playing or hiking or touring in country where rattlesnakes live. They are fond of rocky slopes where sunny ledges are numerous.

The best first aid treatment for bites is as follows: 1. Immediate criss-cross incision of the fang mark or both marks if both fangs have penetrated the skin. These incisions should be merely skin deep (no more than 1/4 inch deep) and not more than half an inch long. Razor blade, knife, or other sharp implement, or even a piece of broken glass, will make the incision.

2. Immediate suction of the fresh wounds, to draw as much blood and venom out as you can. Continue this suction for 20 minutes. If there is no abrasion of lips or mouth there is no danger to the person who sucks the wound.

3. Immediate application of a tourniquet to the limb above the wound. Twist handkerchief or other loose loop of cloth or rope around limb, and a stick to twist it tight enough to shut off circulation. This must be entirely loosened for will interest the west, Russia especially. He says the nations of Europe and America are barbarians, and Asia must be preserved from further contamination by the overlordship of Japan.

What interests Russia is General Araki's statement that Japan should absorb and rule all the soviet territory in Siberia. Araki is Japan's minister of war, and his authority makes his speech enlightening and important. He says white races oppress the Asiatics. He would take India from Britain, and would no longer let the impudence of the white races go unpunished.

The Japanese people, intensely patriotic and self-confident, contribute large sums to the national army, voluntarily, apart from taxation, and Japan's generals know how to use the money.

Recent popular subscriptions totaling $1,277,360 were used to buy 46 fighting planes, 35 anti-aircraft machine guns, 134 heavy and light-weight machine guns, gas masks and other very modern war equipment.

General Araki does not look like one able to beat all Europe and America. But he has energy, and Europeans usually judge Asiatics inaccurately.

Europe's best protection against Japan would probably be found in China's 400,000,000 population that would not welcome Japanese rule.

Jenkins' Comment

I have seen children sewn into their red flannels in the fall and not taken out until the next spring.

That was regarded, in those days and places, as quite the thing to do.

THEN there is the tomato, which I now see esteem so highly that we feel we do not eat enough of it, thus getting our share of the rich vitamins it contains.

But the tomato was once regarded as deadly poison. It was known as the "love apple" and was grown in gardens for its beauty, but the children were warned sternly not to eat it, just as they are warned now to avoid the bottles in the medicine chest that are marked with skull and crossbones.

AS WE look back over the past, we are impressed with the fact that the people of those times knew so darned many things that weren't so, and we laugh in a superior way and are all puffed up with our smarts.

Granger's View on Recall

To the Editor:
Having been asked by a good many Grangers for an opinion on the recall petitions I have investigated to some extent and find the following:
That those preparing and sponsoring the petitions are not known to the public and for some reason are keeping in the background. As to the cause, I feel they are being circulated to intimidate Judge Norton by disgruntled people whom Judge Norton in his line of duty has been obliged to decide against.

This I feel is being undertaken as a means of getting even, coupled with a thought of influencing future decisions. Grangers should be careful at all times about what they sign and especially should they refrain from attaching their names to documents whose sponsors are either ashamed of or too cowardly to acknowledge.

As I see it, the petitions cannot in any way benefit the country, but will only serve to incite and encourage that element who are already opposed to law and order as dispensed by our commonly known system.
