Wedding in Portland Interests Local Folk Many members of the local university set have been reading with interest news of events, featuring Miss Grace Gardner of Portland, prior to her wedding to C. Laird McKenna, Jr., which will be solemnized this evening at the First Presbyterian church.

Both are former students of the University of Oregon and have friends here. Miss Gardner is also known in newspaper circles as society editor of the Portland Oregonian.

Yesterday's announcement of the wedding, which carries the names of several other Portlanders and former university students, known here, reads as follows: "One of the important notations on the coming week's calendar is the marriage of Miss Grace Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gardner, to C. Laird McKenna, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McKenna, which will take place tomorrow night at the First Presbyterian church.

Miss Gardner will have as her honor attendants Mrs. Verne Polts (Constance Roth) and Miss Catherine Elizabeth West, and as her junior bridesmaid Miss Dorothy Johns of Pendleton. Louis Brooks Ragen will attend Mr. McKenna as best man, and usher will be Clifford Powers, Robert W. Gilley, Wade Newbegin and Edward Everett McKenna. A reception for members of the bridal party and a few close friends will be held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents in Johnson street.

Miss Gardner and her fiancé have been the inspiration for a number of social affairs since the announcement of their engagement earlier this month. Mrs. Verne Polts entertained at a buffet supper for them last night at her home, following the wedding rehearsal, and each day during the past week has been marked by other entertainment for the bride-elect."

Miss Tobey Leaves For Islands Again

Of interest to her Medford friends is the following item appearing in the Morning Oregonian, regarding the plans of Miss Myrtle Tobey, a former teacher in the local schools: "Miss Myrtle Tobey, who has been visiting here with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Tobey, and with her mother, Mrs. John Garmley, at Newport, left last week to resume her teaching duties in the Hawaiian islands, where she has spent the past two years."

Miss Green, Guest Here of Stacey's

Miss May Green of Ashland is spending several days here this week as guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stacey at their home, Glen Oak Court.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Arrive from South. Mr. and Mrs. Nion R. Tucker of Burlingame, arrived at the Medford municipal airport yesterday afternoon on the three o'clock transport, to spend a week or two at Rogue's Roost—their summer lodge on the river near Trail.

This is Mrs. Tucker's first visit to the Rogue river valley this summer, as she returned to the states only a few weeks ago from a stay of several months abroad.

Mrs. Tucker spent the month of June in London, during which time she was presented before the court of King George.

In the spring she toured the continent, visiting France, Italy and Switzerland.

Upon her return to the United States she attended the Olympic games at Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker were met on the landing field by their young son, Nion R. Tucker, Jr., who has been here for the past ten days.

Keep Close Eye on Claus

Claus von Fuerstenwall, $25,000 imported German Schнауzer, belonging to Mrs. Nion R. Tucker of Burlingame, Calif., arrived back at Rogue's Roost, the Tucker summer lodge on Rogue river, and as far as Joseph Chevigny, caretaker, is concerned, the prize-winning dog will have no occasion this summer to be the object of a search in two states.

For Claus is the valuable gray dog that became frightened at the shooting of firecrackers on the river last summer, and was lost for several days.

Claus came into Medford from the "Roost" near Trail, and was befriended here by Larry Larter, who returned the dog to the Tuckers.

When Claus was not readily located in southern Oregon, it was thought the animal was en route to its California home, and news stories and pictures were published in all the leading papers of both Oregon and California.

Another valuable dog, Hellaster, a black toy Schнауzer, also brought over from Germany, arrived on the shafts Saturday morning and will be another "fortune" for Mr. Chevigny to keep his eyes on.

In a decision handed down by Circuit Judge T. E. J. Duffy of Deschutes county, and filed with the county clerk today, W. O. Chapman and wife of Camp Withou on the North Pacific Highway, this city, are given a decree in their suit against the General Petroleum company.

The decree gives the Chapmans a cancellation of their lease with the oil company, and prohibits them from reclaiming any further equities against the Chapmans and equities as claimed, and costs and disbursements of the trial.

The action was highly involved, and concerned sales and rebates on gasoline and rentals.

The decision is lengthy, and declares "that many interesting legal issues were developed in the proceedings."

Judge Duffy was assigned to hear the testimony in the case, when Circuit Judge Norton was hearing a case in Lane county, last July.

BATES' REMOVAL TO END TURMOIL ON FOOTS CREEK

September 1, was that he take up residence in Linn county. The syndicate purchasing the property is composed of L. A. Banks of this city, Dr. F. G. Swendenburg of Ashland, and a mining engineer. The purchase price is said to be $25,000.

The stipulation also provides that the trial of Bates on an indictment charging "threats to commit a felony" be postponed to the October term of court, and that the indictment be dismissed, "with the approval of the court."

These various moves, the stipulation sets forth, are "for the best interests of all concerned."

The district attorney said the dismissal was a move to end the "turmole on Foots creek" with as little cost to the taxpayers as possible, and which it was felt would be accomplished by removal of Bates from the county.

Last winter, when the alleged events transpired, upon which Bates was indicted, he was allowed to go to Washington State, through the efforts of women kin, his then attorney Frank De Souza, the district attorney's office and Justice of the Peace H. D. Reed of Gold Hill. The action was highly satisfactory to Bates, it was said. After the return of the indictment Bates returned to the Foots creek district, and shortly thereafter the charge was made that he had been "forced to leave the county."

A proclamation with all the legal accessories and stamps was received this morning by the Chamber of Commerce from Olympia, Wash. Within the very dignified folder, in legal language, the opening of the Olympia oyster season is announced for September 1.

The proclamation is signed by the mayor, E. N. Steele. The history of the Olympia oyster, dating back to the first opening of the west, its food qualities and popularity as a delicious dish, is told in the document.
