

STATE POLICE RETAIN OFFICE AT CITY HALL

The headquarters of the state police will remain in their present quarters in the city hall at Fifth and Central for the next 15 days, according to Captain Lee M. Brown, head of the Southern Oregon district.

The state police did not move to the new court house with other county and state departments.

Arrangements have been made with the city to remain in the city hall for 15 days.

Final decision relative to the permanent location of the state police rests with Superintendent Charles P. Pray at Salem.

All the county offices are now in the new court house, and in topography condition, due to the confusion of moving. All will be back to normal by tomorrow.

The county court held its regular Monday session, handling chiefly matters dealing with the moving.

Circuit Judge H. D. Norton said today that he will hold no sessions of court until after the dedication Thursday and that in the meantime he will prepare decisions in a number of cases.

The county jail prisoners will not be moved into the new jail until after the dedication, probably Friday, Sheriff Ralph Jennings has announced.

This will allow visitors during the dedication to inspect the bastille unhampered.

SHERWOOD TELLS OLYMPIC THRILLS

Stanley Sherwood, who recently returned from the Olympic games in Los Angeles, described in interesting manner the games and all the thrills accompanying them at the noon luncheon today of the Kiwanis club.

The history of the games, and the spirit which predominated throughout them, were described by Mr. Sherwood, who stressed particularly the attitude of the crowds, who honored loser with as much applause as was accorded the winner in each event.

The one boom sounding thru the stadium was for the Finn, when he was believed to have crowded out Ralph Hill in their spectacular race, Sherwood stated.

Music for today's luncheon was furnished by McCabe Novelty boys of San Francisco, who are playing at the Holly theater tonight and tomorrow.

The musicians were enthusiastically applauded at the close of each number, and interspersed their musical program with a bit of vaudeville.

Report of the dance committee was given by C. S. Butterfield, who announced that plans are being made with Ashland and Klamath Falls for a joint party at Twin Plunge, September 9.

PREJUDICE CLAIM ENTERED IN BOOK

Bates, Gold Hill mining man; and Mrs. Margaret Lund of Gold Hill were dated as filed August 27, last Saturday, the county clerk said.

The documents were left at the new court house last Saturday and received by the county clerk from M. O. Wilkins of Ashland. Under an order of the county court, no official business was transacted at the new court house until today.

Several industrials and rails encountered persistent selling, and there was a mixture of gains and losses at the close, with most changes limited to $1 or so. Total sales aggregated 3,800,000 shares.

WAINES ARE FINED ON DISTURBANCE CHARGES

The Waines, recently quarantined with the smallpox, and his father, Sol Waine, were each fined $10 in Judge Glenn O. Taylor's court this morning, when they pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace. The two men were arrested Sunday evening by city police, and lodged in jail overnight.

The men stated that they were "celebrating," and because of the revelry resulting complaints were sent police. They reside at 444 South Fir street.

GARBO MAY SEEK KREUGER'S ISLAND AS HER HIDEAWAY

STOCKHOLM.—(AP)—The summer home of Ivan Kreuger, an island south of Stockholm, may become the hideaway of Greta Garbo in Sweden.

Many here cling to that idea despite curt Garbo denials of any such plans. Where else, they ask, can she obtain better measure of the privacy which she always seeks?

"Kreuger's paradise," as the island of Angholm is called here is a patch where hardy but luxuriant evergreens and flowers cling to windswept rocks. It can be reached only by motorboat, a good two-hours' ride from Stockholm.

The villa itself, typical of the match king's love of comfort, is equipped with all modern conveniences. It is an L-shaped building, resting on a rough stone foundation, with a large porch and veranda.

It is strongly timbered, equipped with large fireplaces and suitable for winter as well as summer use. The roof is of colored tile.

Around the villa and the smaller buildings Kreuger constructed rose garden sheltered paths, rough stone walks and a landscaped that earned for the place its title of "paradise."

Before he purchased the island, it was a mass of tangled trees and wild flowers.

From a motorboat one steps onto a three-sided boat landing which also serves as a bathing pool. The path to the villa leads through a landscaped garden, crowded with fruit trees, roses, pansies and vines.

Overlooks Other Isles
The villa rests on a rocky promontory commanding an excellent view of the open water and the tree-studded expanse of the archipelago.

The villa itself was built in sections, the latest a sun porch. It now has seven rooms and kitchen, including a dining room with open veranda.

The furniture is gray-green in color and modern. The kitchen is well equipped. In one of the out-buildings is a plant to generate electricity.

Kreuger, busy man of the world, never spent more than six or seven hours at a time at his villa. When he did come it was to escape for a short time from his worries. Most of the time the place rested still and quiet with only the caretaker and servants present.

Since Kreuger's suicide the island gardens have lacked proper attention. The roses ramble carefree and the grass between the stones of the walks is getting long.

It is conceded generally that the place can be purchased for a fraction of what Kreuger paid for it. What it cost the match king is not known but it is estimated to be at least $25,000.

PARIS STYLISTS LAUNCH WAR ON FASHION PIRATES

PARIS.—(AP)—An attack on "fashion pirates" who place false French labels in low-priced hats manufactured in the United States has been launched here with the signing of a protective agreement between 25 leading Paris milliners and 15 prominent American hat manufacturers.

Under the agreement, formed between the Parisian designers and the Millinery Quality Guild having headquarters in New York, the American hat manufacturers pledged themselves to the 25 Parisian milliners and to combat unauthorized use of their trademarks in low priced hats manufactured in the United States.

Special numbered labels vouching for the authenticity of models will be manufactured in France and sold through the New York headquarters of the Millinery Quality Guild.

Members of the organization desiring labels will be forced to present consular invoices certifying the purchase of the hat in Paris and will be held responsible for the disposition of the numbered labels which they buy.

The guild, members of which include the largest and most widely known hat manufacturers in the United States, will also establish a minimum price for copies which its members make of hats purchased in Paris.

The 25 Parisian milliners are: Agnes, Talbot, Patou, Bruyere, Camille Roger, Rebour, Germaine, Page, Lanvin, LeMonnier, Louise Bourbon, Made, Mainbocher, Molyneux, Rose Desart, Valois, Lewis, Marcelle Lely, Blanche et Simone, Marie Guy, Goupy, Gaby Mono, Marie Christians, Marie Alphonse, Suzy White and Marthe.
