

RECALL PEDDLER GIVEN REBUFF IN ASHLAND EFFORT

Democratic Leader Flatly Refuses to Harbor Petition in Place of Business — Footh Creek Likewise

Efforts of sponsors and backers of the recall plot directed against Circuit Judge H. D. Norton, to circulate petitions in Ashland this week, met with opposition, according to reports. An "independent" candidate for a county office tried to induce the "leader of the Ashland Democracy" to harbor one of the petitions in his place of business. It was reported, and was refused flatly. A lively argument ensued, and the "leader of the Ashland Democracy" emphatically declared, "I am opposed to the recall, and want nothing to do with it."

The same thing happened at a Footh Creek service station, where the recall petition, with two names upon it, was ordered out after two days. The Footh Creek district is one of the spots where "law and order broke down" and the home of an outstanding victim of an alleged "miscarriage of justice."

Recall in Disfavor. Candidates browbeating around among the voters in the country the past week, report the recall is in decided disfavor, confirming the previous reports of William R. Coleman of this city, and Thomas Pankey of Central Point. Coleman declared it was "the most unpopular move ever initiated in the county," and Pankey that "nine out of every ten men I meet are opposed to it." Both have lived in the county for years.

It was learned this week, on fairly authentic authority, that the recall petitions were printed by a Salem concern which makes a specialty of this form of printing.

Fathers Still Bashful. As yet no one has confessed the authorship of the petition title, which contains the familiar phrases "bias and prejudice," "miscarriage of justice" and "life and liberty imperiled." Neither will anybody admit the fatherhood of the recall scheme.

The Central Point American this week editorially remarks, anent the recall plot, as follows: "So in this case, just line up in your minds the men who stand openly in defense of Judge Norton. Then opposite these place the men who have espoused the recall move. Be honest with yourselves, please. Now, what's the answer?"

"On the one hand you find the most prominent figures in southern Oregon. Lawyers, doctors, ministers, business men. Look closely, please. Bear in mind all you really know about these men. Can you feature these solid citizens. All being mistaken as to Norton's character?"

"Now, on the other hand, have regard to the opposition. Will these faces bear the same close scrutiny? What do you know about these people? How long, for instance, has the editor of the Daily News been a resident of Oregon and what has been his history since coming here? These ladies who have been circulating the recall petitions, are they unbiased and disinterested? Are there ANY among those whose skirts are clean of any taint of self-interest, or revenge in the matter? Just look 'em over and compare and sift out the testimony for yourselves."

COMMUNITY CHEST ADOPTS NEW PLAN FOR DISTRIBUTION

Donors May Designate Who Shall Receive Fund—Relief Bodies Will Come First Under New Order of Group

Adoption of the recommendations of the budget committee with regard to the campaign for the coming year occupied a major part of the attention of the board of directors of the Medford community chest at their meeting at the Chamber of Commerce building yesterday afternoon. The committee report was presented by Hamilton Patton, committee chairman, and involved a new system of budget building for the local chest. It was the recommendation of the budget committee that each institutional member in the chest shall stand on its own feet this year, and that, other than the purely relief organizations, they shall receive as their share of the chest funds only those amounts which shall be designated to them by the donors to the chest, and that space shall be provided on the pledge cards for the designation of funds.

Relief Bodies First. In the event that donors do not choose to designate to which organization the funds shall go, the board of directors of the chest will disburse the funds, as in the past, with funds going to relief agencies first. It was felt by the board that this system will eliminate much dissatisfaction which has been prevalent on account of funds being dispensed to other than relief organizations, and will allow the subscribers to the chest to say where their money shall be spent.

The budget committee also recommended that the community chest co-operate fully with the governor's relief committee for Jackson county, particularly in the establishment of a central warehouse for supplies, which may be used by local relief agencies in distributing food and clothing for the needy.

Work to Be Paramount. It was also the opinion of the directors that men be given work wherever possible, and that the relief funds be distributed so far as possible in return for work done by the recipients of the relief.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Leonard Carpenter, J. C. Mann and

W. S. Bolger was appointed to select a campaign chairman for the community chest drive, which will be held either during the last week of October or the first week in November. The committee will make its report in the near future.
