College Women's Club

Opens New Season
College women's club held its first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. T. J. Malgren at Phoenix last week. Mrs. F. E. Swedberg presided during the business session and Mrs. P. D. Wagner, program chairman, introduced Mrs. E. M. Drysdale, who reviewed George Detton's book of poetry, "The Flowering Stone," a brief outline of modern American poetry, was given by Mrs. Drysdale. The older established forms of the lyric verse are in the ascendancy at the present. Mr. Detton is gifted in craftsmanship, the perfect use of words and beautiful imagery, she pointed out. He shows a sense of being deeply pierced by the world's beauty which he presents in the most satisfying words. The second part of the Flowering Stone is called "The Anatomy of Death," in which he stresses the emancipation of the spirit in a world of material things by universal love.

COUNTRY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE MARK REVEALS INCREASE

A pronounced increase in enrollment in country schools of Jackson county was announced today by Mrs. Susanne Homes Carter, school superintendent, who referred to the "return to the farm tendency" of people as explanation of the definite gain. Although figures have not been compiled in all districts, a number of them having opened this week, those received at the county school superintendent's office show a gain in practically all rural schools.

City and town schools, on the contrary, in several instances, have experienced decreased enrollment, which is taken as further proof of the population shift to rural communities, where people are finding living conditions better through production of foods.

A very crowded condition is reported in the Reese Creek two-room school, where transportation of the upper grades to Eagle Point is being considered. In the Lone Pine district a similar increase is noted and the Applegate school, visited yesterday by Mrs. Una B. Inch, county school supervisor, has a very large enrollment. The Agate school district and others heard from yesterday and today are also noting heavier attendance.

The Toio district, however, which during recent years experienced crowded conditions, has a smaller enrollment this year.

The girl who drinks plenty of water and refuses to diet will stay young and fresh-looking longer than the girl who does not follow these simple rules.

PLANE HIT TREES; 2 PILOTS INJURED

VANVOUVER, Wash., Sept. 13.—(AP)—John Dalton and L. L. Barrett, both of Walla Walla, were injured seriously in an airplane accident west of Wabouah today while en route to the American Legion convention in Portland.

The two men, both said to be experienced pilots, were taken to the Clark county hospital here. Attendants would not say whether the men were unconscious.

Unconfirmed reports said Dalton, piloting the plane, had been forced to land. The undercarriage of the plane skinned the tree tops, mowing the plane into the ground.

FILM STUDIO GUARDS GET CHANCE TO REST WITH OLYMPICS OVER

By ROBBIN COONS.

HOLLYWOOD—"Mac" and his similarly uniformed counterparts at other studios are beginning to lose that harried look now that the Olympic games are safely in the past.

"Mac," whose full name is W. A. McDowell, is the uniformed police officer who guards the main information desk at Paramount, the studio which with Fox, M-G-M, and Universal, bore the brunt of the Olympic visitors' "attack." Warner Bros.-First National, being low in production at the time, was not swamped as the others were, but still entertained profusely.

During the 13-day period of the contests, "Mac" counted 941 visitors at his studio alone—and the number of people who tried unsuccessfully to crash was countless.

The authorized visitors gave "Mac" no trouble—it was the mob of auto-graph-hunters who loitered around the entrance, even venturing into the reception room, waiting for celebrities to appear, who hastened the graying of his hair. The only way to control these crowds was to use the police badge and order them across the street, to await their quarry there.

The "quarry" if two instances mean anything, afforded the pen-and-book boys a nice profit. Claudette Colbert remarked she had autographed one boy's book at least seven times on different days, and Gary Cooper had the same experience. The youngster, with a business turn of mind, was filling several books and offering them for sale to tourists for as much as $5 apiece.

Sada Cowan is back in Hollywood, and at work on Edwin Carewe's production of "Famished Youth." Her return from Europe revives memories of the glamorous silent days (glamorous in memory, anyway) when she, along with Frances Marion, June Mathis and Jeanie MacPherson, upheld the woman's end of the screen-writing business.

GAME COMMISSION APPORTIONS FUNDS

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Oregon state game commission today adopted a budget calling for the expenditure of $375,000 during the fiscal year beginning October 1.

Of the budget $184,000 is apportioned to the executive division as follows: State police, $132,500; supervisor's office, $50,000; research, $8,000; education, $10,000; fishways and streams, $14,000; bounties, $10,000; and miscellaneous, $65,000.

The division of fisheries is to be allocated $134,000; the game division $43,000; and the division of adult and records, $13,500.

MAINE GOVERNOR NOT DISCOURAGED

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 13.—(AP) Although "It looks like a political upheaval in Maine" to Governor William Tudor Gardner of that state he believes the state will be in the Hoover ranks in the November election.

Governor Gardner arrived here today by airplane and found a telegram from Mrs. Gardner waiting for him. It told of the progress of the election.

"It looks like a political upheaval in Maine," the governor said. "I think the state will go overwhelmingly for Hoover in the November elections, however. I believe the democratic victories are all due to local conditions."

Governor Gardner, a veteran of the world war, viewed the American Legion parade, today's feature of the national convention.

'MA' FERGUSON IS CHOICE OF TEXAS

LUBBOCK, Tex., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson was cheered as "the next governor of Texas" at the Democratic state convention which convened today to declare her the party nominee over Gov. R. S. Sterling, her primary opponent.

There wasn't much room for Sterling's friends in the convention. Repeated ovations were given the woman ex-governor and her husband, former Governor James E. Ferguson. Delegates stood in their chairs and cheered and tossed hats in the air. Sterling, who announced he would contest the nomination in the courts on the ground of alleged wholesale irregularities in the August 27 primary election, was not present.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A deep washout in the stock market was quickly repaired by a heavy volume of buying and short covering late today.

Early losses of $2 to more than $10 a share, representing the severest break of the year, were reduced or eliminated during the afternoon as the market swung upward almost as swiftly as it had descended. Trading was in huge volume and turnover exceeded 5,000,000 shares.

The market, after a precipitate first-hour plunge under the impetus of heavy offerings, met support by noon. It wavered a little, but finally struck a stronger stride and became very active on the upturn. The final tone was heavy.

Just before the close leading stocks dipped from their highs of the rally and net losses of $1 to $3 were rather general.
