

RESEARCH PROJECT OF PEAR BUREAU IS NOW UNDERWAY

Contract with the Oregon State college experiment station has been consummated with the signature of all the principals, and under this contract the following research has been outlined:

Fear handling studies, with special reference to harvesting, storage and transportation.

To study such factors of winter pear handling as harvesting, transportation, storage and ripening, with the following objectives:

- (1) To find methods of control for such diseases and disorders of pears as "pin hole" rot, botrytis (nest rot), stem-end rot, scald, etc.
- (2) To devise ways and means of handling pears so as to reduce packing and transit injury.
- (3) To study the ripening of winter pears with the aim of improving the quality and of devising practical means of ripening pears at eastern terminals.
- (4) To investigate the possibilities of using inert gases in prolonging the life of pears.
- (5) To investigate various indexes of maturity with the aim of improving the methods of determining time of picking and length of storage life.
- (6) To study the chemistry of pears with the aid of determining the value of pears in the diet.
- (7) To investigate the conditions under which Oregon and Washington pears are stored at eastern terminals.
- (8) To investigate the quality and condition of Oregon and Washington pears on the market with the aim of suggesting improvements in the methods of handling.

Professor Hartman is now in this city, where he will be for approximately the next 10 days, after which he is going to Hood River, then will go to the Yakima and Waukegan districts, at which time the research projects in each of these districts will be crystallized.

JORDAN VALLEY TO POOL WATER BONDS RE-FINANCING PLAN

SALEM, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Plans for the refinancing of the Jordan Valley Irrigation district were completed at a meeting of bond holders, directors of the project, and land owners held at Boise, Ida., last Saturday, C. E. Stricklin, secretary of the state reclamation commission, announced upon his return here today.

The district includes approximately 8000 acres and has outstanding bonds of $430,000.

The plan adopted proposes a pool of the bonds, with the provision that each land owner shall enter into a contract with the bond holders for his proportionate part of the original bond indebtedness. Land owners who pay their part of the indebtedness this year will receive a discount of 50 per cent. Interest will decrease at the rate of one per cent per year for 50 years, when the entire principal will be due. Land owners not in a position to pay off their indebtedness at this time may pay interest at the rate of three per cent until 1932. The reclamation commission, under the plan, will determine the ability of the land owners to pay the interest charge during the first 10 years. In cases where it is found that the land owners cannot pay the three per cent interest charge, it may be reduced by the reclamation commission.
