NURSING SCHOOL AT SACRED HEART TO BE ENLARGED

Extensive reorganization of the school of nursing at the Sacred Heart hospital, which includes an affiliation assuring the public a corps of nurses, safer and better qualified for advanced work in the prevention of disease, was announced here Friday evening by Sister John Gabriel, R. N. B. A., educational director for 16 schools of nursing in the west conducted by sisters of the same order as the local hospital.
 Sister Gabriel left Medford Friday evening to continue her inspection of the other 15 schools of nursing under her control. She is the author of four books on nursing education and is anxious to send into the field to serve the public nurses qualified to give a safer, more secure service.
 The need for perpetual advancement of nurses with the progress of medical science was emphasized by Sister Gabriel with her announcement of the important step forward available to nurses in training at the Sacred Heart hospital. The war upon disease is moving rapidly forward, she pointed out, and nurses as well as doctors must be well informed.
 Included in the improvements and reorganization of the local school of nursing are: A new library, well lighted and modern in all details, with study tables, comfortable chairs, and space for hundreds of books, provided to enlarge upon the class and lecture work offered the students. A new lecture hall has also been added to the Sacred Heart school quarters and both library and nurses' apartments.
 The hospital affiliation, which affords the local students a much wider field for education, includes an arrangement with St. Vincent's hospital in Portland, whereby each student in the Sacred Heart school of nursing is given two months' training in the nutrition department of the northern hospital, under the direction of an experienced dietitian, one month in the maternity ward and three months in the Dornbecker hospital for pediatric experience. At the same time the nurses are studying theory at the University of Oregon school of medicine in Portland and will receive six months' credit toward a degree.
 The expense of the courses will be paid for the student nurses, adding no fees to their training. The Sacred Heart hospital will finance the trip to and from Portland and the affiliation the tuition and other expenses in Portland.

KLAMATH TO GET VALLEY TOMATOES FOR SPUD SUPPLY
 Definite arrangements for the exchange of 500 cases of tomatoes for No. 2 potatoes to be added to the county commissary were completed Friday by County Commissioners Victor Bursell and John Barneburg, who with County Agent R. G. Fowler called on the Klamath county court.
 The potatoes, which are not yet harvested from the soil, will be distributed to the usual extent in exchange for labor, in accordance with the program worked out for relief of the unemployed in Jackson county. The tomatoes will be added to the Klamath county commissary, where the same plan is in operation.
 The Klamath county commissary has been in operation for eighteen months. County Agent Fowler said yesterday, and is proving a satisfactory method of caring for the existing problem. Between 600 and 600 families are being fed each week through the commissary and when work to be given in exchange is not available a record is kept and the recipients of food and clothing required to right the debt at a later date.
 No products are being given unless the recipients are willing to work for them, as Klamath county, like Jackson, is opposed to any tendency toward development of the dole system.
 The county commissioners and Mr. Fowler spent most of Friday in the neighboring town investigating general conditions and the methods used by Klamath Falls in meeting the depression problem.

Canadian Evangelist To Start Meetings

Believing that young Republicans, both men and women, in Jackson county should take an active part in the redoubling of party effort and in the intense drive to be made all over the country, from October first until election day, to re-elect President Hoover and a Republican congress to support him, as well as state and county tickets, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perl and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Porter have been taking the lead in preparing for the organization of a Junior Republican club for all Jackson county.
 The first meeting for organization will be held in the basement of the Hotel Medford Thursday evening, September 22, at 7:30, and all Republicans are urged to attend from every section of the county. All men and women between the ages of 21 and 35 are eligible and asked to become members.
 If you cannot attend and want to become a member, send your name and postoffice address to either Jack Porter or Frank Perl, Medford. This applies to men and women both.
 "There never was a time when it was more important than now for every person who believes in the principles of the party of Lincoln, Grant, Garfield, McKinley, Harding, Roosevelt and Hoover, to show their colors, than now," said Jack Porter, "and we hope every young man and woman will respond and add their names to the list."
