

CITY HALL MADE READY FOR USE VARIOUS OFFICES

Work in the city hall at the corner of Fifth and Central streets, is progressing rapidly, and it is expected the remainder of the office supplies and equipment will be transferred shortly.

The city police will use the office room near the county jail, formerly occupied by County Jailer Oscar W. Dunford, as the main office, with Chief of Police Clatus McCredie having his private office in the quarters where the state police were located in the basement.

Partitions have been built in the rooms used by the county treasurer in the basement and are now being used by the state police. A private office has also been partitioned off for Captain Lee M. Bowen.

The water department will have its headquarters in the basement space where the assessor's office was located.

On the first floor, the partitions moved from the old city hall have been put up in the clerk's and recorder's former offices, where Recorder Mose Alford, and City Treasurer Gus Samuels will be located.

Streets, roads and building departments are to be established in the county court's former quarters, according to Frank Rogers, city building inspector, who is supervising the work.

Extensive remodeling is being done in the sheriff's office, where the city court quarters are being arranged. At the present time, Grinstead and Runtz are doing the painting.

No definite arrangements have been completed as yet concerning the use of the top floor, other than the city council chambers.

PLANE TO CARRY ARDENT ANGLER

To bring Rogue River fishing closer to San Francisco, Gray Hills, son of the famous coffee fana, has purchased a new plane, according to a letter received by Wm. F. Isaacs, and can make the trip to this valley now in three and a half hours.

He will be up soon for another fishing jaunt as Mr. Isaacs is writing him today, telling news of good fishing. Mr. Hills has been awaiting the announcement, and in a previous letter assured his southern Oregon fishing partner that he would come to Medford as soon as the invitation arrived.

He has been fishing the Rogue for the past 10 or 12 years and each season becomes more enthusiastic about the sport, as it is offered in southern Oregon's most popular stream.

"I have put Rogue river in my own country," he stated in the letter to Mr. Isaacs, announcing purchase of the plane.

His father will be unable to come up this fall, he said, but his father's wife and Dr. and Mrs. Clark Burnham will come to Rogue river later in the season.

HUNTER SUFFERS BAD BUCK FEVER

The first wild story of the hunting season was told here today, without any names mentioned. A well-known resident of the valley, the hunting fans stated, killed his first deer yesterday, and by way of expressing his great joy, continuing firing into space until all the cartridges were gone and the other two members of his party wild up in the neighboring trees.

The explanation is "a new kind of buck fever," which develops after, instead of before, the shot is fired. When the deer was killed the nimrod continued to shoot, first to the right, then to the left. His companion cried out for a cessation of firing, but the shells continued to travel. One man climbed a tree and the other is said to have burrowed into a deserted wood rat's nest. When all the cartridges were gone, the successful hunter picked up his buck and started for camp and his two companions with him for "home, sweet home."

WILL DEMONSTRATE CORRECT LIGHTING

Of special interest to local business firms is the demonstration of correct lighting for stores and windows, which takes place in the basement dining room of the Hotel Medford, at 7:30 tonight. The demonstration, which has been arranged through the courtesy of the California Oregon Power company, will be conducted by Walter E. Potter, lighting specialist of the General Electric Co., who arrived here yesterday. Mr. Potter is a well known authority on the efficiency and economy of proper lighting methods and will have many helpful suggestions for those who attend.

Modern lighting is conceded to be one of the most efficient agencies for attracting and holding new customers and it is expected that a large number of local business men and women will be on hand tonight to learn of the latest improved methods of modern illumination.
