SOUTHERN OREGON WILL BE TOPIC AT PORTLAND FORUM

Industrial And Recreational Advantages, Problems To Be Talked — Products Of Area To Be Served.

Commercial, industrial and recreational advantages and problems of southern Oregon will be topics at the regular forum meeting of the Portland Chamber of Commerce Monday, October 3rd, with chambers of commerce of southern Oregon cities furnishing the program for the meeting, according to A. P. Johnsen, chairman of the forum committee of the local chamber, who is in charge of the arrangements.

Speakers who will represent the various communities of southern Oregon will include R. S. Groesbeck, president of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce, who will discuss general business and economic conditions; I. E. Vining, Ashland, past president of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce and member of the state game commission, whose discussion will embrace problems of fish, game, and wild life; and Frank Jenkins, Medford, who will talk on tourist travel and general recreation.

Plan Products Lunch.

Plans have been made to serve a luncheon of southern Oregon products at the meeting. The menu will include potatoes and meat from the Klamath basin area; tomatoes and peaches from Ashland; pears from Medford, melons from Roseburg, and other products of the southern part of the state. It is expected that about 500 Portland business and professional men will attend the session, according to E. N. Weinburn, secretary of the Portland Chamber forum committee.

"The purpose of this program," said Mr. Johnsen last night, "is to acquaint the business men of Portland with the major problems of the extreme southern part of Oregon.

See Better Understanding.

"There has been in the past a lack of understanding between the two districts, and we believe that if we can know each other better, we can obtain a better understanding of each other's problems, and can then proceed to bring about a better working cooperation between the state metropolis and southern Oregon."

It is expected that between ten and fifteen Medford business and professional men will make the trip to Portland, combining the Portland forum meeting with other business engagements. Anyone wishing to make the trip at that time is requested to get in touch with the local chamber.

EATING HABITS OF STUDENTS LISTED

A questionnaire conducted at the senior high school concerning pupils' lunch habits, shows 147 bring their lunch to school, 46 eat at the high school cafeteria, 4 bring part of their lunch and buy the rest at the cafeteria, 233 go home to lunch, 52 go to town, and 9 do not eat lunch.

The blanks filled in by the pupils, show that 69 pupils always ride home to lunch, 153 walk home, 11 sometimes walk and sometimes ride, 18 of those who walk go more than one mile, 52 eat lunch regularly down town, 17 eating down town ride, and 35 eating down town walk.

These figures have been compiled as a check for the cafeteria, according to C. G. Smith, principal. A number of the students indicated that they planned to eat at the cafeteria later in the season.

Relief work in the county has been hampered by lack of cash, it is said, although response in donation of fruit, vegetables and other requisites in canning and preserving foodstuffs for the needy has been generous.

MUSIC GROUP TO OPEN DRIVE WITH BANQUET OCT. 3RD

The annual membership drive of the southern Oregon branch of the Civic Music association will start Monday evening, October 3, at a banquet at Hotel Medford for all interested workers, Wm. F. Isaacs, president of the association, which brought to Medford four splendid concerts last year, announced yesterday.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 and Arthur W. Manuel of Chicago, member in the eastern city of the Civic Music association staff, will be present to assist in conducting the local campaign.

In a letter to Mr. Isaacs last week he stated that he was looking forward to a pleasant week in Medford. The drive, opening Monday evening, will continue until 10 p. m. of the following Saturday, October 8. After that date the privilege of joining the Civic Music association here will be denied.

Remembering the unusually fine entertainment brought to southern Oregon music lovers last year through this medium, the leaders of the drive are anticipating a much larger organization in Medford during the coming season.

"If there ever was a time in the history of the world when one should study music that time is now," Mr. Isaacs stated yesterday in emphasizing the need for better music, which has been so fully realized since the depression, whih has made people appreciate more than ever before the finer things in life.

The Civic Music association, which promised to bring three concerts to Medford last year, brought four, which pleased, greatly, the southern Oregon memeraihp. It is hoped to make the memberahip large enough this year to bring still more and finer artists to the city, since the programs depend upon the size of the organization.

Headquarters of the drive will again be at the Chamber of Commerce building. The many residents of the valley, who were disappointed last year, when they failed to obtain memberships in the organization, are reminded that concerts will be open to music association members only and that memberships will not be available after October 8.

People who are interested in furthering the association here and willing to work toward that end are invited to the banquet at the Hotel Medford, at which they will be guests of the association.

Anyone who knows of persons desiring memberships and of public spirited citizens willing to work for this worthy cause, in an intensive campaign to assure another year of superior music here, is asked to call Mrs. Effie Herbert Yeoman at 1644-R or Wm. F. Isaacs at 99.

Memberships in the association, the same as last year, will cost adults $5 and full time students $2.50.

FRUIT GROWERS SHOULD ATTEND

Fruit growers, for the first time in several years will have an opportunity to see and hear about the various experiments now being carried on by the state and federal research stations located in the county when they meet at the Southern Oregon Experiment Station, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Why do some sprays made up from well water cause leaf injury on trees? How best to overcome this injury? Do pear varieties need cross pollination from other varieties to set maximum crops of fruit? What root and body stocks are best adapted to local conditions? What soil moisture conditions are best for pear orchards? These are a few of the many questions that will be discussed during the period of the tour.

No pear or apple grower should miss being present when the tour starts at the Southern Oregon Experiment Station, Wednesday morning, say horticultural officials.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Stocks moved ahead quietly today, with rails providing most of the momentum.

The rise in car loadings figures amounting to 85,478 for the week ending September 17, was regarded as more than seasonal after making allowance for the let down during the preceding week when Labor day curtailed traffic.

Wheat and cotton prices were firm, which encouraged stocks. The motors, after their advance yesterday, were quiet, although Mack Truck jumped 3 points to a new 1932 high. The oils steadied, following their Friday slump. Sales approximated 1,200,000 shares.

URGE NON-SUIT IN SUIT OVER TITLE

Arguments for an involuntary non-suit sought by the defense in the suit of Pearl H. Wilson and husband against the Rogue River company were made Friday afternoon before Circuit Judge H. D. Norton. Decision on the non-suit motion will be rendered Monday. The court was in session at Grants Pass yesterday. The action is based upon alleged failure to deliver title to land in the Ashland district, purchased in 1928 by the Wilsons from the defendants. Damages in the sum of $25,000 are sought.

The plaintiff closed the submission of testimony Friday.

Because so many employes of a Greenville, S. C., bleachery wanted a day off to campaign for a fellow worker who running for sheriff the management closed the plant on primary day.

14 INDEPENDENTS GRACE BALLOT IN JACKSON COUNTY

The Jackson county ballot for the general election November 8, will contain the names of 14 independent candidates for county offices, the largest number in the political history of the county. In the past there have been few independent candidates, and it was a stormy campaign that could produce one such.

Three county offices have no independent aspirants—county school superintendent, county clerk, and county commissioner. All the rest have independent nominees—even for constable of Ashland.

The independent filings, and regular nominations are:

For County Judge—C. E. Gates, Medford, A. W. Pipes, Medford, Independents, W. E. Phipps, Democratic primary nominee; Earl H. Fehl, Republican primary nominee.

For Sheriff—A. P. (Soapy) Rhodes, Ashland, Lowell Zundell, Medford, Independents; Gordon Schermerhorn, Medford, Democratic primary nominee, and Everett Beeson, Talent, Republican primary nominee.

For Assessor—J. B. (Blin) Coleman, Medford, Republican primary nominee; Lowell W. Heard, Ashland, Independent.

For Treasurer—A. C. Walker, Medford, Republican primary nominee; H. A. Autrey, Ashland, Independent.

For District Attorney — William Briggs, Ashland, Republican primary nominee; George A. Codding, Medford, Democratic primary nominee, and M. O. Wilkins, Ashland, Independent.

For Justice of the Peace, Medford district—William R. Coleman, Republican primary nominee; James (Honey Boy) Stewart, Democratic primary nominee, and L. C. (Carl) Narregan, Independent.

For Justice of Peace, Gold Hill district—H. D. (Johnny) Reed, Gold Hill, Democratic primary nominee; E. H. Haynes, Rogue River, Independent.

For Justice of Peace, Ashland district—L. A. Roberts, Republican primary nominee; J. R. Pittenger, S. A. Peters, Jr., G. A. Andrews, and O. J. Law, Independents.

For Constable, Ashland district — William E. Gould, Independent.

The primary nominations without independent opposition are:

County Commissioner — Thomas Pankey, Central Point, Democratic primary nominee; Ralph Billings, Ashland, Republican.

County Clerk—George Carter, Republican; Louis Ulrich, Democratic.

School Superintendent—C. R. Bowman, Talent, Republican; Earl W. Rogers, Ashland, Democratic.

Representative—George W. Porter, Medford, and Earl B. Day, Sams Valley, Republican, and Edward C. Kelly, Medford, and H. L. DeArmond, Ashland, Democratic.

The district attorney and representative in the legislature are state offices, and filings are made with the secretary of state at Salem.

ASK COUNTY LAND FOR JOBLESS AID

Use of county land in the north end of the county, to provide employment for jobless located in that area, will be asked by Lillian Roberts, head of the Red Cross and welfare work in this section. The county, it is said, will probably grant the request, as the county court has adopted the policy in force in other Oregon counties, calling for work, before aid is rendered. The past summer a large number of transients have located in the Evans Creek, Pleasant Creek, Sexton Creek, and Wimer districts, and present a relief problem to the city or Rogue River in many instances.

Some of the newcomers have taken steps for the filing of homesteads, and some are engaged in mining, in an effort to help themselves, but a majority have shown a tendency to wait for county aid. In a few cases, efforts have been made to secure aid both from the Jackson and Josephine county courts.

It is proposed to have the land cleared by those seeking county aid, and saw up the timber into wood.

THREE COUPLES OBTAIN LICENSE

Three marriage licenses were issued yesterday at the Jackson county clerk's office, several of the people being from California.

A license was issued Frank Perry Winkleman, 21, of Talent. He gave Wilbur, 24, of Hilt, Calif., and Violet his occupation as a block setter. Wilbur is a native of Idaho and she of Canada.

Domenico Barcaglia, 21, of Weed, and Madeline Perry, 21, of Dunsmuir, also received a license to wed Saturday. Both are natives of California, and he listed his occupation as lumber worker. According to the records parents of both were born in Italy.

The other license was issued Freeman Merritt Cox of Ashland, 22, and Jeanette Daris McNerny, 23, also of that city. His occupation was given as a truck driver. She is a native of Minnesota, according to the records, and he of Washington.
