

CAN 4000 QUARTS FRUIT, VEGETABLES FOR RURAL RELIEF

In the rural communities of Jackson county, 4000 quarts of fruits and vegetables have been conserved for the coming winter under the program of the council for relief of unemployment.

The total does not include the work done at the Medford relief kitchen. In each community a local chairman and committee worked in co-operation with the general chairman.

The districts in which work is now being done are: Valley View, Talent, McLeod, Lake Creek, Lost Creek, Applegate, Rogue River, Central Point, Eagle Point, Butte Falls, Belleview and Jacksonville.

The food being conserved will be stored in a commissary in each district and be used for emergency relief, to be distributed among members of the unemployed in return for labor.

Among the products canned are tomatoes, beans, pears, peaches, corn and plums. Special emphasis has been placed upon tomatoes.

The unemployed in some communities have been helping with the work. All other participation has been by volunteer workers.

During the past few weeks of canning, Mrs. Mack said yesterday the workers have averaged between 90 and 361 cans a day.

Committee chairmen, working in the communities are: Mrs. Lela Shepherd, Rogue River; Mrs. A. T. Lathrop, Central Point; Mrs. Minnie Fox, Lost Creek; Mrs. W. H. Higgins, Talent; Mrs. Carl Glasgow, Valley View; Mrs. Fred Offenbacher, Applegate; Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Clarence Davis, Eagle Point; Mrs. W. D. Coburn, McLeod; Mrs. Henry Myers, Lake Creek; Mrs. E. E. Fredericks, Prospect; Mrs. Joe Hibbard, Butte Falls; Miss Claire Hanley, Jacksonville and Mrs. Fred Homes, Belleview.

Some communities, instead of canning the foods in an organized project, are collecting filled jars from various home supplies and adding them to the commissary.

This week Mrs. Mack will supervise canning on the following days in communities named: Monday at Prospect; Tuesday, Central Point; Wednesday, Butte Falls; Thursday, McLeod at the home of Mrs. Gus DiLacorth and Friday at Lake Creek. The work will continue through this month.

Looking toward the proper reception and entertainment of distinguished guests and delegations who may visit Medford and the Rogue river valley in the future, a new committee of the Medford Chamber of Commerce, designated as the hospitality committee, was appointed today by W. S. Bolger, chamber president.

The activities of the new committee will be under the direction of George Hazelman, investment broker, and assisting him will be the committee composed of Carl Grant, A. S. Rosenbaum, L. W. Davidson, C. I. Hayes, Don Geddes, L. A. Corbett and Phil Sharp.

The duties of the new group will be definitely decided upon at the initial meeting, which will be held in the near future, according to Mr. Hazelman.

In order that the city of Medford may be properly represented on the group, Mayor E. M. Wilson has named an ex-officio member of the committee.

Fishing and hunting are "not so good" in southern Oregon these days, according to reports of local sportsmen.

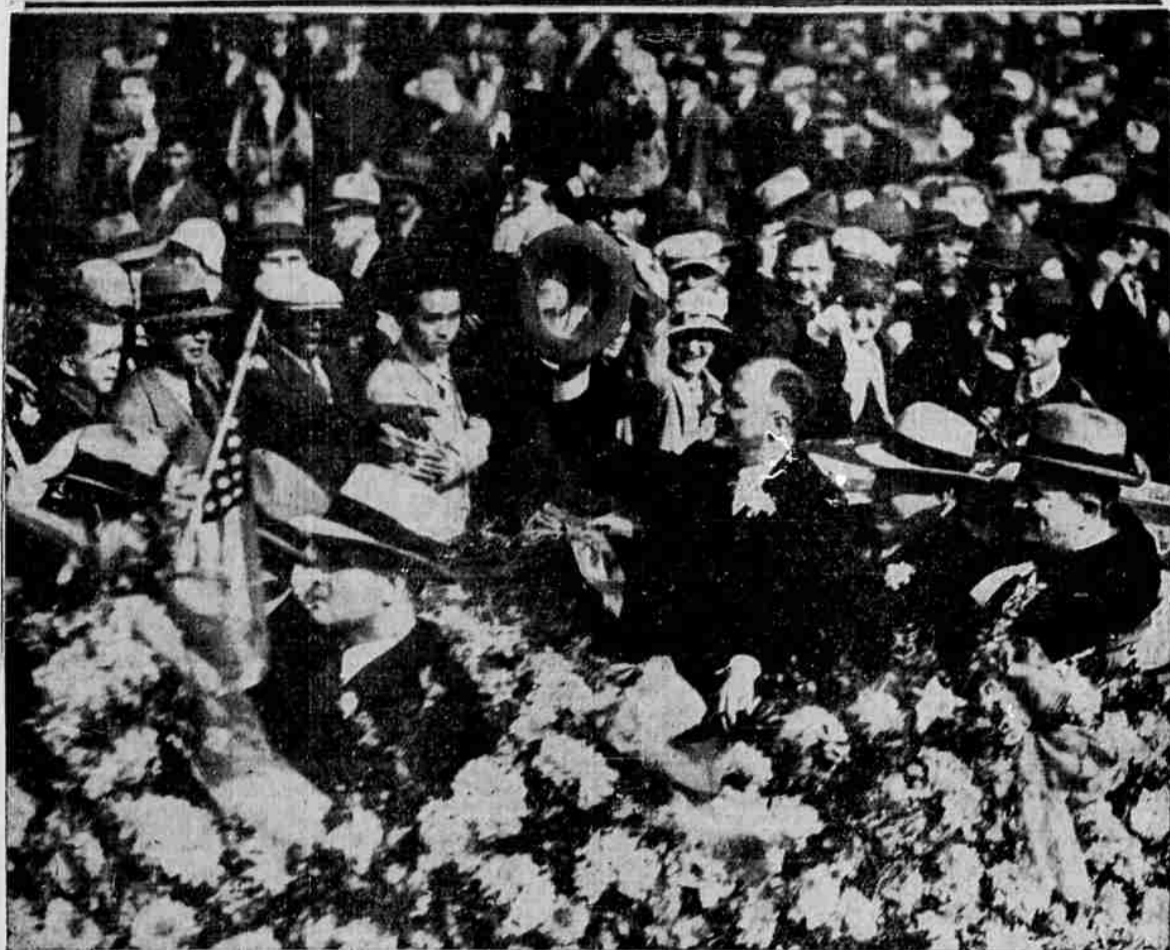

The various well known sections up Elk creek, Butte creek, through the Diamond lake and the Greenspring country, are falling to give up the usual amount of venison.

More mule than black tail deer are being killed, is the report, but not many are being brought in from Lake county by the local nimrod.

Believing that the drought is the cause of all this, hunters are impatiently awaiting and hoping for rain.

Salmon at-bow spawning in great numbers on the riffles of the Rogue and the trout, feeding upon the eggs, are not responding to flies.

When Seattle Welcomed Governor F. D. Roosevelt

More than 100,000 persons welcomed Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, when he reached Seattle, Sept. 20th, for his swing down the Pacific coast on his presidential campaign. An early breakfast and a brief observation platform talk at Everett, Wash., and a round of receptions, conferences and welcomes at Tacoma, Puyallup and Seattle, made a busy day of the governor before he left for Portland, Ore. His principal public appearance was at the civic auditorium in Seattle, where he was welcomed by state Democratic leaders, and delivered a brief speech to more than 20,000 persons. The photo shows Governor Roosevelt (left), Mayor John F. Dore of Seattle (center), and United States Senator C. C. Dill of Washington, parading through a heavy throng after the presidential nominee's arrival. (Associated Press Photo.)

SOUTHERN OREGON PRESBYTERY WILL MEET IN MEDFORD

At Marshfield on Tuesday and Wednesday occurred the regular fall meeting of the Presbytery of Southwest Oregon, with ministers and laymen in attendance from Rogue River, valley points, Coos and Curry counties and Klamath Falls, Merrill and Malin. Next meeting, an adjourned session of this one, will be at Medford on the afternoon and evening of October 26, at the Presbyterian church.

It is expected that Rev. W. J. Howell of Spokane will be present at that time to be received into the Presbytery of Southwest Oregon, as pastor-elect of the Medford church, and that he will be formally installed as pastor at that meeting.

At the Marshfield meeting, Rev. Arthur Baskerville, now serving a Congregational church in Seattle, was dismissed to the Seattle Congregational association.

As called meeting in Medford recently, Rev. A. B. McLeod, pastor at Grants Pass, was dismissed to the Presbytery of Los Angeles, to become pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church of Long Beach, and Rev. Fred F. Schell, formerly pastor at Phoenix, was dismissed to Newton Presbytery, New Jersey, to take charge of a church there, his home to be at Stillwater, N. J.

The Marshfield meeting closed Wednesday evening with a strong address on "Evangelism," by Rev. Alexander Muldrin of Roseburg, the moderator of this year of the Presbytery. Tuesday evening, Dr. W. L. VanVuren of Portland gave an address with fine pictures on "A Trip to the Holy Land," which he visited recently.

A splendid "sea food" dinner, with all the "fixins," was served by the ladies Wednesday evening, which was prepared by the men, the superintendent of the Sunday school acting as chef. Present at this were quite a number from the Marshfield and North Bend churches, besides members of the Presbytery and wives.

In attendance at this meeting were Revs. H. T. Mitchelmore of Ashland, E. Iverson, Medford; S. E. Harris and wife, Rogue River; J. K. Howard, Glendale; Alexander Muldrin, Roseburg; A. T. Smith and wife, Klamath Falls; S. H. Jewell and wife, Merrill; and H. L. Weir of Malin. Medford, Phoenix and Grants Pass churches, now without pastors, had no representatives at this meeting, this being a difficult year for laymen to be away from business to attend.

Interesting reports of the national meeting, the general assembly, held in May at Denver, were made by three of the delegates from southwest Oregon Presbytery: Mr. D. A. Macomb of the Mt. Laki church near Klamath Falls, and Revs. H. T. Mitchelmore and J. W. Angell.

Following the large and very successful young people's summer conference, held in July at Rogue River, the largest of these conferences in Oregon this year, plans were begun for the 1933 conference, and to secure a still larger attendance and better results. About 100 spent the week at the 1932 conference.

In connection with the adjourned meeting to be held in Medford, October 26, there will be a "retreat," or semi-private conference for the ministers of the Presbytery, for discussion, prayer, fellowship and inspiration, looking to the work of the fall and winter. In the work of the coming year, all through the Presbytery, church in the U. S. A., and a number of other denominations, "Evangelism" will be especially emphasized.

A plan for a systematic visitation of all the churches of the Presbytery was also outlined at the Marshfield meeting, which it is hoped will greatly increase the interest and effectiveness of the work of all the churches. Central Point was chosen as the place for the regular spring meeting in April, 1933.

PIONEER MEETING AT JACKSONVILLE DRAWS NOTABLES

B. F. Irvine, editor of the Oregon Journal, accompanied by Mrs. Irvine, State Treasurer Rufus Holman and Mrs. Holman, Dean Shoenfeld, director of the experiment stations of the state college, Bill Hanley, ex-member of the state highway commission, will leave Portland September 26th and drive part of the way stopping at the state fair, and will complete the journey to Jacksonville the morning of the 29th to attend the pioneer meeting, Mr. Irvine being the principal speaker.

Mr. Irvine lived on Forest creek, near Jacksonville, as a boy, and will visit the old homestead on his trip this week. Mrs. Irvine was formerly Miss Avery and often visited her brother, Pete Avery, at Jacksonville. Rufus Holman lived in Jacksonville several years and married Miss Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Watson, who was born in Jacksonville. Mrs. Watson was Miss Ellen Kubli, member of another pioneer family. Mr. Watson was county clerk of Jackson county and was one of the first judges of the supreme court elected in Oregon.

Bill Hanley, now of eastern Oregon, was born on the Hanley donation land claim near Jacksonville, the present home of Miss Alice Hanley.

Mr. Irvine is also a member of the State Board of Higher Education and will visit the experiment station at Jacksonville the morning of the 29th to attend the pioneer meeting, Mr. Irvine being the principal speaker.

Pile Sufferers

Your itching, bleeding, or protruding piles will go and not come back when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel—and not one minute before. Salves or suppositories can't do this—an internal remedy must be used.

HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out the thick impure blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of success in even the most stubborn cases that Jarmin & Woods and druggists everywhere urge every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today. They must end your pile agony or money back.
