

Yankees Win 13 to 6 to Make Clean Sweep of World Series Play

12TH TRIUMPH IN ROW CHALKED UP BY HEAVY HITTING

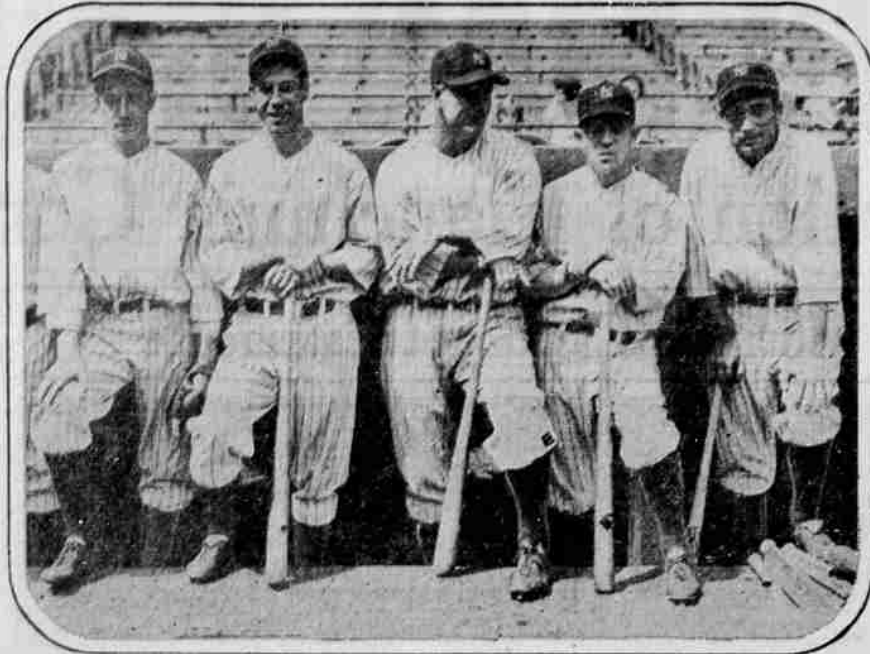

Babe Ruth's Belling Behemoths From Broadway Toy With National League Champs in Final Tilt

By EDWARD J. NEIL

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. — (AP) — The world series of 1932 trailed off today toward its final resting place among baseball's legends, leaving the realm of the national pastime once more under the absolute rule of the American league, and one of the greatest champions in all sports history—the New York Yankees.

Never before in all the glamorous past of the game has any ball club approached the amazing record of the belling behemoths from Broadway, conquerors of the Chicago Cubs in four straight games, possessors of a streak of 12 successive world series triumphs.

Colorful Infield Of Triumphant Yanks

This colorful band of Yankee infielders added dash and glamour to the world series contests with the Chicago Cubs. Left to right, Frank Crosetti and Lyn Lary, who share assignments at short; Lou Gehrig, first; Joe Sewell, third, and Tony Lazzeri, second.

valued the entire series, just as it did the Yankee conquest of 1927 and 1928, and in fact the entire world series period from 1927 through today. In the last six series, American league champions have won 52 games to 7 for the National league representatives, five of the six series, three of them in four straight games.

Perhaps without realizing just what they were doing, the Cubs lined the front of their own dugout before each game to gaze in silent awe as Ruth and Gehrig, with easy indifference, smashed ball after ball into the stands in batting practice just for their benefit. They struggled for their base hits, seemed always to be fighting from behind even when they led by a run or so, and they seemed to expect the sudden onslaughts that always came sooner or later to sweep them under.

Competition Lacking.

Almost as a big good natured St. Bernard, unaware of its own strength, cuffs in at a game little puppy, all but mortally wounding its playmate with even the lightest touches, did the Yankees leap upon the punchy National league champions to shatter them yesterday for the fourth straight time, 13 to 6 in the final match of a series that for lack of real competition has only been equalled in the past by the Yankee conquests of 1927 and 1928.

Yanks Call Shots.

Certainly two more conscious or unconscious gestures of superiority, two more demoralizing feats of showmanship, never have been displayed in a world series conflict than one engineered by Ruth Saturday and another by Gehrig yesterday.

Taking an unmerciful "riding" from the Cub dugout gang that chanted in unison as the Babe saw Charlie Root slip over two strikes in the fifth inning, the big hitter turned and motioned it was only two, and the third, the big one, still was left. He indicated they should wait just a moment. Then he took a toothhold and belted the pitch to the farthest confines of the park in center field, one of the most terrific drives he ever hit.

Yesterday, when Gehrig stood at the plate in the sixth inning with runners waiting on base to be driven home, he stopped the game momentarily in an effort to make Umpire Bill Klem more from a spot near second base where Lou thought he might be in the way. Klem wouldn't budge, whereupon Gehrig smashed a single through that spot and missed the umpire by inches alone.

TIPS on Contract

REDOUBLING BIDS OF ONE.
By Tom O'Neil.

A redouble of a bid of one can be either strength-showing or a desperate cry, depending on the previous bidding.

When the opening bidder is doubled, his partner, if holding a fair hand, often finds it advantageous to redouble, indicating to the original bidder the probability that the opposition is due for a worth while penalty wherever it may jump.

In contrast to that is the S O S redouble where the original bidder is doubled and the partner of the doubler passes hoping to impose a penalty. The redouble then by the original bidder is a command to partner to bid, however weak he may be.

Here is a hand illustrating the strength redouble:

North—
S-9 7 6
H-6 4
D-8 4 3
C-J 10 9 8 7

East (dealer)
S-J 8
H-J 9 8 7
D-K Q 10 5
C-A Q 5

South—
S-K 8 5
H-K Q 10 8 2
D-A 6 2
C-K 2

East opened the bidding with one spade, having a bare minimum bid. South doubled for a bid from north, having the requisite strength and being prepared to welcome a heart response. West passed.

Any bid by him at this stage would show strength. He has no bid unless forced to make one. North passed the double in a strength pass. Counting on high cards in the south hand and being fortified with spades, north was prepared to set east.

East redoubled. It was obvious to him he was in danger. His redouble was a command to west to bid his longest suit, whatever it might be. West bid two diamonds. That happened to be the make which best fitted the hands. At spades east would have been set at least one. The contract in diamonds was easy to fulfill.

GRUDGE BATTLE FOR NEXT CARD

Denny Barker, Reno scrapper who hung the knockout wallop on Herb White's chin in a recent Klamath Falls fight will endeavor to show Medford fans just how he did it when he and White fight out their misunderstandings in the Armory next Saturday night, Oct. 8.

The last meeting between these two gamblers was one of the best fights ever seen in the Falls city, and indications are that the Medford fight will be even more hotly contested.

The rest of the card will feature local boys who have shown progress in former bouts here.

The six-round semi-windup will bring out Medford's coming heavyweight Bob Christman fighting a lightweight of Denny Barker, Jack Larson a big heavyweight who should make Bob go his best to win.

The balance of the card will show three four rounders, the Emerson Roy Harris of Phoenix and Wesley Stewart of Ashland.

Emerson batt' meek Young Wesley in the next four rounders.

A four-round curlew Wesley will round out the card.

East opened the bidding with one spade, having a bare minimum bid. South doubled for a bid from north, having the requisite high-card strength for a double and in addition was prepared for a response in the other major suit, hearts.

West, deduced from his own honor holding, the strength necessary for an original bid and the cards needed for a double of one, that north must have a worthless hand. West redoubled, prepared to set any make which east and south might essay. North very properly passed.

Possibly east might bid and it would be better for south to rescue himself. East passed and south offered two hearts, which was promptly doubled by west. The penalty was far more profitable for east and west than a game would have been.

Had north rescued with clubs west would have doubled that make also and there would have been a large penalty.

The S O S redouble saved the situation in the following hand:

North—
S-Q J 6 3
H-J 10 6
D-A 8
C-Q 5 3 2

West—
S-7
H-K 8 7 2
D-K 10 5 4 2
C-10 6 4

East (dealer)
S-A 9 8 4 2
H-5 3
D-Q J 6 3
S-A 7

South—
S-K 10 8
H-A Q 9 4
D-9 7
C-K J 9 8

ARMISTICE DAY GAME LINED UP FOR TIGER BAND

University high of Eugene will play the Medford high school here Armistice day, November 11, Coach Darwin K. Burgher announced last week. The Eugene team was the only upstate squad with an open date on the holiday.

Efforts of Coach Burgher to secure a game with Marshfield have so far failed. For nearly 10 years the Cooc Bay squad has been on the local schedule, generally early in the season. This year Medford expected to make its annual trip to the coast. The Marshfield squad this season will play only in its own conference.

The Medford team will meet Roseburg here next Saturday, and will play its first Southern Oregon conference game against Grants Pass October 22, Saturday, October 29.

Klamath Falls comes here for the outstanding game of the year in the southern Oregon conference. Klamath Falls has laid high hopes of being a state championship contender, and has as a battle-cry, "On to Portland."

Saturday while Medford was trouncing Yreka, 52 to 0, the Pelicans subdued Ashland, 38 to 0. The Burgher-meisters expect to be at the top of

'ROSIE' AND ELLIOTT FIND HORSE HAZARD

A S. "Rosie" Rosenbaum likes rodeos, but he doesn't like them with his golf. It is his emphatic declaration these days. So the next time Dr. R. B. Elliott puts on a bucking exhibition at the Rogue River Valley Golf course, "Rosie" wants to be counted out.

Very early one morning last week, "Rosie" and Dr. Elliott were having their usual round of golf, when they saw a "Tom Mix" picture where Doc had hopped the ball would land, right on the putting green. A rodeo immediately followed and while the doctor staged a fancy struggle, conquering the pinto, "Rosie" kept his distance, lugging two golf bags in preference to bareback riding.

PORTLAND INVITATION FOR SERIES REFUSED

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 3. — (AP) — Tom Turner, president of the pennant-winning Portland baseball club, said he received a wire today from the North New Jersey and Minneapolis clubs declining his invitation to play Portland here for the "little world" championship of the United States.
