My Beauty Hint

CONSTANCE CUMMINGS Exercise that puts me through a real workout is my idea of a good beauty builder. That is why I like tennis—so well that when I'm not working on a picture I play regularly three or four times a week. Nothing makes one feel more fit than a swift game of tennis. Tennis is excellent for the circulation. The game, followed by a cold shower and perhaps a good boiled dinner (I for one do not diet), makes me feel fine.

POULTRYMEN GET PROFIT POINTERS

A representative group of local poultrymen saw the showing of the moving picture, "On the Trail of the Golden Egg" at Grants Pass high school Saturday, October 8. Through a series of interesting and splendidly photographed scenes on the big poultry experimental plant at the General Mills Research Farm, the audience was shown the extreme care taken to insure accuracy in test work. Enormous laying houses with their trap nests and other thoroughly practical equipment for recording egg production and feed consumption, giant incubators in operation, and a wonderful brooder house with ample room for 15 lots of chicks at one time, flashed across the screen to the interested watchers. The camera gave us a glimpse of the specialists in charge of this great farm, weighing baby chicks on delicate scales that weigh by grams instead of the conventional ounces, and took us through the laboratory, the feed room, the egg room, and many other equally interesting places on this unusual farm. The climax of the show came when the audience was shown how seemingly small increases in efficiency could be responsible for enormous increases in our income from each ton of food consumed. For instance, by decreasing mortality 2 per cent, and adding 2 ounces to the average weight of baby chicks, our income from one ton of chick starter would be increased $36. It was splendid entertainment and instruction and W. S. Carpenter and Smith Hughes, instructor of agriculture at the Grants Pass high school, through whose courtesy the film was shown, is to be commended for his thoughtfulness in arranging for a local showing.

Fifi D'Orsay Star Picture Holly Bill

Opening with technicolor sequence of the great Calgary roundup, "The Girl From Calgary" which features Fifi D'Orsay, slides into an amusing and tenuous comedy. A number of song hits are in the picture, the most useful of which is "Maybe, Perhaps." A Mickey Mouse, Ted Husing Sportland and News reels complete the program. This program will be at the Holly today and tomorrow.

Fairbanks Pleases Craterian Crowds

Douglas Fairbanks demonstrates in "Mr. Robinson Crusoe" which opened yesterday at the Craterian theatre, what really can be done with this type of picture when one enters seriously into the spirit. Fairbanks of course is the main-spring of the picture. In several of the sequences he is better than he ever has been, and this is a very large order. Maria Alba is his leading woman, and William Farnum exerts his villainous touch here and there.

APPELATEGATE FOLK CHANGE MINDS ON NORTON'S RECALL

A number of Applegate district residents, according to reliable reports, will soon take necessary steps to have their names removed from petitions, seeking the recall of Circuit Judge H. D. Norton. The signers claim they signed the recall petitions "when in a sympathetic mood," and that a later inquiry revealed that the "wild charges were hokey." One of the signers, W. N. (Farmer Billy) Carl, who ran for the legislature last spring, told Medford friends last week that he signed the petition "in sympathy," and that he and a number of his neighbors planned to have their names removed. Carl said that this step was first broached, following a visit of Prof. C. Englehardt to the Applegate district ten days ago, with a recall petition. Prof. Englehardt was listed in the spring primary as one of the victims of "injustice" in Jackson county. Last Friday he paid a fine imposed for conviction of assault upon a neighbor. The recall movement was launched two months ago, and met with high disfavor in all sections of the county. Circulators of the petitions are reported as still busy. The percentage of the recall is still a mystery. Its chief sponsors have been L. A. Banks and Earl H. Fehl, Republican candidate for county judge. In his first campaign speeches Fehl hurled charges against Judge Norton and urged all to sign. Of late, his political remarks have been devoted to "my politics," and cutting the taxes. Fehl, in a speech here, said, "It makes no difference who started the recall—it's started." Banks attributed the recall plot to "spontaneous combustion."

TRANSIENT TRIO SENT TO PRISON

Richard Morton, Richard Giles and Ernest Wright, a trio of transients arrested by state police 10 days ago, last week entered pleas of guilty to robbery and all received prison terms in the Wasco county circuit court at The Dalles. Giles, alleged leader of the gang, was given a five-year sentence, Wright a three and one-half year sentence, and Morton, the head of a family of four, was given a three-year sentence. Morton's wife and children are in this county in destitute circumstances. They were living in a tent near Ashland. The county court has asked Wasco county to provide for the family, during the imprisonment of the father, but as yet has reached no decision. The Mortons started on a "tour" from Caldwell, Idaho, last spring.

L. E. NEATHAMER FOURTH SUICIDE WITHIN 19 DAYS

(Continued from Page One) ed to his eldest son, and left with the remark: "I'm all through." No significance was attached to the words, as Neathamer appeared in a better frame of mind than for several days. A short time after his departure, a shot was heard, and Neathamer was found mortally wounded lying in a fence corner with a .22 calibre pistol by his side. Asked for a reason by neighbors, Neathamer, according to the state police replied: "I just had to do it. I couldn't stand it any longer." Rushed to Hospital The stricken man was rushed to a Grants Pass hospital, where an emergency operation was performed by Dr. Mosler. Death came about eight hours after the shot was fired. Neathamer was a well known resident of the Evans valley district, where he has resided most of his life. He is survived by his wife, Annie R. Neathamer, two sons, Wilson and Vernon, a daughter, Florence, 10, his mother, a brother, John, and is larger number of friends and relatives. Other residents of Jackson county who within the past 19 days have found life's burdens too hard to bear were Julius Von der Hellen, who shot himself at Talent, Sept. 21; Mary Agnes Steiger, who inhaled lethal fumes in Medford, Sept. 22, and Ray Toft, who shot himself with wire, in Jacksonville, Oct. 6.
