MUCH 'BURGLED' GROCERY STORE ENTERED AGAIN

State police Saturday and Sunday roused up alleged grocery and vegetable thieves, operating in this county.

Dan McKay, 30, a former resident of Central Point, now a resident of Weed, Calif., was arrested in Ashland by city police Sunday morning, and held charged with the theft of 50 sacks of flour from the E. C. Faber grocery store. McKay is alleged to have backed a truck up to the back door and loaded the flour on the vehicle. A passing motorist wondering why a California truck should be there at such an early hour, phoned Faber, who phoned the watchman. The watchman was not awakened by the theft. McKay is said to cut his hand gaining entry, and many of the flour sacks were bloodstained.

Faber's store is the most robbed place in Jackson county, if not the state. It has been burglarized at least twice a year for the last 20 years. It was pilfered this spring of tobacco and groceries.

Dan Poppa, 55, and Leonard Earl, 32, of Butte Falls, were arrested Saturday night, through the district attorney's office and the state police, for the alleged theft of 400 pounds of squash belonging to A. C. Whetstone of the Kirland Farm section, near Central Point. The state police claim the squash were found in Earl's woodshed.

State and county authorities today warned turkey raisers against the depredations of turkey thieves, who already have started operations in Josephine and Douglas counties.

A wave of farm produce stealing on a commercial basis has broken out recently in southern Oregon counties. The authorities state it is apparently organized, and not the work of "transients," as generally charged.

HUNTERS RETURN WITH GOOD BAGS OVER WEEK-END

A number of sportsmen spent yesterday at various hunting grounds throughout southern Oregon, with the majority reporting "good luck." Dr. E. W. Winkle and Ralph E. Koozer brought in good bags of pheasants and ducks, according to reports, and Harry Hansen was successful in bringing home some pheasants.

A party composed of M. M. Herman, Chester Hubbard, James Moore and Steve Nye spent the day hunting above Keno, and brought back a number of ducks.

Wallace Williams of Lamport's reported today he was able to cut down on the meat bill, by returning home with some pheasants and quail. Wilton White and Paul Culbertson were successful in bagging a number of pheasant and quail at the Culbertson farm near here yesterday.

Earl Tully and Charles N. Black of Medford, and Nion R. Tucker and Joseph Chevigny of Hillsboro, Calif., each got the limit of pheasants Saturday, they reported.

Reporter's Job Good Training, Broadway Torch Singer Finds

Working as a reporter on a Philadelphia newspaper, Jean Sargent learned to act quickly in an emergency. And that's one reason why she won her way to stardom as a singer on Broadway.

NEW YORK (AP)—A newspaper editor who trained her to act quickly and calmly in emergencies really is responsible for Jean Sargent's name being in lights on Broadway.

It was while this brunei "torch" singer was a reporter on a Philadelphia newspaper that she appeared one evening in an amateur entertainment. A New York show manager was in the audience and offered her a letter of introduction to a theatrical agent.

Like a newspaper man rushing for a "deadline," she hurried to Broadway the next morning and immediately was escorted to a theater where Irving Berlin was giving an audition for prima donnas.

Berlin listened to several "name" singers and then started to leave the theater in disgust. But Miss Sargent stopped in his path and persuaded him to listen to her first.

"Just five minutes," said Berlin. Although frightened, Miss Sargent's newspaper training came to her aid enough for her to begin, seemingly calm, a "blues" number.

Half way through the song she saw Berlin jump from his seat and rush upstairs. He wasn't running out on her, as she thought; he was running to get a contract for her to sign.

After her debut in "Face the Music," Miss Sargent won a featured role in "Flying Colors."

Comedy and Mystery in "Crooked Circle"

If roaring laughter is indicative of anything, then the crowds at the Holly theater yesterday, who came to see "The Crooked Circle," enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The picture is filled with humor, comedy and mystery and centers itself on an old mansion supposed to be haunted. The place seems to have all varieties of ghosts, ranging from a clock that strikes 13 and a skeleton that plays the violin. Zaou Pitts, as the housemaid, and Jimmy Gleason as the hardboiled but dumb cop, gather most of the harvest of laughs. Ben Lyon and Irene Purcell come in for their share of the fun.

There is no murder, although Jimmy Gleason would have you think so. This picture will be at the Holly today and tomorrow. Short subjects include some interesting news events, a Silly Symphony cartoon and a Ted Husing aparlant.

First Snow Falls Sunday At Crater

First snow of the season fell yesterday at Crater lake to a depth of from five to six inches, according to a telephone message from Ernest Rostel at the park to Lee C. Garlock of the Three-A bureau. Rostel's acting meteorologist for the park.

Ranger Rostel reported to Mr. Garlock that the weather is quite clear at the lake today, and the heavy snow in the trees adds much to the beauty of the park. There is approximately eight inches of snow on the roads, he stated.

No More Piles

How to End Painful Piles Without Salves or Cutting.

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription — HEM-ROID to prove how easy it is to end itching, bleeding or protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and drives out the thick impure blood in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and suppositories fail. Jarmin & Woods and druggists everywhere sell HEM-ROID Tablets with guarantee of money back if they do not end all Pile misery.
