Roosevelt "Pulls a Boner"

WE so seldom agree with the anti-Hoover press, that it is a pleasure to endorse the declaration, "that Franklin Roosevelt pulled a boner, when he straddled the issue on the cash payment of the Soldiers' Bonus."

According to press dispatches, Roosevelt will advocate a "compromise" soldier bonus plan, that will "provide aid for unemployed and needy veterans, but will take a firm stand against payment of a cash bonus at the present time."

What does this mean? It means Roosevelt stands precisely where President Hoover stands, firmly opposed to payment of a cash bonus at the present time.

But Governor Roosevelt DOESN'T SAY SO!

He qualifies this statement, by advocating a "compromise soldiers' bonus, that will provide aid for unemployed and needy veterans," and leaves the impression he occupies some middle ground on this issue, between President Hoover who uncompromisingly opposes the cash bonus, and the war veterans who are uncompromisingly favor it.

BUT THERE IS NO MIDDLE GROUND. The issue is not whether a soldiers' bonus should be paid. The soldiers' bonus HAS BEEN GRANTED. The only question is whether it should be PAID AT ONCE IN CASH, (flat money), or payment should be deferred until such time, as the government is in a better position to assume such a tremendous financial obligation.

That's all. Governor Roosevelt knows it. Every responsible statesman knows it. The veterans have not asked for an INCREASED bonus, all they have asked for is that the present bonus granted be paid now, and in cash.

SO, we repeat, when Governor Roosevelt, takes his stand firmly against any cash payment at this time, he takes a stand, shoulder to shoulder with the President of the United States, and absolutely opposed to the demand of the war veterans.

But we also repeat he doesn't say so. Why? There are two answers to that. One is politics; the other is the constitutional inability of the Democratic candidate, to take an unequivocal, out-and-out stand, on ANYTHING.

Such action appears to be contrary to his political code; and opposed to his essential nature.

He can't seem to resist the temptation to carry water on both shoulders, to play both ends against the middle. He wants to eat his cake and have it. He wants the votes of those who oppose the cash bonus; and he doesn't want to lose the votes of those who favor it.

So he straddles. This action, even the anti-Hoover press, brands as pulling a boner. And that, in our opinion, is precisely what it is.

WHY? Not only because the people are sick and tired of straddlers, but because, in taking a compromise stand, in trying to please both sides, and alienating neither, he PLEASES NEITHER, AND TO A CERTAIN EXTENT ALIENATES BOTH.

For fortunately the people as a whole don't analyze political declarations very carefully. We admit that in firmly opposing the cash payment, Mr. Roosevelt takes the same position, President Hoover has taken.

But the rank and file won't so interpret it. They will say, "Roosevelt isn't so strongly opposed to the bonus as President Hoover, and he isn't as strongly in favor of it, as his long silence on the question implied."

What will be the result? The radical anti-bonus vote will stick to Hoover. The radical pro-bonus vote, will lose their enthusiasm for Roosevelt. And those Republicans among the latter, who have opposed President Hoover on the bonus issue ALONE, knowing now that Roosevelt is as much opposed to the cash bonus as Hoover is,—will gradually drift back into the Republican fold.

In other words, in taking this compromise stand on a vital issue, Governor Roosevelt, instead of making votes, lost them. In trying to please both sides, he ended up by pleasing neither. He is in the position of that dog in the fable, who trying to grasp the reflection of the bone in the water, lost both the bone in his mouth and the reflection.

INDIAN YOUTH AND KLAMATH RUM RING CHIEFS TO PRISON

Three federal prisoners, in charge of William Graham of Portland, chief deputy United States marshal, and Cal C. Wells, U. S. deputy marshal, were taken to Portland today in a special car aboard the Shasta. Five will be taken on to McNell's island for imprisonment, the other four having been bound over to the federal grand jury.

Southern Oregon term of federal court closed yesterday when the Federal grand jury, Inc. was awarded the verdict in the $10,000 damage suit against the company, filed by Lee Burns of Salem, as a result of an automobile accident near Gold Hill several months ago.

Racine Weiser, 21-year-old Indian youth, sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his father, Sylvester Weiser, was among those being taken to prison. Others were Cliff Johnson and partner, Raymond Dawson, each sentenced to a year and a day at McNell's island on a liquor charge.

The deputies also took Pat Hoque, Klamath Falls tax line operator, who was convicted on a liquor conspiracy charge, and sentenced to two and a half years in prison and fined $2000. His "right hand man," Jerome Swartz, went north for 18 months.

On liquor charges, Jim Flanery, John H. Groves and Rinehart Nichols of Klamath Falls were bound over to the federal grand jury in Portland, when they appeared before United States Commissioner Bert Bond Thomas in Klamath Falls. Bond for each was fixed at $2500.

Emil Hears, charged with violating the Dyer act, was bound over to the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner H. W. Madison of Grants Pass, who fixed his bail at $1000.

POMONA GRANGE MEET AT CENTRAL POINT ON SATURDAY, 10 A. M.

(Mrs. Gertrude Haak.)

Jackson County Pomona Grange will meet in all-day regular session, Saturday, October 22, at 10 a. m., at Central Point Grange hall.

This is an important meeting and being centrally located, no doubt there will be a record crowd. Aside from the regular bi-annual election of officers, to be held in the morning, there will be other important business to come before the Grange.

All members of the Pomona are reminded that at the last regular meeting it was ruled that no members would be eligible to vote at the October meeting unless his dues were paid up into the year 1932. This is in accord with the by-laws.

It should be remembered that the secretary cannot take dues during the session, so be prepared to pay your dues before session opens during recesses.

Any members may, if they desire, mail the dues to the secretary in advance of the meeting, to reach the secretary no later than Thursday, October 20. Or they may be paid to the subordinate master, who should see that they reach the secretary before the opening of the Pomona session.

Each subordinate master is in possession of a list of Pomona members of his Grange, and their standing in the Pomona, so Pomona members may find out from their subordinate master their Pomona standing. The secretary's address is Mrs. Gertrude Haak, Eagle Point.

Success of Pomona depends to a large extent upon the officers in charge and the committees appointed. Due thought should be given the fitness of a member before nominating. Officers should be chosen from members regular in attendance, particularly fitted for the position in view

THE GALL BLADDER AS A SEPTIC DEPOSIT

Everyone has heard of "typhoid carriers," persons who, perhaps for many years after an attack of typhoid fever, still harbor the bacilli of the disease and eliminate them by way of intestines or kidney, and hence are constant menace to those about them, particularly if they engage in the handling or service of food.

In most cases such germ carriers are found to have a depot in the gall bladder or the bile passages where the germs grow. In 48 cases the typhoid carrier state was cured by removal of the gall bladder. As we have remarked before, even a healthy gall bladder is of no great use, and an infected, inflamed, or damaged one is a great handicap.

In health the bile itself is usually sterile (germ free) and in fact it inhibits or retards the growth or multiplication of germs. Infection of the gall bladder, which is the chief factor in the causation of gall bladder inflammation (cholecystitis) and gallstones (cholelithiasis), does not occur through the medium of the bile, but rather through the blood stream. The tissues of the wall of the gall bladder may be found infected with germs when the mucous membrane lining and the bile are still germ free.

Whence come the germs responsible for so much chronic gall bladder trouble and gallstone disease? Typhoid fever accounts for only a few cases. Influenza and pneumonia probably account for more cases.

The type of germ found in most cases—a Streptococcus—is the type that predominates in most cases of infected, dead, or ruptured teeth, chronic tonsillitis and in gastric and colonic ulcer. A still more obvious source of infection but one too commonly concealed or neglected, partly because the patient is affected with false modesty and partly because the physician is incompetent, is chronic hemorrhoids (piles) or fissure or fistula.

But, alas, it is not enough that the gall bladder should become infected from such sources. If the slow, insidious trouble is allowed to develop unchecked, while the patient fusses with remedies or diets for "acid" or "indigestion," the versatile and adaptive Streptococcus will have established a thriving colony in the gall bladder, and if all goes well in the bacterial world intrepid bands of lusty young Streptococci will be pushing out to explore the blood stream for new worlds to conquer. Then the gall bladder becomes in turn a septic depot. In and that they have belonged to the Bunch, and to prevent a want of faith in their ability and faithfulness to Grange principles. Only by electing your most able and faithful members to office can we hope to have the years 1933 and 1934 be of any great benefit to the farmers of the county.

There will be many problems presented to the Pomona Grange for solving during the next year or two. Cooperative marketing and a greater interest in and understanding of political economies must come in for a major share of attention.

May we again state that the Grange is not a political organization, nor can we affiliate with any political organization. The discussion of partisan or sectarian questions is prohibited, nor can we discuss the merits of candidates in our meetings, but it is the duty of the Grange to do all in its power to put down bribery, corruption and trickery.

The Grange believes in a government of the people, by the people and for the people. We believe it is the duty of every member to see that none but competent, faithful and honest men, who will unflinchingly stand by our interests, are nominated for all positions of trust.

We believe that the people we elect to have charge of our governmental affairs are our representatives, the servants of the people as a whole, and not the servants of a few and the dictators and masters of the many. We believe that all governmental work should be carried out as economically and conscientiously as a private business, that the government should be the least possible burden to the people. A government that will promote prosperous masses in place of prosperous classes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Round is Best

Is one cut of beef more nutritious or digestible than another? Please let us have the facts about this. I often wonder whether the loin, tenderloin or porterhouse is best to buy for my family. Our income is just enough to keep us going and that's all. (Mrs. M. B.)

Answer:—There is little difference in the lean meat; of course the greater amount of fat in loin cuts gives more calories to the pound, if the fat is eaten. The round steak is probably the most economical and satisfying meat for my family. A thin round steak will provide a better than an equal porterhouse any day, in my opinion. Ground round steak is excellent, too, if you are obstinate about seeing it ground while you wait. Beware of the ready ground stuff—it offers an invitation for botulism. Beware of any chops or steaks that are not freshly cut in your presence.

Is constant sick headache due to change of life? Have Ben Told for five years that is the cause, but I get no relief. (Mrs. V. M.)

Ans.—Whoever tells you that is untrue of your confidence. Cessation of menstruation, a natural occurrence and never accounts for ill health.

Chicken Pox

Is chicken pox contagious after the breaking out has begun to clear and how long after exposure does one take it? (Mrs. S. A. O.)

Ans.—Incubation (time elapsing from moment of infection to beginning of illness) is from two to three weeks. With the clearing of the eruption the infection is less likely to spread, but children must be kept out of school until the pustules have completely disappeared. (Copyright, John F. Dille Co.)

Relief From Neuralgia In Few Minutes

Quick Dissolving Property of BAYER ASPIRIN Starts Relief 3 or 4 Minutes After Taking

Think of a headache going in three or four minutes. The pains of neuralgia, neuritis or rheumatism being eased, often, in that little space of time!

Due to important, scientific developments in the famous Bayer Aspirin laboratories, millions of people are enjoying this almost unbelievable quick relief from pain.

That is because Bayer Aspirin dissolves almost instantly in the stomach. And thus almost INSTANTLY starts to ease pain. The average headache, for instance, eases in as little as four or five minutes. Think of what a time saver this is to busy people.

Remember it is Genuine BAYER Aspirin which provides this unique property. So see that you get the real article when you buy. See that these three words "Genuine Bayer Aspirin" are on any box or bottle of aspirin that you buy. And that the name "Bayer" is stamped in the form of a cross on any tablet that you take.

Remember that when you buy. And remember, too, that Genuine Bayer Aspirin cannot harm the heart. Take care you get the genuine.

Charges of assault and battery were filed and the case taken before Judge Taylor this morning. The conviction carries a fine of between $10 and $20. Deputy District Attorney G. W. Nelson stated.

Royalty Excited Over Wedding of Swedish Prince

COBURG, Germany, Oct. 19.—(AP)—European royalty gathered today for the civil ceremony which will join the old ducal house of Coburg with the reigning house of Sweden through the marriage of Princess Sibylla of Saxe-Coburg and Prince Gustaf Adolf Oscar, eldest son of the Swedish crown prince.

The town was wreathed and garlanded in merry style. In the morning hours the colorfully dressed "landsmen" from the surrounding countryside began arriving in large numbers.

Impromptu celebrations and huge demonstrations have been planned for the entire wedding day and to-night thousands of Coburg people will tramp through the streets to the tune of martial music in honor of their pretty princess, who comes by the wedding, in direct line for the throne of Sweden.

The marriage unites two relatives of Queen Victoria of England, and adds another connection with a European ruling house to the already long list of Coburg alliances.

It is the first royal wedding Germany has seen since it became a republic after the war. Royalty and nobility of Scandinavia, Great Britain, Bulgaria and the former Russia of the czars came for the festivities.

FLAX OUTPUT FOR PRISON INCREASED BUT PRICES CUT

SALEM, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The total acreage of Willamette valley flax used by the state penitentiary processing plant during the coming year will be double that handled by the state this year, but the price to growers will be reduced 87 and 88 below the 1932 quotations. If the work that is being done, and an almost fanatical determination to advance the interests of the nine counties of the Wonderland.

A lot of good is going to come of the hard work that is being done by this association.

This year the state paid $28 a ton for No. 1 pulled flax and $25 for No. 2 flax, and the recommendations for next year call for a price of $20 a ton for No. 1 and $18 for No. 2, with the further suggestion that no flax not coming within these two specifications be accepted.

This, says the report of the secretary, copies of which have been supplied each of the members of the board for study, "will enable the industry to absorb the lower grades of flax, and will permit him to dispose of the seed without involving the state in any way.

The secretary's report, based upon an audit of the state tax industry recently completed by the secretary of state's office, notes an audited deficit in the operation of the flax plant of $10,000 for the period from June 1, 1932, to May 31, 1932, "occasioned principally by a decline in inventory values and market prices for flax products throughout the world."

(American Mercury)

And there was the time when an eminent ecclesiastic of Raleigh called at Bob's headquarters to make a $50 touch in behalf of God. Bob pointed sadly to a stack of letters for which he had been unable to buy stamps, waved his head dejectedly toward an ugly spot on the wall where the local utility octopus had removed it in default of monthly payment, and delivered an abridged but pious campaign address. At its conclusion the pastor, touched to the quick, fished $2.50 out of his pocket and donated $2 of it to the Reynolds-for-Senate Victory Chast.
