65 APPLICATIONS ABSENTEE VOTERS IN CLERK'S HANDS

Interest in the coming election is growing more pronounced each day in Jackson county. County Clerk Della Stevens Meyer announced today with receipt of 65 applications for voting privileges from Jackson county people called to other regions. This is the largest number of applications from out of the county ever received. Mrs. Meyer also stated. The applications have been received from all sections of the United States, including two from New York and two from Washington, D. C.

Previous to this year the applications from persons, called from the county, totaled around 12.

"The people are all clamoring to vote this year," Mrs. Meyer declared this morning. "Two applications were received from persons in local hospitals, who will be unable to go to the polls, and registrations in one district, Northeast Medford, total 692 for the coming election. Several other districts boast registrations of more than 600. These totals are far larger than should be allowed, Mrs. Meyer stated, but were not reached until too late for the creation of other voting precincts. Changes must be made by the county court at a July meeting preceding the primaries. The heavy registration did not start until long after that date.

To overcome some of the congestion to result in such large precincts, the tally sheets and statements will be written up in the county clerk's office in order to hasten the count as much as possible.

The first sample ballots for the November election were available today at the county clerk's office, and many more will be out tomorrow, when they will be sent into the county precincts.

Mrs. Meyer is sending postal cards to all election boards, announcing a meeting for Tuesday, November 1, at the county courthouse auditorium, at 10 a. m. Duties of the election boards will be discussed at this meeting and unusual situations, which may arise.

INDIANAPOLIS TO HEAR PRESIDENT ON FRIDAY NIGHT

structive measure of public economy." He supported this action before the American Public Health association last night, in a brief address to the opening meeting of a four-day session held in Indianapolis presided over by Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming of the public health service.

Mr. Hoover said that after his experience in the 1927 Mississippi flood area, he had called conferences out of which evolved the idea of the most effective means of strengthening the public health service in harmony with the spirit of our American institutions.

"By this I mean the idea of the county health unit," the president continued. "That is, that every county in the United States should set up for itself at its minimum health organization, a unit consisting of a doctor, a sanitary engineer and a trained nurse. These units were established in 100 counties in the flood area."

"By every means within my reach I have ever promoted the idea of establishing these units in every one of our 5000 counties in the United States. . . . Although I am generally opposed to federal subsidies to the states, yet I have regarded con- sideration as one interstate question and have recommended federal contributions to such a universal service."

"Still beyond that, there is the gain of definite community action looking to protection of the home. And even beyond that in importance there is the well being of the future generations of our children. . . . which will contribute to the production of a healthier and more virile race and to the preservation not only of the treasures of childhood as a whole, but also to the preservation of those precious exceptional children whose birth cannot be predicted of any class or moment, and from whom comes the leadership of our democracy, to which they rise through the free channels of opportunity in our country."

JACKSON PUPILS GET HOT LUNCHES

The Jackson School Parent-Teacher association is completing plans to serve hot lunches to the children of the school this winter. The work is under the direction of Mrs. Chas. H. Thompson and Mrs. F. P. Burke of the Parent-Teacher association, which is cooperating with the school board in the plan.

A charge of two cents a dish, or bowl, will be collected from children, who are able to pay. From those who aren't, in order to eliminate any tendency toward a dole system, supplies or work will be accepted. The committee, in line with other relief work of the county, is enabling to make the plan purely a give and take proposition and arrangements will be made to provide pupils without money with some type of work to do in exchange for the food.

The school board with the cooperation of the Parent-Teacher association has fitted up the kitchen and installed the range, loaned by Mrs. Burke for use there.

Similar plans are being developed to care for the lunch problem in the Washington and Lincoln schools.
