

Local and Personal

In City Today—Charles Stanley, secretary and general manager of the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland association...

To Homecoming—Miss Nina Blakeley is spending the week-end at Mt. Angel, where she attended the homecoming festivities at the academy there...

Move to Prospect—Mr. and Mrs. John B. Sargent of Crater Lake were visitors in Medford yesterday afternoon and announced that they were moving to Prospect from the lake...

Complete Furlough—Howard and Bolton Meadows of March field, Riverside, Calif. are leaving today for the south, having spent the past month here on furlough...

Health Unit Meet—Announcement was made in Jacksonville yesterday that the health unit will conduct a meeting Thursday afternoon, November 3, at the home of Mrs. John R. Knight...

At Paramount—According to a letter received yesterday by Mrs. Edith Slough of 109 South Grape street, her son Andrew, was to sing at the Paramount theater in Portland last evening...

From Eagle Point—Among out-of-town people in Medford yesterday attending to business matters were Andrew Jeldness who operates a copper mine near the Blue Lodge mine, and Mrs. Nathan B. Newcomb and Royal Brown of Eagle Point...

Announce Subject—At the Westminster forum in the Presbyterian church this evening at 8:30 o'clock, the first of a series of discussions on "Effective Secrets of Living" will be given...

Start "ew Schedule—Drug stores in the city are today starting on a new schedule whereby they will alternate staying open during the evenings. The new arrangement as announced by the local group will have two drug stores open each evening...

Return from Hunt—Eight Jacksonville men returned to their homes Wednesday from a ten-day hunting trip near Burns, returning with eight deer. Accompanying them were two men from Klamath Falls...

To Eugene—James Edmiston left Friday evening for Eugene, by motor stage.

Attend Conference—Mrs. Charles Angle and Miss Grace Lydard of Table Rock were in Medford Saturday to attend the county federation of women's club's meeting.

Week-End in Medford—Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Toomes of Portland arrived in Medford Friday evening to spend the week-end with Mr. Toome's mother and sister, Mrs. Ida Sweeney and Mrs. Mabel Mack of Ill Genesee.

Visit Mrs. Oatman—Mrs. Elizabeth Patterson, accompanied by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Patterson, of Pinehurst, were guests at the home of Mrs. Nida Oatman Saturday.

Rosenberg Returns—David Rosenberg returned to Medford Saturday morning by train from San Francisco, where he has been spending the past week attending to business matters for the Medford Irrigation district.

From State Points—Wade Goodman of Walla Walls was listed among the Washington folk at hotels here, as were J. G. Bennett of Tacoma, Mr. and Mrs. John Jessup of Bremerton, Mrs. W. G. Hooker and son of Spokane, and G. W. Harrowen of Seattle.

News of Death—Wood was received in Medford of the death Thursday at Bartonville, Ill., of Elmer J. Slough, father of Andrew and Carl Slough of this city. Funeral services will be conducted at Springdale cemetery.

Guests at Hotel—Those from distant points, who stopped overnight in Medford, included Kent Myrland of Honolulu, T. H. and J. M. Baird and Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Niehoff of Chicago.

Fire Fire—At 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the city fire department answered a call at 801 Dakota street to extinguish a fire at the L. H. Tucker residence. No damage resulted from the fire, according to the department.

From Portland—Hotel guests, who listed their residences as Portland were L. R. Spalding, O. N. Borrevick, P. B. Dimm, E. O. Second, Mr. and J. P. Trinity, C. W. Walls, W. J. Hewins, C. H. Johnson, C. C. Harris, W. J. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Healy, and Curtis Gardner.

Announce Lectures—Lectures on business psychology, mental science and philosophy are being given each Monday evening in the club rooms in the basement of the public library, and those interested are invited to attend. No charge is being made for the lectures, which open promptly at 7:45 o'clock.

Oregonians—Registering from points in the state exclusive of Portland were the following hotel guests in Medford over the week-end: E. J. Putnam of Drew, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Branch of Bly, Lee Smith of Klamath Falls, Miss Jessie Sanborn of Roseburg, E. G. Bondus of Salem, and Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Page of Astoria.

Open Meeting—Woodmen of the World hold an open meeting Tuesday evening, Nov. 1. All candidates are invited to be present and each will be allowed three minutes to state his platform. There will be a short program followed by dancing. The public is cordially invited to attend. No admission charges will be made.

Atchley to speak—E. F. Atchley of Portland, reform worker, arrived in Medford yesterday morning, and announced that he would speak at the church of the Brethren in Ashland this morning on the subject of "Sin and its Effects on the Human Race." He will speak on the same subject this evening at the Free Methodist church in Medford, at 7:30 o'clock.

California—At the city hotels, C. M. Kimmel, Dan Driscoll, Charles W. Adams, W. G. Burt, R. W. Gould, A. Reinhart, R. G. Zelsler, W. M. McMiller and J. H. Miller of San Francisco were listed. Others from the southern state were H. E. Huret and Mrs. Oillian Fletcher of Oakland, E. Butts of McCloud and R. Mayford of Chico.

Visit the Frames—Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Gaines of Seattle were house guests during the past week of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Frame of Phoenix. Mr. Gaines is a northwest district manager of the General Tire company. The couple expressed particular delight in the Rogue river valley, and were pleased with the venison dinner served by Mrs. Frame. The Gaines' plan to return to Medford in the future for a visit, they stated before returning north.

Barthelmess at Fox Craterian

Richard Barthelmess and Bette Davis as they appear in "The Cabin in the Cotton" which opens its engagement at the Craterian theatre today.

From Ashland—Mrs. C. B. Lamkin, Mrs. L. A. Roberts, Miss Grace Chamberlain, Mrs. L. Palmer, and Mrs. Gordon McCracken, all of Ashland, attended the county convention of federated clubs in Medford Saturday.

Newcomb on Tour—John Newcomb is making an extended trip through the middlewest, having driven to Hunkley, Mont., for a party, from which city he continued to Baselle, Neb., to visit an uncle and cousin for six weeks. He is returning to Medford via Topeka and Wichita, Kan., and Santa Fe, at Los Angeles, where he will visit his three brothers Nathan, Donald and Russell, who reside there. He reported conditions about the same as in the west, and said he was anxious to get back to Oregon.

Wadsworth Here—W. E. Wadsworth of Harrisburg, who is affiliated with an insurance company doing business in the northwest, was in Medford the past week calling on clients and looking up many of his friends. Mr. Wadsworth's territory embraces the state of Oregon, and he makes frequent trips to Medford. While here last week Mr. Wadsworth stated that he has been coming to Medford so many years that he is making arrangements to move his family here to make his home, and hopes to be located here not later than the first of the year.

Barquist—Fred H. Barquist, aged about 42 years, passed away at a homestead in the Trail Creek district, Friday night at 10:50, after a lingering illness. Mr. Barquist lived most of his life in California, but had recently come to Oregon for his health. He was brought two miles out of the mountains by pack horse.

Funeral services will be announced by the Per Funeral home later.

Barquist—Funeral services for the late Henry Leeson Andrews, who passed away October 28, will be conducted from the Per Funeral home this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Colan—Julia L. Colan, a resident of Rogue river valley for the past 10 years, eight of which were spent in Ashland and the balance in Medford and Grants Pass, passed away in the latter city Friday at the age of 75.

Merrily We Go To Hell—A picture will be presented at the Roxy theatre today, under the title, "Merrily We Go To Hell." The picture is a comedy and musical.

Funeral services will be held at the Per Funeral home Monday at 2:00.

CANDIDATES GET BREAK; WILL BE CRATERS GUESTS

A non-partisan political rally, to which all candidates for county and district offices have been invited, is scheduled to be held at the Hotel Medford tomorrow evening, at 8:45, under the auspices of the Medford Craters, was the announcement made last night by R. R. Reter, chairman of the committee in charge of the meeting. It is expected that practically all candidates will meet with the 75 members of the Craters and their guests who will be at the dinner.

A program of entertainment already prepared by the committee will be supplemented by short addresses by the various candidates, during which they will be asked to give their platform and aims. A departure in the usual procedure is expected, since the entire program which has to do with the remarks of the candidate, will be broadcast over the air. Arrangements have been made for a full hour of radio time, beginning at 8:45, when the remarks of the candidates will be given.

The program for tomorrow night's meeting has been arranged in this manner in order to give the members of the Craters, as well as the general public, a more comprehensive idea of the platforms of the various candidates, and it is expected that practically all will avail themselves of the opportunity for this public appearance.

The meeting will adjourn in time for the office-seekers to attend the other political rallies scheduled in the county, and for those who desire to attend the Elks dance, which will be held the same night.

Janet Gaynor Star Picture at Rialto

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell That alone is enough for most people to know that it will be a good show. But when the two most popular screen sweethearts have a story of such magnitude as "The First Year," at the Rialto theatre for today and Monday, then it is doubly certain that it is the great entertainment.

"The First Year," as the title implies, is the story of a young married couple's trials and tribulations during their first year of marriage. It is delightfully different romance than these two stars have done heretofore. There is comedy, more than ever before, and will cause many hearty laughs. All in all, it is clean, sweet entertainment for the entire family, filled with delicious comedy and wistful romance.

POPULAR PAIR AT ROXY IN CLEO LUCAS NOVEL

"I, Jerry, Take Thee, Joan," starting first-novel of Cleo Lucas, short story author and Hollywood syndicate writer, has been filmed by Paramount as a co-starring vehicle for Sylvia Sydney and Fredrick March. The picture will be presented at the Roxy theatre today, under the title, "Merrily We Go To Hell."

Real Estate or Insurance—Leave it to Jones Phone 790.

Home Owned & Operated Roxy 10c Phone 291 Children 5c. Starts Today "Merrily We Go To Hell" Sylvia Sydney Fredrick March ALSO—"UP POPS THE GHOST" "GRANDMA'S PET"—NEWS Continuous Shows Sun. 1:30-11

"Virtue" At Holly

Carole Lombard in "Virtue"—A Columbia Picture

The public today demands realism in its motion picture entertainment, according to Robert Raskin, noted playwright and screen writer who adapted "Virtue" to the screen with Carole Lombard and Pat O'Brien in the principal roles. He feels that today's audiences are broader, more tolerant and unafraid of stark realism to a degree unknown to the fans who used to watch Louise Lovely, Anita Stewart, May McAvoy and the other ingenuites of a decade ago.

"Virtue" opens at the Holly theatre today for a three day run. Carole Lombard needs no introduction to movie fans and Pat O'Brien is well remembered for his characterization in "The Final Edition." An added feature of unusual interest on the Holly program today is "Milady's Escapade," a novel version of the opera Martha. This subject is produced by the Kendall-De Valley Opera company and offers a condensed version of the opera. The subject will be of interest to everybody. The October Horoscope is also on the short program at the Holly today.

JAMES CAGNEY IN RACE FILM AT STUDIO TODAY

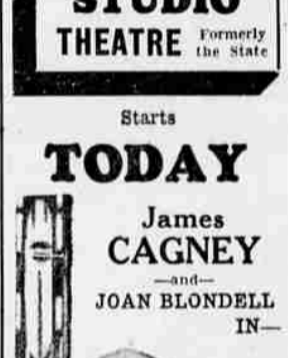

"The Crowd Roars," starring James Cagney and Joan Blondell opens at the Studio theatre today.

This picture is breath-taking in its description of the dangers and thrills encountered by the speeding drivers. A feature is the sequence which occurs when the gas tanks of one of the racing cars explodes, leaving a flaming trail in its wake. In addition to Cagney and Blondell, the cast includes Ann Dvorak, Eric Linden, Guy Kibbee, Bill Arnold, Leo Nomis, Harry Hartz and Fred Frame.

For wool dresses—knitted suits See ETHELWYN B. MOFFMANN'S Sixth & Holly. For Sale—Dry good, 12 or 16-in. $1.75 and $2.00 per tier in 3-tier lots. Measure guaranteed. Valley Fuel Co., Tel. 76.

Grange Dance at Lake Creek. Candidates invited. Sat. night, November 5.

STUDIO THEATRE Formerly the State. Starts TODAY James CAGNEY and JOAN BLONDELL IN—

GROWERS LEAGUE IN OPPOSITION TO TRUCK, BUSS BILL

Opposition to the Freight, Truck and Bus bill appearing on the November ballot was urged by the Fruit Growers' league at a meeting of the directors of the organization held at the Hotel Medford yesterday morning, according to E. W. Carlson, league president. A motion for a resolution to oppose the bill was unanimously approved.

The league took this action, it was reported, on account of several portions of the bill which might have the effect of limiting the competition provided by truck haul to seaboard points. It was also felt that truck competition is essential if adjustments in the already high freight rates on agricultural commodities produced in this district are to be reduced.

The organization also took action urging the United States shipping board to investigate the possibility of the establishment of an inter-coastal refrigerator steamship service, which might be used in the transportation of local fruit to eastern seaboard points. It was pointed out that this service should be much more economical than the long rail haul to eastern markets, and could be used extensively, providing satisfactory services if established.

A discussion of the financing problems of the valley, particularly with reference to the securing of crop production loans for the coming year's crop, was undertaken at yesterday's meeting, and it was reported that the league, in cooperation with the local chamber of commerce and the Traffic association, are already working on this problem.

Other matters of routine nature, including a discussion of the blight inspection service, the cull pear problem, and reports of committees occupied the remainder of the two-hour session.

ROOSEVELT HAS ELECTION GINCH SAYS EDITRESS

"Nothing in the world can stop the election of Franklin Roosevelt to the presidency now," declared petite, black-eyed Emily Newell Blair, associate editor of Good Housekeeping and one of the four women speakers sponsored by the National Democratic committee, who spoke before a group of local Democrats at the Hotel Holland yesterday noon. Immediately following her address she left by plane for San Francisco, the next point on her itinerary.

In the vigorous, dynamic style reminiscent of her written political observations, she asserted that the election of Roosevelt would be accomplished not through campaign funds nor even organization, but by a mental revolution on the part of the common people of the United States.

Hoover and Roosevelt, she explained, represent two separate schools of political thought. The former, she said, shared the Republican theory of reaching the common man downward, through the medium of big business; the other, Roosevelt, reflected the Democratic philosophy of appealing to the common man directly and recognizing equal rights for all.

Referring to Hoover's defense of his interest in child welfare work, Mrs. Blair said:

"There is another amusing instance where he could not discriminate between private interest and public acts. We are interested only in legislation regarding the welfare of the child—not pronouncements and utterances in their behalf."

The speaker was openly annoyed at what she called a "flagrant misrepresentation" of her which appeared in yesterday's Oregonian. She referred to a headline which stated that she was a "Hearst editor campaigning for Roosevelt."

In a brief non-political address made before the Federated Women's club earlier in the morning, Mrs. Blair recalled with interest a trip made through southern Oregon and northern California 15 years ago. She congratulated Medford on its growth and enterprising spirit and spoke admiringly of the new court house, which, she said, would do credit to a much larger city.

When needing duplicating sales books, flat-packs or fan-fold cash register forms, ledger sheets for bookkeeping machines or any other kind of printing, don't order from out-of-town firms and pay maker. Phone 76 and one of our representatives will call.

Pender and body repairing. Price right. Brill Sheet Metal Works.

No Hallowe'en Party

is complete without Hallowe'en Pastries in the traditional Hallowe'en colors.

Come into Fluhrer's retail store and let us tell you about them. Any kind and type made to order at reasonable prices.

Also remember that Fluhrer's doughnuts are the finest that the market affords and are a welcome sight at any Hallowe'en affair.

N. B. How about Pumpkin Pies?

Advertisement for the movie 'The First Year' featuring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell. Includes showtimes and prices.

Large advertisement for the movie 'Virtue' featuring Carole Lombard and Pat O'Brien. Includes showtimes and prices.

Advertisement for the movie 'Milady's Escapade' featuring Minna Gombell. Includes showtimes and prices.

Large advertisement for the movie 'The Crowd Roars' featuring James Cagney and Joan Blondell. Includes showtimes and prices.

Advertisement for the movie 'Barmhelless' featuring Richard Barmhelless and Bette Davis. Includes showtimes and prices.