

TROJANS PREPARE DEFENSE FOR AIR ATTACK BY PRINK

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—(AP)—If the University of Oregon seeks to gain victory over the University of Southern Oregon Trojans this Saturday by means of an aerial attack, it is likely it will find a Trojan pass defense stronger than that displayed by the home team against the California Golden Bears last Saturday.

Coch Howard Jones has been drilling his men against a possible aerial attack and believes the Trojans have strengthened their defense which showed considerable weakness last Saturday when the Golden Bears completed several long passes.

Another problem which faces Jones is to stop the plunging backs of Oregon, who will outweigh the local team. However, the Trojans have a line that has not been penetrated for a touchdown this year, the lone score against them having been made by California on a pass.

Gordon Clark, left half, was in the fullback position when the Trojans scrimmaged yesterday afternoon. Kenneth Bright, former third string half, was promoted to alternate half on the first team and will likely see action against Oregon.

PORTLAND AFTER NORMAL SCHOOL PIGSKIN CLASSIC

By Estill Phipps.
SOUTHERN OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, Ashland, Nov. 9.—(Sp.)—Information from the athletic department of Southern Oregon Normal school yesterday indicated that the Oregon Normal-S. O. N. S. championship battle, originally slated to be played either at Medford or Ashland, would be taken to Portland if fans from this end of the state do not turn out in large numbers to view the homecoming "grudge battle" between Coach Howard Hobson's unbeaten eleven and Chico State college this Friday.

It was pointed out that southern Oregon football fans received the spectacular Pacific fray in Medford a few weeks ago with luke-warm enthusiasm. The report, which came from an official source, also was to the effect that a determined effort was on foot in Portland for the two teams to appear there in Multnomah civic stadium.

The game, if taken to the Rose City, will have additional drawing power in that the popular Benson coach, who formerly coached Benson Tech in that city, has a large following there. And, too, several of his shining lights will be performing before a home town crowd which say them when they burned up the Portland inter-scholastic loop during their high school days.

Right now the whole thing is hanging fire and the outcome depends upon the interest southern Oregon people show Armistice day.

Meanwhile work in both the Sons and Chico camps goes on uninterrupted as preparations for the classic go into their final stages.

HOOVER'S COURSE UNTIL MARCH 4 REMAINS HIDDEN

a critical situation in Mexico. Intervention on behalf of Americans in that disordered country, was a question which might have to be decided any day. He made everything ready for such a step, sent to Wilson all confidential information on the crisis, and refrained from committing the country to any decisive policy, leaving this to the man who would have to carry it forward.

Wilson's idea—four years later—of vacating office immediately if defeated, was adopted for a most critical time in national history. The world war was in full swing, German submarines were sinking American ships. Everything was shaping up for the American intervention, which came next April.

He proposed, it is said, to turn over the presidential office to Charles Evans Hughes, his Republican opponent, by obtaining the resignation of Lansing, his own secretary of state, appointing Hughes to that office, retaining the resignation of the vice-president and then himself resigning. The succession law provides for the secretary of state to take over.

Critical Time for Lincoln

Lincoln's plan was for action at a time perhaps even more critical. The civil war was in its last stages. National morale was low. General McClellan, his Democratic opponent, appeared to be riding a high tide of resentment against the incumbent. Lincoln expressed fear for the future if McClellan, with his policies, triumphed. In August before election he wrote out a brief declaration proposing to bring the power of both men to bear on liquidating the chaotic situation. He kept it secret until after his re-election.

President Hoover for months past likened today's situation to war. Again and again in his final campaign speeches, he spoke of the last months of this term, in event of his defeat, as time virtually thrown away.

Once, by Lincoln's shrine in Springfield, Ill., he spoke of that statesman's plan. But he said no word of his own intentions. As for the president-elect, Roosevelt has made no sign that he would welcome an immediate hand in the conduct of the government.

But the power, until March 4, is Herbert Hoover's and the decision, if any is made, is likewise his.

BRITAIN HOLDING INDIA IN CHECK PENDING PARLEY

By EDWARD STANLEY
LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—The atmosphere surrounding preparations for the third round table conference on India, which is to meet here in mid-November, differs widely from that in which the all-inclusive conference of a year ago assembled.

The attitude has been explained as one of "holding India until the new harness is ready."

Last year there was an air of conciliation, with pleas from Britain's side for co-operation.

Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary of state for India, said recently: "As long as we are responsible, we are determined to govern."

Much of this stiffening of attitude is undoubtedly due to the change in government with the conservative majority in the house of commons in absolute control.

ONTARIO — Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Richardson opened new undertaking establishment.

But, as a matter of fact, the chances of immediate action are much brighter than last year. The situation is like this:

The round tables meet in mid-November. By Christmas, or the first of the year, their constitutional plan is to be ready. A select joint committee of the lords and commons will mull over this during the winter and spring and consult "representative Indian opinion."

Then it will prepare a "white paper" which can be made the basis of a statute providing a comprehensive basis for the new Indian government.

It is expected to pass through parliament like a cannon ball through a putty wall.

"All that has to be done," said an observer on the inside, snapping his fingers, "is to make it a question of confidence in the government."

So, he added, India in 1933 may see a native government in Simla for the first time since the East India company began to run things nearly 200 years ago.

MINOR LEAGUES PLANNING HEAVY ECONOMY MOVE

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—Radical changes in the administration of the minor leagues through the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues will be proposed at the convention in Columbus, O., December 7, 8 and 9.

Among the significant recommendations to be made by the five members of the executive committee—William G. Bramham, chairman; Warren C. Giles, secretary; J. Alvin Gardner, Joseph P. Carey and Ross C. Harriott—are the following:

Putting teeth in the salary limits by requiring the player and club president to sign affidavits to the salary paid, providing a player may be placed on the ineligible list for two years for a false affidavit and the fixing of a club 20 per cent of the maximum monthly salary limit.

The lowering of the player limit as follows: Class AA, 17 men; class A, 15; classes B, C and D, 15, including manager, and the placing of salary limits at $6500 per month, excluding salary paid to the manager for class AA; $3500 for class A; $2000 for class B; $1500 for class C and $1000 for class D.

All class AA clubs shall have on their active player list at all times during the playing season not less than two "non-class" players; class A, three; others six, and each club in classes B, C and D be required to own outright and at all times not less than ten contracts on their active player roster.

An amendment to the National association agreement striking at the practice of major league clubs withdrawing support from their farms during the season by providing that where any club assumes the ownership or operation of a club of lower classification and withdraws such support during the season it shall not be permitted to have a working agreement, or part or complete ownership of a minor league club at any future time, except upon posting a guarantee equal to double the maximum salary limit per club.

Elimination of the broadcasting of home games.

Discontinuance of the payment of transportation of players reporting where clubs train on their home grounds, as there is no rule requiring such expenditure.

AUSTRALIA PENSION LIST OVERCROWDED

CANBERRA—(AP) Nearly a million Australians receive a government pension of some kind. And there are less than four million adults in the country.

Old-age, invalid, war and widows' pensions, pensions for retired government servants, together with family endowment and the dole for unemployed, are costing Australia more than $150,000,000 annually.

The lower grade of workmen can do much better out of work than in employment if they have a big family. A dollar a week subsidy is given for each child.

CHILEAN FASCISTS ADOPT 'CELL' IDEA TO GAIN RECRUITS

SANTIAGO, Chile—(AP)—Fascists here took a leaf from communism for the organization of a new "civil guard."

Leaders began re-forming the old group by naming the most reliable members "secret organizers" who were instructed to obtain new adherents to the civil cause "like the Reds do."

Each organizer thus had to get five others, whom he could trust, to form a "cell." The cells were told when and where meetings would be held. Swiftly the first communist brigade grew to 3000 and now its members are reliably reported to number 20,000.

The old "Guardia Civil" at the time of the Ibáñez overthrow was supposed to have 75,000 members, but in the Davila-Grove military revolt against the Montero regime, this guard failed when a show of strength, civil leaders say, might have turned the tide in favor of the constitutional government.

The new guard has been in training every Sunday at semi-secret points near the capital. It aims chiefly to help, when necessary, any constitutional president.

ASSISTANT COACH QUILTS AT OREGON

EUGENE, Nov. 9.—(AP)—John J. O'Brien, assistant football coach at the University of Oregon, resigned last night. He gave as reasons for resigning, ill health and the fact his doctors had ordered him to withdraw from active coaching for a time. The resignation will take effect immediately.

O'Brien had acted as chief scout and end instructor during the past season. It was announced at Eugene no successor would be named this season. Oregon yet has games to play with the University of Southern California, St. Mary's and Louisiana State university.

LONDON SLOT MACHINE MAKES ZOO SEALS DIVE

LONDON—(AP)—London's zoo has capitalized public desire to see the seals dive for food.

Put a penny in a slot, pull a lever, a horn sounds and a piece of fish is thrown in a fine curve into the pond.

The seals have learned to associate the horn with fish and there is always a big splash.

FARM FINANCING TO BE TALKED

The Rogue Valley Agricultural Finance committee will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce building to discuss the procedure to be gone through in an attempt to obtain funds for orchardists through the Portland Agricultural Credit corporation.

The committee was organized last winter to assist in obtaining crop production funds for fruit growers.

BUSINESS WOMEN FURNISH CHAIRS

The Business and Professional Women's club today announced that the members are exerting a special effort to obtain chairs for the women's community club rooms to be furnished in the new city hall.

They would greatly appreciate any donations, which may be made, and ask that anyone with a little aid to offer the project call Mrs. Edwina Welshar, club president, or other members of the organization.

All clubs of the city are cooperating in the project and will have use of the club suite on the third floor of the city hall, adjoining rooms formerly occupied by the circuit court.
