

WETS STRENGTHEN GRIP ON CONGRESS AS BOURBONS WIN

Anti-Prohibition Measures Carried in Eleven States—47 Senators Listed for Dry Repeal or Resubmission

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Wet strength in the new congress apparently was mounting today, aided by huge pluralities accorded the national Democratic ticket committed both to repeal of constitutional prohibition and modification of the Volstead act.

Anti-prohibition measures were on the long end of referendum votes in 11 states.

On the basis of pre-election classifications by anti-prohibition organizations (the drys having made no parallel canvass), at least 47 senators of the 73rd congress will support either repeal or submission of the 18th amendment.

New Wets Elected. To obtain this total, wet organizations list 20 Democratic senators and one Republican, elected on returns coming in today, as favoring repeal. One new senator in each party was recorded in favor of submission, while two Democrats support prohibition.

These figures were added to a wet-dry classification of hold-over senators, which counts 10 Democrats and four Republicans for repeal, and four Democrats and six Republicans for submission. The votes on 31 hold-over and three new-elected senators were listed as "unknown."

Two Thirds Needed. The wet organization designation of house members-elect, gave 159 Democrats and 44 Republicans for repeal; 11 Democrats and 10 Republicans for submission; 11 Democrats and 17 Republicans for prohibition and 41 Democrats "unknown."

In both the senate and house a two-thirds majority is required for action on constitutional amendments. Connecticut voted seven to one to petition congress to submit a repeal amendment to the states. By a two margin, Michigan voters favored eliminating a bone-dry clause from the state constitution and setting up a liquor control commission. Overwhelmingly, Louisiana voted for submission of repeal of its enforcement act and also to ask congress to call a constitutional convention to propose repeal or revision of the 18th amendment.

States Favor Repeal. New Jersey ballots piled up a 10 to 1 lead for repeal of the state enforcement law. Wyoming voters apparently were two to one in favor of repealing the 18th amendment. A measure for repealing the prohibition clause in North Dakota's constitution was rejected by a slight majority on early returns. Most Arizona voters seemed to want repeal of the state's prohibition law, while majority voters were being counted for anti-prohibition proposals in California, Washington, Oregon, and Colorado.
