With the opening of the Economy Groceteria 12 years ago, November 20, W. A. Gatea and W. H. Lydiard introduced the cash and carry grocery system in southern Oregon. The original store was located in the Medford huilding in a portion of the store room now occupied by the M. M. Department store. A cash girl and the two proprietors easily accommodated the limited number of shoppers at that time. In six months the business had increased rapidly and a bakery was added to the establishment and its products met with instant favor. stant favor. In 1923 the Groceteria was moved

In 1923 the Groceteria was moved to its present location in the Porter Neff building on Sixth street, affording floor space of 100 by 100 feet. Colorful window displays, flaunting choice fruits and vegetables from the Rogue River valley, are carefully arranged for the benefit of customers. Since opening in the second location and function counter. sods fountain and lunch counter a soda fountain and lunch counter have been added. Delicious home-cooked food is featured at low prices. The Groceteria's bakery is one of its most popular departments.

Ritchenware, garden implements and other family necessities are carried by Gates & Lydiard in addition to the finest grade of farm and dairy produce. Ed Binns' meat market is operated in conjunction with the Groceteria so that customers may buy everything they need to supply the family with three meals a day by visiting the various departments in this one store.

Bread made without the use of bakery substitutes made its first spearance in Medford at the Groceteria.
