

KAISERDOM LOOMS ANEW IN GERMANY BOAST ROYALISTS

Restoration Monarchy Just Around the Corner, Says Leader of Organization—Responsibility Is Needed

By Louis F. Lochner
BERLIN—(AP)—The restoration of the German monarchy is just around the corner, in the opinion of Dr. Friedrich Everling, German nationalist member of the reichstag and chairman of the "Bund der Aufrechten" (League of the Upright), Germany's leading monarchist organization.

Who of the Hohenzollern dynasty is to resume the throne is a matter which the "bund" will leave to ex-Emperor Wilhelm II, chief of the Hohenzollern house.

"A majority of the German people favor the monarchy, though many are too timid to admit it," Dr. Everling said. "We of the Bund der Aufrechten believe in proudly proclaiming our faith in the inevitable return of kaiserdom and see no reason for hiding our belief."

"Germany needs leadership and stability and in a monarchy stability is fixed upon the monarch."

"In a republic, responsibility cannot be fixed. Prosperity as well as adversity in a monarchy bear the stamp of the ruler. In a republic they are recalled by the year in which they occurred.

Rule by Grace Of God

"You ask me upon what I base my faith in the return of the monarchy. Let me first take 'faith' in the usual sense. To conscious monarchists the principle of hereditary rule is indeed a matter of deep religious faith. We believe that the house of Hohenzollern, with whose name the fate of Germany has been intertwined for centuries, has been ordained to us by the grace of God."

"But beyond that, consider the following: why was it that the republican government of Prussia in 1922 outlawed our bund? Because, subconsciously, it felt that the great masses of the people stood behind us. In other words, they feared our faith. So they sought to suppress us, forgetting that ideas cannot be suppressed by edicts."

"Having 'suppressed' us, what was it that filled the columns of the republican press and was eagerly read by the people? Court gossip, memoirs about the imperial days, interviews with men of the old regime. That again was an admission that the public was at heart monarchistic."

"Another interesting phenomenon of the post-war period was the constant defensive in which the republic was placed. We did nothing to challenge the existing order—that order itself, put us up as a bogey and then went out to knock us down."

Reds Are Squealed

"It is not too much to say that the monarchy seems destined to return to power silently. Its opponents will have done all the talking."

"At no time has the danger of armed resistance to a return of the monarchy seemed less than now. The reason follows: so long as the world economic crisis has eliminated them.

"The great majority of the German people, therefore, now are monarchist. This applies especially to the vast middle class which has always been Germany's backbone. It was ruined by the republic. It yearns for the Hohenzollerns."

Foresees U. S. Support

Asked what the effect of restoration would be upon Germany's foreign relations, Dr. Everling replied: "You would be surprised how many evidences we receive that America would welcome a return of the monarchy."

"There are no more royalistic people in the world than the Americans" he added with a chuckle. "Only, of course, they wait at monarchy for everybody else except themselves."
