Comment on the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
F. L. CRITTENDEN, manager of the telephone company at Roseburg, tells this yarn:
An old prospector died, and in due course of time his spirit applied to the pearly gates for admission to heaven, but was informed by St. Peter that the accommodations were all filled. So he asked for a scrap of paper, wrote upon it these words: "Big gold strike in hell rumored," and asked the good keeper of the gates to pass it around among the boys.
