Oppose Bonus March—An interesting note to Legionnaires and Veterans of Foreign Wars is the following item recently appearing in the Oregonian: "Over the Top post No. 81, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Monday night at the courthouse took action to place the post formally on record, opposed to any and all 'bonus army' marches on the nation's capital. Commander McNamara declared that due to the general public misunderstanding on some veteran activities it is important that recognized veterans' organizations assert themselves clearly against the new 'bonus army' march said to be desired by certain leaders among radical groups. It is desirable, he said, that the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and other patriotic veterans' organizations in this state issue statements calculated to keep the public correctly informed on the whole bonus question."

STORES PLANNING YULE DECORATION IN PRIZE CONTEST

Medford stores are rapidly taking on the holiday appearance, preparatory to the big event of the winter shopping season, the annual Christmas Opening, scheduled for Saturday night of this week, and a survey of the local mercantile establishments reveals that displays of Christmas merchandise will be far more spectacular than in previous years. For the first time in several years, there will be a window decorating contest, open to all stores participating in the Christmas opening, with first, second, and third prizes offered for the most attractive displays in nine different classifications. A great majority of the retail stores in the city will try for these prizes, and results will be published in the Sunday papers.

Decorating of the streets of the city for the opening will begin tomorrow, and will be completed by Saturday, according to present plans. The decorating plan to be used this year will be the most attractive, although the simplest, used here for some time, embracing the decoration of the street lamps posts with garlands and "Merry Christmas" signs.

Saturday night, at 7:30, when the time for the official opening of the displays arrives, shoppers will find not only exceptional displays of Christmas merchandise, but also many opportunities for savings, as values are notably higher this year than in previous years, it is reported by the stores who are preparing for the event. All stores in the city are now distributing special tickets for the Christmas Opening, which should be preserved for use by those receiving them.

Friday night's Mail Tribune will contain a complete write-up of the Christmas Opening, containing all details of the event, a list of the participating stores, and material covering the features planned for Saturday night, according to John Moffatt, president of the Retail Trade Division of the Chamber of Commerce in charge of the opening.

Prost Parties, attired in white, were Harlow Carpenter, Harry Patton, Bobby Scherer and Elizabeth Hart, Betty Tuttle and King Winter and Gilbert Tully, Shiril Little Piper.

Each Fined $10—Roy Walker and Charles Jessman arrested last night by city officers on charges of being drunk in public places, were each fined $10 in city court this morning, and given 30 days to pay the amount. They were arrested on Front street.

Insurance Men Depart—Dudley G. Allen, representing the London and Lancashire company, and George Dutton, representing the American Alliance in Portland, were guests here yesterday and departed last night for the northern city to be home for the holiday.

Miss Funk to Portland—Miss Edna Funk is leaving today for Portland where she will spend Thanksgiving as the guest of her father, George R. Funk. Miss Funk also plans to attend the Medford-Jefferson football game and visit friends while in the northern city.

To Visit Parents—Miss Marcella Moran, a student at St. Mary's academy, left by train this morning for Grants Pass, from which city she will continue to Crescent City to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Moran, over the Thanksgiving holiday. She plans to return to Medford Sunday.

Bob Law Returns—Bob Law, formerly of Central Point, now a member of Battery B, 63rd, Fort McArthur, San Pedro, Cal., arrived in Medford yesterday, accompanied by his cousin, Lyle Richberger of Berkeley, Cal., to spend the holidays with relatives here and at Central Point.

Cupps, Littrells Leave—Mr. and Mrs. John Cupp and Mr. and Mrs. Al Littrell left this morning for Portland, where they will attend the football game tomorrow and be guests of friends at Thanksgiving dinner. The Cupps will return to Medford Sunday, while Mr. Littrell will continue to Detroit, Mich., where he will attend a dealers' convention as representative of the Littrell Parts company. Mrs. Littrell will remain in Portland to visit friends for some time. During the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Cupp, who will also do some buying for their store while in Portland, J. W. Shirley will manage the furniture store here.

BROTHER-IN-LAW BELIEVES STORY ROBINS' AMNESIA

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Edward Dreier, a brother-in-law of Colonel Robin, said in an interview with the Brooklyn Eagle today that he believed the prohibition leader "really was suffering from amnesia during the months he spent in the North Carolina mountains under an assumed name.

"There was no reason for Colonel Robin to want to disappear," he said. "His home life was very happy and he was very successful in his work. He was very much interested in the presidential campaign and had planned to work actively for President Hoover.

"I am sure he did not grow a beard and don overalls as a disguise. Remember that 30 years ago Colonel Robin was a prospector in Alaska and at that time wore a beard. Since he went back to prospecting when he lost his identity, it was only natural that he should revert to that mode of dress.

Dreier said that shortly before Colonel Robin dropped from sight in September he had toured 286 cities on behalf of prohibition and that the strain in connection with that campaign "might have had something to do with the lapse."

VALLEY SCHOOL PRESENTS PLAYS BEFORE HOLIDAY

Proceeding the Thanksgiving day vacation at the Valley school, a program including two plays was presented at the assembly this morning under the direction of the faculty members.

The older students of the school presented a little play in pantomime and the song, "The Life of Hiawatha." The role of Hiawatha was played by Martha Scherer, Nancy Clark took the part of Nokomis, grandmother of Hiawatha, Lagoo was played by Charity Hart, and Spencer Wells was "Glitchie Manton," the Great Spirit. Other Indians were Nancy Day, Jean Salade, Deborah Tully and Emily Scherer. Alicia Ruhl read the poem as the other pupils acted out the story in five scenes.

The younger children sang "Sweet and Low" and "The Fairy Dance," after which Barbara Jean Schuler recited Eugene Field's poem, "Little Boy Blue."

"Autumn Days," another play, was put on by the younger pupils, with Barbara Jean Schuler as Mother Autumn. The children taking parts of "Autumn Days" were Patsy GeBauer, Polly and Peggy Scherer, Ruth Johnson, Patricia Farrell, Susan Vilas and Nina Tuttle.

FEED DEALER IS ONLY DEFENDANT IN COURT RULING

Circuit Judge H. D. Norton this morning ordered a non-suit for the Crown Mills, in the suit of Mrs. Phillips of the Eagle Point district, against the Crown Mills and Fred Honner. The order left Honner as the defendant. Mrs. Phillips is seeking $610.50 damages for the death of young turkeys last summer, purchased from deleterious feed prepared by the Crown Mills.

Honner, in answer to the allegations, sets forth that he informed Mrs. Phillips, when she came to purchase turkey feed, that he had but one sack, and that was a "carry-over" from the previous year, and advised against its purchase, but recommended buying from another feed store, with a fresher stock. Honner alleges that Mrs. Phillips inspected the contents of the sack, and purchased it. The question of "implied warranty" and responsibility of the buyer were argued in the motion for a non-suit.

Mrs. Phillips alleges in her complaint that she purchased the feed for young turkeys, and that 367 died of her flock of 400, and that the remainder were sick and weak after eating the preparation.

The case continued before a jury, with Honner as the defendant. It is expected to go to the jury late today.
