Wide Variety of Songs in Program of Local Gleemen

The program arranged by the Medford Gleemen for their concert Tuesday evening embraces a wide variety of songs. There are beautiful arrangements of popular ballads such as "Sylvia," "Danny Boy," "I Love a Lassie" and others of equal charm especially adapted to male voices. The heavier numbers include "Landlighting" by Greg. Rachmaninoff's Prelude "Bells at Eventide," and "Dear Land of Home" from "Finlandia" by Sibelius. Interspersed through the list will be compositions in lighter vein, the foremost of which is "March out of the Troop" from "Mademoiselle Modeste." The old favorite "Swing Along" and a modern number "Lullaby of the Leaves" arranged by Sebastian Apollo, accompanist of the gleemen, are close rivals of "The Mason" in vivacity.

These are only part of the repertoire prepared for presentation but convey an idea of the scope of the program and forecast an enjoyable evening for music. Tickets are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce, Tognery, Swain's Palmer's, Pruitt's, Jarmin & Woods and West Side Pharmacy.

The Goblins Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out

OVER THE RADIO, in the magazines, on the bill boards—millions are being spent to ballyhoo fresh coffee.

You are told that coffee is unfit for use unless fresh—that stale coffee will keep you awake, give you the heebie-jeebies—in fact, almost any kind of disaster may result.

Now if this is true, why take chances on any but fresh coffee—even though this or that new-fangled dohicky, or some magic method is supposed to keep old coffee new. Why risk these terrible calamities that coffee roasters themselves predict, if the coffee doesn't happen to be fresh?

Why not play safe? Buy really fresh coffee—newly ground—then you are sure. Buy Z-MOR-U—roasted today—here tomorrow and ground the day you buy it. If the can is a necessary convenience, take Golden West. It's out of the Portland factory today and on our shelves tomorrow.

Maybe the calamity howler is right. We personally guarantee the freshness of these coffees.
