WOCKNER GUARDS TO COME SUNDAY

Illinois authorities are expected to arrive Sunday to return Warren Wockner, 25, to that state for trial for the alleged kidnaping of a Wataeka, Ill., banker.

Wockner was arrested a week ago by state police at a cabin six miles from Trail. He is also charged with felonies in Washington, California, and Florida. These states waived their claims in favor of Illinois.

Wockner has kin living in the Trail district, and near Gold Beach, Curry county. He has been in southern Oregon for three or four months. Two companions in the Wataeka, Ill., are now serving prison sentences.

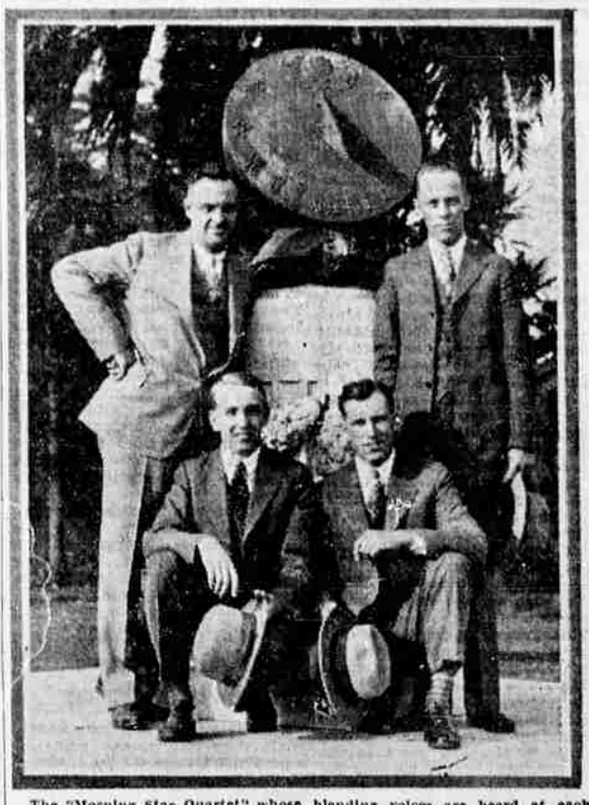
Revival Quartet Pleases



The "Morning Star Quartet" whose blending voices are heard at each service at the Apostolic Faith Church, 42 No. Front street during the revival now in progress. In addition to the quartet the "Concert Trio" gives special instrumental numbers and accompanies the congregational singing.

Meetings of the Apostolic Faith are continuing with marked success. Rev. R. R. Crawford, overseer from Portland, who is here with the "Morning Star Quartet" and other evangelistic workers, reports good crowds at the opening of the special meetings. The fundamental truths of the Gospel have been fearlessly proclaimed and numbers are showing deep interest.

The local church is a branch of the Apostolic Faith, with headquarters at Portland, which is known as one of the most progressive churches in the United States. Besides conducting services at their down-town church, these progressive people were the first to carry the Gospel by airplane, Reverend Crawford himself piloting their airplane for a number of years and carrying workers and Gospel literature to various points. They also operate a launch, "Morning Star II" which plies the Portland harbor, carrying the Gospel to the much-neglected seamen.

Also a large Mack bus, especially equipped, carries evangelistic workers cross country, while two large white specially-constructed trucks carry singers and speakers to outdoor meetings on Portland streets. And the large office at Portland records a mailing list of over sixty-five thousand, located in 184 different foreign countries, as well as every state of the U. S. A. which receive the Apostolic Faith, a publication printed at the headquarters and sent out free.

The branch in Medford works in conjunction with the headquarters in visiting hospitals, homes for the aged, and various public institutions in the Rogue River valley, as well as distributing religious literature at the open-air services.

Services are as follows: Sunday, 10:30 and 7:30; every evening except Monday and Saturday, 7:45. All are welcome, and no collections are ever taken.

Bible Teacher At Central Pt. Church Tuesday

Rev. Jos. S. Flacks, Bible teacher and evangelist, will conduct the first of a series of services in Bible conference work in the Federated church Tuesday evening, December 6 at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Flacks was here about nine years ago and delighted and edified his hearers with his convincing Bible messages. An Israelite, converted to Christ, and coming to know the Saviour as the Jewish Messiah, and having the Jewish insight and ability to understand the messages of the prophets, he is unusually well prepared to teach the Holy Scriptures.

All Christians are urged to bring their friends to hear Mr. Flacks. There will be no semblance of sectarianism and one Christian is just as welcome as another. Bring the unsaved, too. Ministers are specially invited to hear this brother of the Master.

Services begin at 7:30 p. m.

PEACE NEARING IN GOLD HILL SCHOOL

Progress towards settlement of the Gold Hill school district controversy, growing out of the ousting last September of George E. Meisinger as superintendent, is being made, with indications of an early adjudication.

In the main action of Meisinger against the school district, alleging he held a contract, the school district has asked for judgment on a demurrer.

In the counter-action of Meisinger against Bertha E. Coy, a clerk of the district, to compel her to sign the contract, and insert the date thereof, arguments will be held Monday or Tuesday before Circuit Judge H. D. Norton.
