

PRESIDENT'S FINAL NOTE DEVOTED TO ECONOMIC TOPICS

tion of the currency or governmental conduct of banking" should not have a part in these reforms.

The government, Mr. Hoover said, should exercise care not to become a participant in economic and social life except in emergency because by so doing it becomes "a competitor with the people."

"As a competitor," he said, "it becomes at once a tyranny in whatever direction it may touch. We have around us numerous such experiences, no one of which can be found to have justified itself except in cases where the people as a whole have met forces beyond their control, such as the great war and this great depression, where the full powers of the federal government must be exerted to protect the people. But even these must be limited to an emergency sense and must be promptly ended when these dangers are overcome."

War Debt Mention Slight

Turning to the field of international relations, the president declared that if the United States is to secure recovery and protection for the future "we must co-operate with foreign nations in many measures." He limited his direct discussion of war debts to the following paragraph:

"The European governments, obligated to us in war debts, have recognized that there should be a suspension of payments due the United States on December 15 next, to be accompanied by exchange of views upon this debt question. Our government has informed them that we do not approve of suspension of the December 15 payments. I have stated that I would recommend to the congress methods to overcome temporary exchange difficulties in connection with this payment from nations where it may be necessary."

Friendship Needed

Upon the finding of solutions to international questions, the president said, depends "the preservation of civilization." He added that solutions could not be found except "by honest friendship, by adherence to agreements entered upon until mutually revised and by co-operation amongst the nations."

The chief executive linked closely the goals of world peace, world disarmament and world recovery, and spoke of currency depreciation and the decrease in price levels in connection with the projected world economic conference.

"From these origins rise most of the destructive trade barriers now stifling the commerce of the world," he said. "We could by successful action increase security and expand trade through stability in international exchange and monetary values. By such action world confidence could be restored. It would bring courage and stability, which will reflect into every home in our land."

Plans Speeches

The president spoke but briefly of general legislation in his message. He said he would send special messages to congress "where necessary." He recalled that in previous messages he had urged among other things reform in transportation and power regulation, reform in the anti-trust laws as related to natural industries, membership in the world court, ratification of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway treaty, revision of the bankruptcy acts and of federal court procedure.

Turning to taxation, he said that some of the older revenues and those in the billion dollar tax bill "generally referred to, as substance taxes, had failed to produce the income hoped for. Many of the manufacturers' excise taxes upon selected industries, he said, have proved "unjust and discriminatory."

Would Tax All But Food

"The time has come," he said, "when, if the government is to have an adequate budget of revenue, it is necessary, according to A. P. Johnson, local manager, and the Dreamland dance hall will be donated by Elmer Childers.

The dance is scheduled for the night of December 14, and the tickets are now on sale at all of the stores that have been contacted by Hueston.

MERCHANTS AIDING EAGLES' LODGE IN CHARITY PROGRAM

Merchants of Medford are responding wholeheartedly to the program of the Fraternal Order of Eagles to administer relief to the suffering of this locality, according to Jack Hueston, who is in charge of the Eagles' program. Every merchant who has been contacted by Hueston and his committee has pledged assistance, and the remainder of the merchants will be contacted soon.

Several of Medford's leading citizens have endorsed the Eagles' plan of relief, and the Eagles are now looking for a warehouse to store the goods they will accumulate through their program. Those who signed a resolution of approval yesterday were W. S. Bolger, president of the chamber of commerce; C. T. Baker, secretary of the chamber; Mayor E. M. Wilson, Ben E. Harder and C. C. Lemmon.

The Standard Oil company has agreed to donate gasoline to the relief workers for whatever hauling is necessary, according to A. P. Johnson, local manager, and the Dreamland dance hall will be donated by Elmer Childers.

The dance is scheduled for the night of December 14, and the tickets are now on sale at all of the stores that have been contacted by Hueston.

INVITE PARENTS DENTAL LECTURE

Extensive plans are being made by members of the Jackson County Health association for the address here December 14 of Dr. Chas. A. Sweet of Oakland, Cal., secretary of the national association for promotion of preventative dentistry for children, and a nationally known figure in health circles.

He will speak at the county court house auditorium the afternoon of December 14 at 3 o'clock and his subject will deal with the relation of the children's preventative dentistry to the general health.

A cordial invitation to the meeting is extended to all interested persons, particularly parents, who are interested in the nourishment of teeth in growing children.

Members of the Parent-Teacher association council of the county are also extended a special invitation. The meeting is being sponsored by the Health association and the members will be hostesses at tea. There will be no admission charged and no subscription of funds at the meeting.

GLEEMEN APPEAR TONIGHT IN FIRST PUBLIC CONCERT

(By Jeunesse Butler.)

It has been written and said so many times—that song will put to rout the evil forces of inharmoniousness and discouragement, which result in conflict and failure, that this writer hesitates to reiterate the idea, yet that was the thought which came to mind again and again, during the last rehearsal of the Medford Gleemen, at St. Mark's hall.

Assuming for the sake of argument, that Medford's first and only men's chorus were NOT well worth hearing, in our opinion it would still be an excellent organization to maintain for reasons stated in the foregoing. If the reader could only have seen them, those 50 men or more, at rehearsal; could have witnessed the evident pleasure they derived from it, how business worries were dropped, how good-fellowship prevailed, how good-humored and non-temperamental was their director, in modern parlance, "what a kick they got out of it," we believe the reader would agree.

Happily, the Gleemen are good singers. Many of them have had years of training. The sections are well balanced. They have an experienced leader and accompanist in James Stevens and Sebastian Apollo. They sing with a sincerity and heartiness that is contagious and again, this writer believes there could not have been a wiser time to organize a male chorus than right now.

Included in the program, with the variety of chorus numbers, will be solos by Mr. Stevens, Mr. Apollo and Fletcher Fish. Mr. Stevens' numbers are yet to be selected. Mr. Apollo will sing the beloved Liebestraum of Liszt, while Mr. Fish will "render" the Joker of the evening, as it were. "Doc" Butler wrote the last named; Mr. Fish interprets it as only he can, and the chorus joins in with a brief refrain at the close of each verse, a refrain that can only be heard to be appreciated by every civilized man and woman in the audience. Mr. Apollo has made some excellent arrangements for the chorus, for Lullaby of the Leaves, Home on the Range, and Albert Murtagh's Oregon, My Oregon. His arrangement of the latter is the only one in existence for male chorus.

Concluding, we advise all who possibly can, to attend the concert by the Medford Gleemen this evening at the Senior high school auditorium. Go and give the boys a "big hand," literally and figuratively.

MEDFORD DEFICIT WILL BE $15,500

Medford will meet the coming year with a deficit of $15,500, not $155,000, as stated through a typographical error in yesterday's paper in a story explaining the need for provision in the coming year's budget of an emergency fund to care for tax delinquencies. An extra cipher was added to the figure and a little change in the punctuation made a great difference in Medford's tax problem. The deficit included a general fund of $8,000 and $6,000 in the general fund and a shortage of approximately $9,500 for bond interest and redemption.

Old Ironsides To Visit Coast

In commemoration of services rendered by the school children of the United States and its possessions in the restoration of "Old Ironsides," the George Mason high school of Alexandria, Va., is presenting a pleasure to the U. S. S. Constitution today, according to notice received by the school superintendent's office here.

The restoration of the famous old frigate was made possible by generous contributions of pennies, nickels and dimes by boys and girls from schools throughout the entire country. The old warship will visit the coast next year.

Secure from Jarmin & Woods or your druggist 1 oz. Parmitin (Double Strength). Take this home and add ¼ pint hot water and a little sugar. ## 35 HUNTERS DIE YEAR'S ACCIDENTS

ST. PAUL, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Upward of 35 perished during the seasonal big game hunt just closed in three north central states, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, but game authorities today said the toll was not surprisingly high considering the number of hunters participating.

In the three states, at least 150,000 men and women tramped the woods in pursuit of deer and the total kill, based on preliminary estimates, apparently aggregated 75,000 animals.

The number of hunters was apportioned equally among the three states and the deaths likewise were almost evenly distributed with the statistics giving, Wisconsin 14; Michigan 10 and Minnesota 10.

INSTALLMENT BY ITALY TO BE PAID

ROME, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini disregarded the postponement action of other debtor nations today, when he decided Italy would pay the $1,245,000 due the United States December 15.

The supreme council of fascism recommended the action—and it is tantamount to definite declaration after the premier himself had addressed the body.

Mussolini joined the other debtors, however, in insisting on debt revisions, adhering to the often-voiced fascist policy that the war debt slate should be wiped clean.

NORTON RETURNS TO BENCH AFTER DISQUALIFICATION

James T. Brand, circuit court judge for Coos county, assigned by the state supreme court to hear Jackson county cases in which Judge H. D. Norton had been disqualified by the filing of affidavits of prejudice, left this morning for Marshfield. Judge Brand will return later to hear local cases to which he has been assigned.

The Coos Bay jurist was the target for an affidavit of prejudice filed yesterday by L. A. Banks, through his attorney, M. O. Wilkins of Ashland, in the News receiver case. Under the Oregon law, the filing of an affidavit of prejudice automatically disqualifies the judge from hearing the case.

Following the filing of the latest affidavit of prejudice, in the local circuit court, Attorney Wilkins explained to the court and others around the courthouse, that he had filed the affidavit of prejudice against Judge Brand "at the instance of his client (L. A. Banks), and against his own best judgment." Banks did not appear in court yesterday. His counsel said he was "disposed."

Circuit Judge H. D. Norton assumed the Jackson county bench today, and will hear routine matters in this and Josephine county. It is planned to call the petit jury Monday, December 19, for the hearing of criminal matters, if attorneys are ready for trial. Among the criminal matters pending are those of W. F. Glayzer, former Trull resident and transient laborer. Indicted for assault upon his wife with a knife, in their Ashland home last August; Leslie (Buck) Wilson, on parole from the state prison, indicted in connection with the robbery of the J. C. Penney store at Ashland last July; Reinhard Rolfe of Central Point, indicted on an involuntary manslaughter charge, for the accidental killing of his hunting companion, Joseph St. Germain for a deer last October, and Robert Rose and Jack Rice, Long Mountain district residents, indicted for alleged setting of forest fires.

The grand jury, William T. Grieve, Prospect, foreman, is scheduled to meet again next Monday, December 12.
