GLEEMEN RECORD NOTABLE SUCCESS IN FIRST CONCERT

By Jeuness Butler

"It's all over now," that heart-quaking, knee-shaking "first night," with its strange mixture of dread and delight, and the Medford Gleemen have emerged from the experience as an accepted institution of our social, civic and musical life. A creditable performance, indeed, was their first formal concert, given last night at the high school auditorium, under the auspices of the Medford Chamber of Commerce.

Fortunate are the Gleemen in their conductor, James Stevens, a genuine musician and experienced showman, who understands how to blend the best abilities of both, without a sacrifice of either. He gave evidence of this in the choice and arrangement of the program, in his directing, and in other less noticeable but almost equally important matters.

W. F. Isaacs, L. N. Foy and Dr. W. W. Howard were heard briefly in solo with chorus, with Fletcher Fish singing the verses of the "booster" song, "This Is a Great Country," lyrics and music by H. N. ("Doc") Butler. Despite his arduous duties as director, Mr. Stevens gave one solo and encore, heard in two piano solos and an encore number. Naturally enough, the chorus singing improved as the concert progressed, and we may take that as indicative of what we may expect from future appearances. From first to last, however, as predicted, the program was well worth hearing.

A welcome and not unimportant addition was the stage setting, last-mentioned Saturday evening with a skitlike party for a group of their friends. Refreshments were served by the hostess, the scheme being carried out in Christmas colors.

Guests for the evening were Miss Lura Lynch, Miss Gertrude Watling, Miss Winifred Andrews, Miss Grace Colborn, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Duff and Arthur L. Schoenl.

VETERAN BENEFITS GREATLY REDUCED BY HOOVER'S BILL

is made for review when the income drops.

Disability allowances to World war veterans would be withdrawn at the end of three months from all not totally and permanently disabled.

All forms of disability benefits undergoing institutional care would be cut to $20, except that dependent, if any, would draw the balance otherwise due. For the mentally incompetent, up to $3,000 would be accumulated in trust, then all benefit would be stopped until the total was reduced.

T. B. Cases Cut Off

Compensation of $50 monthly for veterans with arrested tuberculosis would cease five years from award or six months from enactment of the law, which ever was later.

Emergency officers' retired pay be withdrawn except from those with more than 30 per cent disability, directly traceable to active service between declaration of war and the armistice, or to no less than 90 days service between the armistice and the signing of peace, July 2, 1921.

Those receiving World war veterans' compensation whose military service began after November 11, 1918, would be transferred after six months to the general army and navy pension rolls.

Cut Retroactive Pay

Many stringent administrative provisions, limiting the evidence in suits for benefits, cutting to six months the extent of retroactive allowances, etc., were included to further curtail expenditures.

The President estimated that $107,479,000 of the estimated saving of this proposal would come from slashes in the military and naval compensation; another $11,241,000 from army and navy pensions and the balance from salaries, expenses and miscellaneous provisions.

The Under-Cover Man

There are strange things done, Out in Oregon, From the tales that the boys have told The Main street lights Have seen queer sights, But the queerest they ever did see— 'Twas a day in December, I distinctly remember— We thawed out Sam McGee.

Now Sam McGee Was from Tennessee, Where the cotton blooms and blows, Why he left his home, down there to roam Just a true Oregonian knows. He was always cold— But he was thoroughly "sold"— The town held him like a vise. Tho' he shivered all day, He would often say, in his homely way, "I think the people are nice."

But when Sam got old The nights got cold And he darn near froze to death. He went to bed, Bad cold in the head— And the night air froze his breath. They found him at dawn, Cold, haggard and drawn— Entirely covered by ice. So we got a big torch, From a neighbor's back porch— And he started to thaw in a trice.

We wrapped him in blankets, From PENNEY'S that night. The joy on his face Was one of delight. Then he turned to me And "Boy," said he, "I wouldn't trade these blankets for a farm, Since I left Plumtree Down in Tennessee IT'S THE FIRST TIME I'VE BEEN WARM."
