sic Lovers Plan
Hear Kreisler

Medford music lovers are already ing their nickels and dimes in ticipation of a trip to Portland for concert there of Fritz Kreisler January 23, according to talk in al circles. Mail orders are now ng received, the Portland press nounces, and a crowded audito- m is expected for the concert. eisler will appear on the Steers Coman course.

In his recent recital at Carnegie l, New York, Kreisler played to an dience which filled the hall, stand- room and all stage space avail- e, destroying all fears of a wane musical apureciation in this coun- .

As the outstanding artist of the r and the one beloved by all, he expected to draw a crowd from all tions of the state to his one ap- arance in Portland next month.

All members attending this meeting are urged to bring something suitable for a bridal shower.

PUGET SOUND EGGS BEING DUMPED IN PORTLAND, PLAINT

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 28.—(AP)—There is much agitation in the Oregon egg industry regarding the bringing of considerable supply from Puget Sound sections while there is a burdensome surplus produced within the immediate Portland territory.

Not only is there a supply of Puget Sound eggs being offered here, but generally 1 to 2c dozen below the prices established by local co-ops and private firms. Naturally this creates bearish sentiment and especially so as much of the business in the imported eggs is done with price cutting retailers.

Home egg producers complain that Portland is being utilized as a dumping ground for Puget Sound.

Market for butter continues to reflect weakness at the late cut of 2c made during a special holiday season. The trade appears to have little confidence in immediate values.

While there is demand for live chickens, only a light volume is needed to take care of trade wants, according to receivers here. Prices are generally steady.

Yesterday's report of a cleanup of ducks and geese over the holiday appears in error inasmuch as one large firm alone put away a considerable supply in colers because of the absorbing demand for turkeys.

Prices are showing a general lift in the market for country killed hogs with sales up to 5-5½c lb. Demand for calves is steady as for best lambs but poor lambs are slow. Call for old mutton is good.

Frisco Butterfat Prices Take Fall

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 28.—(AP)—Dairy farmers absorbed a jolt today in a 3½-cent decline in the price of butterfat. The price of premium cream, quoted here by the Golden State company, was 25c, compared with 28½c yesterday.

The drop followed a decline of 3c a pound in butter yesterday, which left 92 score or best grade at 24c a pound.

Portland Wheat In Lowest Dive

PORTLAND, Dec. 28. — (AP) — December and July wheat struck a new all-time low record at Portland today, the former closing with a loss of ¾c and the latter ⅝c. May struck the old low with a loss of ⅝c.

Officers were elected by members of the Active club at the meeting last evening, and recommendations of the board of directors were followed out throughout the balloting. H. O. Hussong was introduced as a new member. Elected were William McAllister, president; Darrell Huson, first vice-president; Gordon Pratt, second vice-president; Kenneth Denman, secretary-treasurer; and Howard Gault, sergeant at arms.

ASHLAND-TALENT HIGHWAY PROJECT GAINS APPROVAL

Washburne of Eugene voted against postponement.

Prominent legislators who were called in for the conference with the commission included Sam Brown and Charles K. Spaulding of Marion county, W. E. Burke of Yamhill, and Allan A. Bynon and Joe Dunne of Multnomah.

Senator Dunne, veteran good roads proponent, declared, "We must do what we have to do, not what we want to do. I believe postponement until better times is the only thing we can do with these projects."

Instead of the three projects which were eliminated, ten smaller jobs were approved by the commission, to cost about $450,000 and using the available federal aid money. The largest piece of work calls for paving, widening and resurfacing the Hillsboro-Beaverton section of the Tualatin highway at a cost of $120,000.

Ashland Job Approved.

Two projects near Ashland, costing a total of $100,000 and calling for an undercrossing and grading and paving of one and a half miles of highway north of Ashland, were approved.

Reconstruction of the John Day bridge at $50,000; construction of approaches on the Columbia highway in Clatsop county, grading and re-surfacing the Tillamook highway between Hebo and Dolph, and grading the Rice Hill line change on the Pacific highway between Eugene and Roseburg, was approved, as was grading of the Drinkwater Pass section of the Central Oregon highway, to cost $90,000.

Jobs to be advertised included grading approach fills of the Hinsdale and Koppe Slough bridges on the Umpqua highway between Scottsburg and Reedsport.

Final action on a number of pending contracts was taken by the commission, and several awards were made.

BOY ON BIKE HIT BY GIRL AUTOIST

Miss Louise Fluhrer is scheduled to appear in city court tomorrow morning on a charge of reckless driving, as a result of a collision early last evening when her car struck the bicycle which Spencer Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. S. Wells of 30 Keene Way, was riding, according to city police. The accident occurred on East Main street in the Siskiyou Heights district.

The youth was knocked unconscious by the impact, police said, and was found at the side of the road by his bicycle a few moments later by a passing motorist. He did not suffer any injuries as a result of the crash, but his bicycle was badly damaged, officers said.

Miss Fluhrer reported the accident at the city police station about 11:30 o'clock last evening.
