"College Football Growing Top-Heavy"—Dobie

GAME OUTGROWS ABILITY OF LADS TO KEEP ABREAST

Veteran Coach Says Sport Hinders Collegians Keeping Up in Scholastic Work — Rules Too Intricate

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Football, says Gilmour Dobie, "seems to have outgrown the capacity of the boys to keep pace with it," and it's time, he thinks, that something be done to simplify it.

"It has all arrived at the stage now," Cornell's veteran coach told the American Football Coaches' association, "where we have a game on our hands so big, so vast, so unwieldly, it is almost impossible for an organization of college boys to handle it and do justice to their scholastic duties.

Too Much Effort

"We cannot go on expanding indefinitely. It is not the quality of the game but the quantity that is undesirable. It consumes too much time and effort and is too expensive. We can junk half of it and still have more left than is sufficient for a college game."

Dobie traced the development of the game from its origin when a few simple formations were all that needed to be learned, to its present status as a complex sport in which "highly specialized men are required to make a modern offense or defense function properly.

"Why, it's almost a full season's job for the players to learn the rules well," he told his associates.

Number of Plays Passe

Placing the blame for football's complications squarely on the rules, which he said gave too much latitude to the offense, Dobie went on:

"Why do we need the lateral pass, the shift, the revolving huddle, spread formations and half-spread formations? They have become largely obsolete anyway by non-usage. They are merely there to plague. These and a lot of other intricacies could be dispensed with.

"If we were allowed but a few formations, say a kick formation and three or four running formations, which would give a reasonable latitude to the offense, and have them designated by the rules committee, and then, if necessary, open up the game sufficiently to discourage the use of too many contact plays by modifying the forward pass rule, I believe in a short time we would rid ourselves of a lot of our troubles.

"We would then soon develop a game somewhat standardized which the boys could learn about as they grow up as they do in other games such as baseball, basketball and tennis. We would be rid of a lot of things which make the game so cumbersome and still have a game every bit as spectacular, just as open and fully as desirable for the players and spectators with one-half the effort."

C. P. ALUMNI AND HIGH TO CLASH

Stars of yesterday will meet the stars of today when the Central Point alumni basketball team meets the high school quintet in the annual game at the Central Point gymnasium Thursday night. Alumni girls will play the high school girls in a preliminary at 7:30.

The alumni team will include the following players: Obenchain, Taylors, Eldens, Smith, Caster, Don Faber, Howard Dietrick, Moringstar and Don Patterson. Od Hughes of Medford will referee.

SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

By Arthur Schoeni.

From bush baseball to the most effective pitcher in class AA ball in a couple of years is the record of Curt Davis, who started life at Rickreall, Ore., and jumped from the southern Oregon baseball sandlots to Coast league.

Pitching for San Francisco the past season, the former Ashland Bos hurler turned in the best earned run average in the league, the true measure of a pitcher. He was responsible for only 2.24 earned runs a game in 44 games.

Curt's pitching was all that gave San Francisco a lease on fourth place. He won 22 games and lost 16 with a weak club, struck out 122 men, hit seven two-baggers and fielded .981. The gangly fast ball righthander is due to "go up" this winter, and Medford fans who saw him win game after game at the fairgrounds will watch his work in the majors with a little pride and considerable interest.

It takes a brave man to face the elements with a golf club in his hands this weather, but yesterday saw the usual hardy golf fans on the country club links, including Bob Hammond, Jr., former southern Oregon champion. Hammond is back home for the holidays. Golf was eliminated in the depression paring-down at University of Oregon or Hammond would be a mainstay of the Webfoot team this spring.

Yesterday's wind was nothing compared to the breezes that "fan" the old home course of D. J. MacPherson, assistant pro. "Mac" was born in Scotland and spent his boyhood days there in Edinburgh. He remembers playing golf when the gales sweeping in off the turbulent North sea were so strong they blew his ball off the greens. Playing under handicaps like that are easy if you get used to them, according to "Mac."

ACTION ON BEER MAY BE MONDAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 — (AP) — Lack of a quorum delayed action by the senate judiciary committee today on the house 3.2 per cent beer bill, and Chairman Norris called another meeting for next Monday.

It was the second unsuccessful effort this week to obtain a quorum of the committee to begin work on the Collier bill, passed last week by the house.

A subcommittee has already begun under Norris' instructions, however, a study of the constitutional questions involved, in order to save time.

Only four members of the committee appeared today in addition to Norris. They were Senators Blaine, (R., Wis.), and King of Utah, Dill of Washington and Black of Alabama, all democrats.

PROCK KLUM IN MANCHURIA TRIP WITH BALL TEAM

Playing baseball and watching out for Manchurian bandits from the corner of his eye is the unique experience described by Otto "Prock" Klum, Medford high school football coach in 1919 and 1920 and now head mentor at the University of Hawaii.

Klum's barnstorming trip last summer through bandit-ridden Manchuria is told in a letter to relatives in Klamath Falls and published in a recent issue of the Klamath Evening Herald.

On account of the poor hotels in the "Jewel Box of the Orient," Klum's baseball team lived most of the time on board their train. Each hotel has one bathtub and one toilet, according to Klum.

"We succeeded in being in one bandit raid, and while it is rather funny now, we did not laugh much at the time. We were awakened at 3 o'clock in the morning by rifle and machine-gun fire. I very gently poked my head up to the window, saw soldiers stationed about every 10 feet along the track by our train, and they were shooting at flashes.

"Besides these soldiers, we had a machine-gun on the roof of our car which was giving plenty of action. The only casualties were holes in our train and one Japanese soldier shot in the arm."

Baseball has taken a strong hold of Japan and almost every citizen is a fan, Klum declares. The Hawaiian nine played semi-pro teams in Manchuria, most of them made up of ex-college athletes from Japan who got jobs on the strength of their baseball ability. On their summer tour, Klum's men played 30 games, winning 21.

DER MAX FIRST IN HEAVYWEIGHT RANKS, IS VOTE

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The annual consensus of the New York Sun, based on the votes of 60 boxing writers, gives first place in the heavyweight ranks to Max Schmeling of Germany, for the third straight year, despite the fact that the "Black Uhlan" lost his world championship to Jack Sharkey during the past summer.

Schmeling was voted the best of the heavyweights by 38 writers, while only 18 thought that Sharkey's disputed 15-round decision over the German in June entitled him to top ranking.

Here is how they were ranked in the consensus:

1—Max Schmeling; 2—Jack Sharkey; 3— Max Baer; 4—Stanley Poreda; 5—Primo Carnera; 6—Johnny Risko; 7—King Levinsky; 8—Mickey Walker; 9—Young Stribling; 10—Ernie Schaaf. Honorable mention—Tommy Loughran, Larry Gains, Steve Hamas, Unknown Winston, Charlie Retzlaff, Lee Rammage, Paulino Uzcudun, Tuffy Griffiths, Arthur Huttick.

Probably the most radical change in this year's rating was the elevation of Max Bear, the Livermore, Cal., walloper, to third place from a position in the "honorable mention" list outside the first ten in 1931. Baer knocked out Walker Cobb during the past year, beat King Levinsky twice, Ernie Schaaf, Tom Heeney, Paul Swiderski and Arthur DeKuh, and now stands in the finest position of all the young contenders, matched with Schmeling by Promoter Jack Dempsey for a 15-round battle somewhere in June.

FOOTBALL SUBSIDIZATION KILLING AMATEUR ASPECT

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A prediction that college football mend its ways within the next ten years or become frankly professional sport was made today as several hundred members of the Sportsmanship Brotherhood paid honor to Amos Alonzo Stagg, 71-year-old retiring coach at Chicago.

"Not one college or university in ten is playing the game and keeping clear of subsidization," Prof. Philip C. Badger, chairman of the New York university faculty board of athletic control, charged in one of the principal speeches at the luncheon in Stagg's honor.

"Within ten years, unless the spirit of sportsmanship prevails, the game will be dead," he said, "or played on a frankly professional basis."

Stagg, retired as head coach at Chicago because of his age, was presented with the sportsmanship medal by Matthew Woll, president of the brotherhood and vice-president of the American Federation of Labor.

Badgers reference to wholesale proselyting in football followed a plea for better understanding of the need for faculty supervision of the sport in colleges.

Calendar salesmen from out of town companies are canvassing the town now for 1934 calendars. Why buy now a year ahead of time, and from outside people who do not do anything to maintain home payrolls, when you can buy as nice calendars cheaper from home printers who will call on you later in the year. Resolve to patronize home industry during 1933, and start by helping maintain one of the largest payrolls in Medford—the printing.

Langford Looms As Pigskin Czar

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—With the annual winter football clinic in full blast today, prospects pointed to the selection of William S. Langford of New York as the new chairman of the powerful football rules committee of the national collegiate A. A., succeeding the late Edward K. Hall.

Coach Burgher—No more breaking my neck getting a game with the Portland champions.

ASHLAND NORMAL LOSES, 45 TO 36, TO M. A. C. CAGERS

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The playing of Billy Keenan, former University of Oregon star, and King Bailey, for the Multnomah club seniors, was too much for Southern Oregon Normal's less experienced basketball team here last night, the seniors taking the game, 45 to 36. The quickness and speed of Midget Keenan, who see-sawed back and forth beneath the long outstretched arms of the southern giants and Bailey's quick slip-in shots were big features of the game. Keenan potted four field goals and picked up the loose ball innumerable times to give impetus to his teammates. Dick Jockisch, giant grid tackle, led the parade for the southerners. He collected 10 points in the final half after scoring but one field goal in the opening session.

SALEM, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The gigantic Southern Oregon Normal basketball team will meet the Willamette university Bearcats here tonight.

Three of Coach "Spec" Keene's Bearcats were missing from the first holiday practice which was called yesterday. Northrup, who scintillated against Oregon State, was absent.

Salem sport fans are familiar with Coach Howard Hobson and most of his Ashland players.
