

Western Grid Squads Repulse East in Annual Tilts

Trojans Trample Pittsburg, 35 to 0, in Bitter Battle

Panthers Strive Valiantly to Halt Onslaught—Score in Early Game Comes As Result of 33-Yard Pass

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN, (Associated Press Sports Writer.)

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 3.—(AP)—To Pittsburg's football team Southern California's sturdy line men still are "The Topless Towers of Troy."

A revenge-seeking Panther pack pounced relentlessly at the Trojan ramparts in the Rose Bowl yesterday before 33,000 persons, to obtain, after 60 minutes of fierce football, only a 35 to 0 defeat for its efforts.

Worst "Licking" Yet.

It was the most decisive score ever written into the 18 years of Rose tournament intercollegiate grid history, eclipsing that 47 to 14 wallop of these same Trojans meted out to Pitt three years ago in the annual classic.

The speed with which Coach Howard Jones' team struck in scoring its first touchdown, and the final score, belittles the valiant efforts of the invading Panthers who bit off more Trojan than they could chew, and realigning it, kept right on fighting to the finish.

In eight wisely selected plays, the last a 33-yard pass, Homer Griffith to Ford Palmer, Troy drove 92 yards to a touchdown. It was a sustained drive such as the Pacific Coast conference had not shown during the regular season. The score came less than three minutes after the opening kickoff. For a good half-hour of play thereafter Pitt kept the deceptive Trojan attack allowed to a snail's pace.

Pass Try Fails.

It was during this time that the Panthers made their bid—and failed. Henry Weisenbaugh drove center and then dashed down the sidelines for 38 yards, but Warren Heller passed the ball over the goal line on the first play incomplete.

A partial clock kick made the next opportunity, but this time a fumble blocked the offensive efforts of Pitt.

The turning point came late in the third. Captain Ray Brown recovered Mike Sebastian's fumble on his seven yard line. The Pittsburgh line rose up to forestall Troy's efforts two yards short of the goal, and Kenneth Bright, a reformed center playing left half, tossed a flat pass to Griffith for the second touchdown.

Pitt Defense Tracks.

The Panthers' resistance broke here, with the Trojans, wise to the rushing guards and ends by this time, turned loose a series of slanting reverses and spinners through the line. Irvine Warburton, 147-pound quarterback who figured prominently in the drive from the 30-yard line, crawled through a tiny hole for the third touchdown from the six-inch mark.

Only then did the Pitt defense crack. Palmer recovered Isadore Weinstein's fumble on the Panther 21-yard line and three plays later Warburton scored, without being touched, on a lateral from Gordon Clark.

For the fourth consecutive time, Ernie Smith booted the extra point.

The crowd had hardly settled back in the seats before the final touchdown was inscribed on the scoreboard. Two substitute ends, Ward Browning and Julius Pescoe, swarmed in on Hogan to block his punt simultaneously.

Third String In.

Coach Jones substituted his third string players by this time, but there was no stopping the Trojans. From the 15-yard line these reserves drove to the final touchdown with Dick Barber, a broad jumper by athletic vocation, leaping over the line for the score, and George Ledy, giant tackle, kicking the goal.

The statistics gave Southern California a commanding edge. The Trojans rolled up 22 first downs to nine, and out-gained Pitt 378 yards to 193. Two of Troy's four passes were completed for touchdowns while the Panthers made four of 11 throws good.

Southern California held the punting edge, too, averaging 34.4 yards to 32.

The possibler have Senator Couzens of Michigan willing to play angel for the progressive wing of the party. They would have you believe Senator Ham Keene of New Jersey is willing to finance the conservative element.

It is good gossip, but only that. Couzens will be a powerful man in the future of the party if he wants to be. He has the confidence of both progressives and conservatives. He is not bound to either side.

Keene's influence on party reorganization will only be in a slight way.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., did a splendid job of lining up the farm organizations for the Roosevelt program. It took two weeks' work, but they came completely around in the end. They are talking about him now for secretary of agriculture. That may not be bad speculation if you can imagine a New Yorker as secretary of agriculture.

PACIFIC'S STARS WIN, 21 TO 13 IN SHRINE CONTEST

'Hard Luck Hank' Schaldach Runs Wild to Score All Coast's Points—Fisticuffs Enliven Afternoon

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—(AP)—The brilliant running of "Hard Luck Hank" Schaldach, University of California halfback, through an opposing force of all-Americans and other great football stars, remained the high light here today of the west's 21-13 victory over the east in the annual Shrine charity game.

Schaldach, rampaging in the second half of the contest at Kezar stadium yesterday, accounted for all of the west's points. He carried the ball over for three touchdowns and in each case converted for the extra point with a place kick.

The California star's playing drew as much comment as a surprise, last quarter personal clash between Joe Kurth, Notre Dame tackle, playing for the east, and a western end, Ralph Stone, of the San Francisco Olympic club.

Some 45,000 fans, already keyed to a high point of excitement by the battle between the teams, saw the two players engage in the brief tiff.

The east scored first as a result of a 48-yard first-period march led by Michigan's all-American quarterback, Harry Newman, playing at right halfback.

Offense Launched.

Trailing by six points, the westerners launched their big offensive in the third quarter with Schaldach, flanked by two husky Texans, Stafford and Koy, in the backfield, leading the attack. The little Californian started the fireworks with a 35-yard return of a punt to the East's five-yard line. Four plays later, with half a yard to score, he plunged over.

An intercepted pass by Stafford, at halfback, led to the second Western touchdown in the same period.

In the final quarter the strong arm of Gil Berry, Illinois right half, shot a pass over the western goal to Dick Pencil, Northwestern end. A place kick by Jack Manders, Minnesota quarterback, added the extra marker.

Schaldach again ran wild as the West launched a late drive for the final touchdown. He carried back Berry's punt 32 yards to the east's seven-yard stripe. He rambled around end again for five yards on the scoring play.

FIRPO DECISIONS LOMSKI IN TEN

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Young Firpo, 176 pounds, Burke, Idaho, won a close 10-round decision over Leo Lomski, 188, Aberdeen, in Promoter Waterman's New Year's boxing card here yesterday but the margin was neither emphatic nor inspiring. Firpo's speed enabled him to keep away from Lomski, but when they did come together, Lomski was able to hold his own. In fact Lomski's final punch, just before the final bell, virtually knocked out Firpo, on his feet, although neither the referee nor the crowd saw what happened for the bell saved Firpo. Referee Louttit had lifted the Idaho miner's hand and the customers started to leave, when Firpo suddenly collapsed from the effects of a left hook to the stomach.

The best fight on the card was the return engagement of Whitey Neal, 128 pounds, and Max Tarley, 127, Filipino. The referee called it a draw.

Carl Campbell, 208 pounds, knocked out Jumbo Edmonds, 240, for the second time in two rounds. Paul Karch, 153, took a four-round decision over Ray Morgan, 167; Al Muscola was no match for Ros Dumagulle, Filipino, and was technically knocked out in the fourth round; Eddie Spina took a four-round decision over Stanley Young.

STAGG DOCTORED BY FORMER PUPIL

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg was stretched on a hospital cot today, fighting an attack of bronchial pneumonia with the help of one of his football pupils of a quarter century ago.

The "grand old man," forced by his 71 years to retire as Chicago's head coach at the close of the 1932 season, was reported in no immediate danger.

In constant attendance was Dr. Max Robbe, right guard on the University of Chicago team Stagg coached to a Big Ten championship in 1907.

MESSAGE TELLS SPECIAL SESSION GOVERNOR'S VIEWS

to remove the tax on real property, the governor reviewed the history of the state deficit, which now approximates $4,000,000. He traced the deficit back to 1924, during Governor Walter Pierce's administration, when efforts to reduce the property tax were being made.

Carrying the review further, the governor related the savings effected during the two years of his administration, but that "due to the economic depression there was shrinkage beyond all expectations in revenue" from intangible, excise and income taxes the past year, further adding to the deficit which was about $3,000,000 when he took office. Last year the governor lifted the 4 1/2 mill levy on real property.

Property Tax Question!

The state tax commission for next year has levied a 2.9-mill tax on real property and the governor charged that "whether this restored property tax shall remain and be continued hereafter is the question you have been convened to determine. The time has come, in my judgment, when your honorable body should devise ways and means for abolishing this tax in its entirety forever."

In conclusion, the governor appealed to "those who may have come here with political prejudices to rise above them." He added that "in this hour of our people's distress and need we should lay aside all petty grievances, personal animosities and blind partisanship."
