Ye Smudge Pot
By Arthur Perry
Already 1933 is taking on a rosy tinge, due to the lovely news from Washington, D. C.

Will H. Wilson staggered the writer and Amos Walker Monday, by displaying a $50 bill, a fleeting glimpse being caught.

The New Year started without any impressions, and was as full of politeness as Christmas is of good cheer.

To the Editor: The automobile is coming, bringing hunger, unemployment, financial bankruptcy, ruin to our nation...

It is noted in the Portland papers that the Rockefeller Foundation fears that progress has been made in the abolishment of poverty.

The mild flu, which has been hovering in these parts, and is no Chesterfield, attacked your car, and was evicted from our person with one tablespoonful of brownish liquid.

The banks and barbershops were closed yesterday to the great annoyance of those with unreaped whiskers and social lining to do.

A quite a few followed "Eme Mohr's suggestion to 'sing and kill the Depression.'" Some results would have been obtained, but H. Flewther, the demon hawk tried to sting.

HOW WERRY PAYS (Congressional Record)
Oh, there should be no such fear, my friends. What can I say to get that fear out of your hearts?

What happens where taxes on homes are not paid? In a majority of cases small farms in city and town are financed by banks or loan associations.

HOOD RIVER—Drilling at Clarno Basin oil well resumed recently.

BROWNVILLE—Maple Lumber Co. recently shipped carload lumber.

ALBANY—Turkey shipped from this point recently.

PORTLAND—J. M. Dicker opened office on Lombard street, at intersection of Lombard Avenue.

The Answer to Technocracy

JOHN H. VAN DEVENTER, editor of Iron Age, shoots Technocracy full of holes, as follows:

Technocracy in the November Outlook claimed: "In pig iron construction one man working one hour can do what it took 650 hours to accomplish 50 years ago."

In 1928 the output per annum was 1710 tons per worker. In 1929 the production was 37.7 tons. Instead of 650 times, production has only increased 23.2 times.

Technocracy claims "a modern steel rolling mill in operation shows the plant without a human being on the floor."

What are the facts? In 1879 employment in this industry was 24 workers for each 10,000 population. In 1909 the density of employment had increased to 26 per 10,000.

The truth is the average production was only 1600 tons in the underground mines and a maximum of 12,000 tons per year in the open pits. Technocracy wrong from 100 to 1000 percent.

Technocracy claims "In 1929 ore was mined at the rate of 20,000 tons per man, per year on the Mesabi range."

The facts show there were 35,000 wage earners producing bricks in modern plants in 1929.

Technocracy claims a modern brick plant can produce 400,000 bricks per man per day.

The fact is the average modern plant produces 2000 bricks per man per day.

Technocracy claims "if the comparatively new fibrous plant, ramie is introduced to industry (and eventually it will be) the entire wood pulp, silk, wool and cotton industries will be seriously affected."

Here is Editor Van Deventer's answer: "Eight years ago ramie was on a commercial basis and it was about as highly developed then as it is now."

"Despite the fact it has considerable tensile strength it has very poor wearing qualities and can not compete with cotton, wool or flax. It can be and has been worn in this country, but the market for it is limited as it does not stand up in competition with the present fibres."

"The author's apparent surprise that ramie is stronger wet than dry reveals his ignorance of the subject. All vegetable fibres are stronger wet than dry."

All of which shows a little knowledge may be a dangerous thing and those who swallowed the technocracy propaganda bait hook and sinker, had better apply for an emetic.—R. W. R.

Personal Health Service

By William Brady, M. D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink.

BUNGLEERS THERE HE IN DIATHIRREMY
I thank you, writes a lady, "for forwarding Dr. Brady's address. I feel he is more qualified in diathirremy treatment than Dr. Brady."

The doctor whose address I forwarded the lady is a nose and throat specialist of the highest standing and some 20 years' experience. He has done his thousands of tonsillectomies but nowadays he prefers and recommends to most of his patients, the diathirremy method.

The other doctor, with whom the lady compares this specialist, is an obscure practitioner, without any medical standing. I mean by that a man who is not a member of any recognized medical society, and I do not know how the lady happened to go to such a physician for treatment.

I know there are a good many charlatans monkeying with diathirremy in surgery. Some of these are out-and-out quacks, and like all quacks they seek business by direct appeal to the credulity of the prospective patient.

I am facing a major operation and have to choose one of two surgeons—one of them has the letters F. A. C. S. after his name and the other has not.—D. F. A.

Answer—That is a childish attempt of a little clique of doctors here in America to limit the English institution. It has no significance so far as the surgeon's ability is concerned. (Copyright, John F. Dille Co.)
