Club Plans Luncheon—The Business and Professional Women's club members are making extensive plans for the luncheon meeting to be held this coming Thursday, at which they will be addressed by Mrs. Delilia Stevens Meyer, retiring county clerk. The five-point program of the national organization will also be discussed. One of the main features of the program deals with the unemployment situation, asking that each one of the 60,000 club members in the United States create one hour of work for an unemployed woman each week. A housing program is also included in the five-point project.

Accident Reported—An automobile collision at the corner of Sixth street and Central avenue was reported at the city police station today by Mrs. Minnie Burrows of 510 South Newtown street, driver of one of the automobiles. W. R. Endicott of Alturas, Cal., was listed as the other driver.

MUSIC AND MIRTH AT ROTARY MEET

Music and mirth in copious measure were combined in an attractive program of entertainment at today's meeting of the Medford Rotary club. Miss Ellow Mae Wilson, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Reynolds, presented a group of vocal and whistling selections and several songs were rendered by the club, under direction of Secretary Ed Shockley. A humorous dialogue by Rotariana Wm. Baird and George Henselman featured an original reading in dialect which was much appreciated by all.

Hamilton Patton, recently named to head the county relief work, outlined his plans for coordinating present methods, and asked support of his fellow Rotarians in providing aid for needy families. He also lauded the local Lions club for their work in conducting their soup kitchen, which is doing much to relieve distress this winter. Next week's program will present a talk on "Technocracy" by past-President E. C. Corn, according to an announcement made at today's session.

Guests at the luncheon included the Misses Wilson and Reynolds and Howard Scheffel of Klamath Falls.

BORAH WOULD CUT VALUE OF DOLLAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Senator Borah, Idaho republican, is preparing legislation to reduce the purchasing power of the dollar.

Borah's effort to draft legislation was learned today as increasing senate sentiment for consideration of the money question was disclosed in a debate on currency on the floor.

It was believed the Idaho senator might offer his legislation as a rider to some other bill coming before the senate this session.

Off the floor, Senator Borah told newspapermen he believes the time has come when the currency question must be considerd, and that if the forthcoming economic conference does not deal with the problem the United States must.

HUGE RELIEF FUND AIM OF MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. — (AP) — A bill calling for a $500,000,000 bond issue for relief was introduced today by Representative Lewis (D., Md.)

The measure is similar to that sponsored in the senate by Senators LaFollette (R., Wis.) and Costigan (D., Colo.) It would set up a federal emergency relief board, headed by the chief of the children's bureau. The other four members would be named by the president.

The drive for enactment of the $500,000,000 LaFollette-Costigan relief bill was begun today with an assertion by Senator Costigan (D., Colo.) that "the tide of human misery is rising to a dangerously high level."

Katharne Hepburn Year's Film Find

Newcomers To Screen Vie With Old Stars For Honors in 1932

By ROBBIN COONS.

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—An array of brand-new personalities made the big splash that means stardom with their dives into the movie pool during 1932, and several others not so new to the fans chose this year to top preliminary attempts with equally spectacular plunges.

The year brought to the screen for the first time the feminine find of the year, Katharine Hepburn, in "A Bill of Divorcement," the picture that made her the talk of film circles overnight.

It brought sensations with Lee Tracy in "Blessed Event" and Paul Muni in "Scarface" — two successes that were the most spectacular because both Tracy and Muni previously had been tried by Hollywood and found wanting.

It sent the little known Ann Dvorak from a movie chorus to a role in "Scarface" that meant stardom in a rapid succession of films, terminated, however, by her marriage to Leslie Fenton and desertion of Hollywood for the European studios.

It took three stage stars from the footlights and made them screen-famous in their first appearances—Charles Laughton, Mae West and Herbert Marshall—and seized Johnny Weissmuller, whose previous plaudits had all been won with swimming, from civilian ranks to exploit his physique in "Tarzan" and make him an instant success.

The year brought, too, long-awaited opportunities to a former boxer and dancer, George Raft, and to a talented character actress from the stage, Alison Skipworth. Raft, after several years of bits and parts in Hollywood, came through in "Scarface" and Miss Skipworth, after a few fairly good parts on the screen, reached stellar billing with "Madame Racketeer."

Jean Harlow, who made a sensational debut in "Hell's Angels," found 1932 her year of opportunity, achieving name-above-the-title status with "The Red Headed Woman," and Warren William clinched his stellar hold with "The Mouthpiece" and "The Dark Horse."

Aside from such stars as Leslie Howard, Fredric March, Helen Hayes, James Cagney, Jimmy Durante, Joan Blondell, and others who only added new laurels to those gained last year, there were several outstanding "discoveries" belonging exclusively to 1932.

They include George Brent, Cary Grant, Aline Macmahon, Tom Brown, Dorothy Wilson, Lyle Talbot and Preston Foster.

Several potential screen favorites await judgment on important features not yet generally released. Ethel Barrymore's talkie debut in "Rasputin" is awaited, along with hose of Ruby Keeler in "Forty-Second Street," Diana Wynyard in "Rasputin" and "Cavalcade" and Boots Mallory in "Walking Down Broadway."

NEALON ENEMIES TAKE NO ACTION FOR UNSEATING

Up to noon today, there was no sign of the threatened legal action against R. E. Nealon of Table Rock, appointed Saturday by the county court to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Barneburg, on the same day.

The appointment of Nealon was legal under Oregon law, it is declared, and the procedure left no technical loophole for his unseating, it is asserted by authorities. Nealon took the oath of office Saturday, and started to serve officially then.

The order of the county court appointing Nealon, as signed and attested was transcribed into the county journal this morning by the county clerk's office. C. B. Lamkin, former county judge, Victor Bursell, former commissioner, John Barneburg, former commissioner, and Delilah Stevens Meyer shortly before noon today signed the journal, as part of their official duty. Barneburg signed the journal for the period up to Saturday noon.

Commissioner Nealon, who left the ranks of bachelorhood Sunday will be present tomorrow at the first regular meeting of the county court, and will serve the unexpired term of Barneburg. Other members of the county court are County Judge Earl H. Fehl and Ralph Billings of Ashland.

The appointment of Nealon, which came as a surprise, met with general favor throughout the county, though some wrath was expressed in one political coterie. His selection was regarded as a happy one, generally. He is known as a man of sterling honesty and conservatism, and not of the type that can be intimidated or frightened by bluster. He is in perfect health and strength, and endowed with a dry sense of humor, and the ability to see through "hokum."

Nealon for many years has been active in Grange circles.

KIWANIS FILM ON CHILD HEALTH IS VIEWED BY MANY

A large and interested audience attended the presentation today noon of the Under-Privileged Child film at the Rialto theater under auspices of the Medford Kiwanis club. Child health and welfare workers joined the Kiwanians in viewing the work accomplished by the Des Moines club for the betterment of the under-privileged child and many worthwhile suggestions were obtained, it was stated following the showing of the film.

Preceding the picture the Kiwanians met for a short session at the Hotel Medford and the luncheon hour was given over to plans for the installation of officers, scheduled for the annual meeting next Monday night at St. Mark's Guild hall. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock and an interesitng program for the evening has been prepared by John C. Mann, chairman.

Officers to be installed are: Ted GeBauer, president; Olen Arnspiger, immediate past president; Max Pierce, vice-president; George Frey, treasurer; Carl Y. Tengwald, secretary, and the following as directors: C. S. Butterfield, J. C. Mann, C. C. Lemmon, J. C. Thompson, E. A. Faber, W. J. Warner and Everett Trowbridge.

FOX WEST COAST LINEUP UNCHANGED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Charles P. Skouras, executive vice-president of the Fox West Coast Theaters, said today that this group and its subsidiaries will not be affected by the receivership announced in Seattle Saturday for the Pacific Northwest Theaters, Inc., operators of more than 30 threaters in Washington and Oregon.

Skouras said the Pacific Northwest organization was under direct control of Fox West Coast, and receivership was considered only after $1,500,000 had been advanced to meet the operating losses.

"All controllable expenses of the Pacific Northwest Theaters were reduced to a minimum a year ago," said Skouras, "but high rentals under leases signed in boom times and inability to obtain needed wage deductions from union crafts led to the financial predicament of the concern."

START 1933 RIGHT! FIRST CHOICE for SAFETY

Race drivers know that their lives depend upon their tires—and they insist on Firestone. For 13 consecutive years Firestones have won at Indianapolis and for 6 straight years at Pikes Peak—where a slip meant death. But do you realize that your life often depends upon your tires? You too need the added protection and the extra strength of Firestone's patented construction features. Trade in your old tires. We'll give you credit for the unused mileage in them. Come in today.

The Firestone Tread is designed with angles and projections to give maximum traction and non-skid. The brakes can stop the wheels but the tires must stop the car.
