MEIER-HOLMAN FIGHT ENLIVENS WEEK IN CAPITOL

Yesterday was on sustaining Governor Julius L. Meier's veto of the repeal of the three-mill tax levy on real property passed by the special session. The vote, after the governor's message to more than 1500 words was read, stood 44 to 13 to sustain the veto, thus replacing the levy for 1933.

Preceding the vote series of conferences between legislative leaders, state officials and prominent Portland bankers gave assurances that a veto was necessary to retain the credit of the state and that if the bill were vetoed, the legislature would sustain the action. The assurances were borne out by official action.

The governor also vetoed the bill making it possible for the state to go on a warrant basis. It was officially stated in the legislature that this measure was recommended by State Treasurer Rufus C. Holman to the special session. Simultaneous with the veto of this bill, typewritten sheets were given out to some legislators bearing the program urged by the state treasurer. These suggestions criticized activities of the governor, the board of control, state purchasing agent, the auditing system and the budget department.

The breach between the governor and Holman likewise was widened when Holman was not invited into the executive conferences on state finances while a deputy from his office had been called in. The first break between the two officials, however, dates back several months earlier when the governor refused to remove William Einzig as purchasing agent at the demand of the treasurer.

Budget Pruned. But during all this activity the ways and means committees have started the night in Medford and the big task of pruning the budget, and most members have settled down to start active business at the beginning of the second week. And during this week will see some important legislation introduced.

Among the latter will be the seven-point program of the public utilities commission for a greater curb on utilities and sweeping reforms in control. Charles M. Thomas, in announcing the proposed bill which will include his entire program, stated the act would be introduced in the senate next week, bearing the names of at least 10 members of the legislature.

Program Outlined. The program of Thomas includes: Require public utilities to pay the costs in connection with investigation of their several operations. Grant to the utilities commissioner full authority to supervise securities, sales, mergers and other similar transactions. Provide for recapture of the excess above a reasonable rate of return for creation of a reserve fund to be disbursed by the utility for the benefit of its customers and under the direct supervision of the utilities commissioner.

Place the making of all budgets under the supervisory control of the public utilities commissioner, who would have the power to veto any expenditure or to withhold approval from the expenditure of a portion of the budgeted item. Must incorporate. Compel all public utilities formed in the future for operation in Oregon to incorporate under Oregon law. Confer upon the utilities commissioner the same jurisdiction in the matter of contempt as that now held by the circuit court.

Prohibit payment, directly or indirectly, to any corporation having an affiliated interest, for any services until the payment has first been approved by the utilities commissioner.

Bulgarians Celebrate Arrival Tiny Princess

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 13.—(AP)—All Bulgaria was celebrating the birth of a princess this morning—the first child of King Boris III and Queen Joanna. The mother and baby girl were reported in excellent health.

Although Bulgaria's constitution prescribes direct succession by the male line, the princess was welcomed with a warmth of affection reminiscent of the reception accorded Queen Joanna when her royal husband brought her home from Italy two years ago.

The event naturally renewed speculation as to the religion in which any children of Boris and Joanna will be brought up. The law required that the ruler of Bulgaria must be a member of the eastern church and a special permission of the pope was necessary before Boris married the Italian princess.
