Coasting Parties Popular Today

Members of the school set are very appreciative of the fact that the snow came along with vacation this week and are making the most of the fun while it lasts. Those who are unable to visit the hill regions are taking their slides in town this morning, several streets all alleys offering splendid ski runs and coasting grounds.

Greater Oregon Group Plans Luncheon

The Medford unit of the Women's Greater Oregon association will hold a covered dish luncheon and meeting in the club rooms at the city hall, Monday, January 23, at 12 o'clock. All women of southern Oregon who are interested in our state's welfare and development are asked to be present. An interesting program has been prepared and there are important business matters to be brought before the association. There are now about 23,000 Oregon women who are members of this association and the women of the Rogue River valley have a definite program of work before them for the year 1933 in becoming better acquainted with our own resources and the development of our own industries. Each lady attending the noon luncheon Monday is asked to bring an Oregon product or prepared dish whose principal ingredient is raised or manufactured in Oregon.

To Meet at Salem Monday

The Oregon Council for the protection of Roadside Beauty will convene at the Hotel Marion, Salem, Monday, January 23, according to invitations received here. Luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock, and 11 persons interested in attending are asked to make reservations through Mrs. Myron Van Eaton, route 4, Salem.

Leave for Eugene

Mr. and Mrs. Leth Abbott of Portland and Arthur Bear of Eugene arrived Wednesday evening in Medford to be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Knapp. The visitors left for Eugene yesterday afternoon, where Mr. Abbott will attend the meetings of the state editorial association.

Misses Take to Hills

A group of the school misses left Medford today for the hill region, neighboring Jacksonville, equipped with skis and alpine sticks, and prepared for a lot of skiing. In the group were Misses Kathryn Robinson, Maxine Robinson, Ethel and Beth Slagle, Helen McAllister, Mary Van Dyke and Evelyn Herman.

CONFIDENCE VOTED COUNTY OFFICIALS AT MASS MEETING

technical question, "Who is a taxpayer?"

L. C. Garlock replied, "Any lady of your intelligence ought to know that."

Mr. Garlock, commander of the Medford post, then advanced to the loud speaker and said that the check of the names by the Legion post showed that 869 of the 1074 not listed on the records of Jackson county as taxpayers, and that 439 of the signers were. The same check showed that 236 of the signers were not registered voters, and that 41 of the signers, according to the court records, had been convicted in the courts of offenses.

Men Try Hand.

Two men later arose from the floor and asked questions. One was Roy Chandler, secretary of the Unemployed association; the other was W. W. Truax of this city, a miner and well-known resident.

At the start of the meeting Attorney E. E. Kelly announced that he would reply to the 13 demands of L. A. Banks. The mild heckling came up just before the answering started. Up to this point the audience was good-natured, and frequent laughter greeted the comments of the speakers.

The meeting closed with the adoption of a short resolution, by a standing vote, pledging support to "the duly elected and appointed officers of the county." All but approximately 200 arose. A collection was started, to cover expenses of the meeting, but most of those present, tired with nearly three hours of talking, started to leave. Many, however, came forward and gave donations.

Speeches Reported.

W. J. Locker took a stenographic report in detail of all speeches, scheduled and impromptu.

Neil Allen of Grants Pass, a Legionnaire and head of the Southern Oregon Bar association, in his remarks "regretted the conditions here" and said, "In Josephine county we often hear the remark, 'I'm glad we haven't such an uproar,' and 'I wouldn't want to live in Jackson county now.'"

Raymond Reiter, president of the Rogue River Traffic association, told of the organization's relations with Banks, and described him as "a notorious non-cooperator." Reiter said, "With the disturbed conditions now prevailing, it will be a problem where money will be procured to finance the fruit crop. Nobody cares to lend money under the present conditions. We will have to do the best we can and find a way."

Civic League Head Talks.

Rev. L. A. Oldenburg, secretary of the Jackson County Civic league, in a short address, gave assurances that the organization would stand back of any move for the return of harmony.

Attorney Gus Newbury, called from the rear of the hall to the platform, made a speech and told a story. He praised the law-enforcing agencies of Jackson county.

Cheers and applause greeted his observation that "Earl H. Fehl will not make a half-bad county judge if L. A. Banks will leave him alone."

The speaker told how Banks, following an action in which he represented him, had complimented Judge H. D. Norton as an able and conscientious jurist. Attorney Newbury reviewed the history of "affidavits of prejudice," filed through Attorney M. O. Wilkins, describing the prejudicing of Judge James T. Brand of Coos county in the receivership suit now pending. The speaker declared, "affidavits of prejudice just roll out of them." Attorney M. O. Wilkins, occupying a seat in the gallery, was interested, and sometimes amused, spectator.

Roberts Holds Hope

Attorney George M. Roberts, in a rousing address, deplored the chaotic local condition and ventured the opinion that the level-headedness of the people of Jackson county will prevail and "old time harmony return, when all can live free of the constant agitation that has beset us the past two years." MOUNTAIN MAN ON TRIAL AS FIREBUG IN LONG TOM AREA

Robert Rose, well known throughout Jackson county as a guide and hunter residing in the Long Tom Mountain district, was on trial in circuit court this morning before a jury composed entirely of men for alleged setting of forest fires last August. Jack Rice, indicted with Rose for the same crime, will be tried separately. Rose is represented by Attorney Don Newbury, the state by Assistant District Attorney Geo. Neilson.

Dolph Phipps, deputy state forester for this section, testified this morning that Phil Lowd, now a deputy sheriff, and Fred Chartraw had been assigned to the investigation after a series of fires had broken out in the Long Tom section. Lowd and Chartraw had strict instructions to watch and follow Rice and Rose wherever they went. Their report led to the arrest of the two men, alleging that they saw them setting fires.

The state introduced two plaster cases of horse shoe tracks made by a horse ridden by the defendants. The state will attempt to show that the tracks were made by a horse ridden and owned by Rose. Phipps said that, owing to the nature of the ground, it was difficult to obtain good casts, but that the distinctive mark was found in the horse shoe nails. The exhibit caused Rose to shake his head with good natured laughter.

Four witnesses will be called by the state, one to show threats and comments made by Rose to fire fighters.

Maps were introduced to show the location of the fires. Witnesses testified that the fires occurred on land covered with brush and second growth timber, and that a small portion of the timber was merchantable.

Rice will be tried following the close of the present trial. The case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon late.

UNPAID MINERS PLACE LIENS ON BANKS DIGGINGS

Liens have been filed in connection with the action.

The material liens are by Medford firms for the following amounts: Hubbard Brothers, Inc., $39.25; W. E. Alexander, $31.00; Medford Pipe and Machinery Co., $59.25, and the Economy Lumber Co., $20.00.

The labor liens are:

Ciel W. Clements, 37 and a fractional day, at $5 per day, $185.50.

F. S. Johnston, 33 and a fractional day, at $3.50 per day, $117.50.

Lee Million, 33 and a fractional day, at $2.25 per day, $73.75.

Louie Loeffler, 34 and a fractional day, at $2.25 per day, $77.50.

John Flors, 34 and a fractional day, at $2.25 per day, $77.50.

The complaint sets forth that no part of the claims for labor and material has been paid, and asks that they constitute a lien against the property until paid. In each lien, $25 is sought as a "reasonable attorney's fee." Two of the plaintiffs are represented by Attorney Frank P. Farrell, the balance by Attorney Porter J. Neff.

The total amount of the labor claims, incurred between last November and January 5, the complaint recites, is $602.80. The amount of the material claims is $150.18.

For the purposes of the action, the claims were assigned to Ciel W. Clements, employed at the mine operations.

GLENDALE SUICIDE CAUSED BY WORRY

ROSEBURG, Ore., Jan. 20.—(AP)—

Less than a half-hour after his return from Salem, where he had undergone a medical examination for a claim filed with the state accident commission, Phillip Kelley, 42, committed suicide yesterday afternoon at his home at Glendale by shooting himself with a shotgun, according to circumstances related to investigating officials, who decided that an inquest would not be necessary.

Kelley evidently placed the muzzle of the weapon against his head and pressed the trigger with a ramrod.

Kelley had been nervous and worried over the effects of a fall suffered while working on a bridge near Riddle last summer. Last November he was lost for several days in the woods on Cow Creek. His widow and a son, Floyd Kelley, survive.

28 DRIVERS LOSE CARDS IN MONTH

SALEM, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Intoxication, violations of traffic regulations and physical defects caused Oregon courts to order 28 drivers to relinquish their operators' licenses during the month of December. Hal E. Hoos, secretary of state, reported today.

Of the total group losing their cards last month, 21 were intoxicated drivers, one a hit-and-run driver, and one driver was suffering from epilepsy after a seizure while driving. Suspended licenses for one-year periods. Suspended licenses of shorter terms were given to three reckless drivers, one to a driver guilty of falling to observe traffic signals and one to a driver adjudged to be epileptic.
