Chamber Commerce Plans Bridle Trails Into Wilds Between River and The Applegate, S.P. Advertise

GRANTS PASS, Jan. 23.—(Sp.)—Plans for the creation of a recreation sector adjacent to Grants Pass, which has been quietly sponsored by private citizens and executives of the Grants Pass chamber of commerce for some time, took on a national scope yesterday when it was announced the project would be advertised by the Southern Pacific railroad system.

Approximately 35,000 acres of land lying between the Rogue river and the Applegate will be penetrated by bridle trails to the attention of scenic interest in the section. Already, it has been announced, property owners in the district have signified their intention to clear the proposed paths of all underbrush, thereby giving motorists an opportunity to go deeper into the wilds of the mountains.

Open Gold Rush Trail One of the projects which will first be given attention by those back of the plan will be the reopening of an old Jacksonville trail, leading from the Murphy district to Foothills Creek. It was over the old scenic strip that hundreds of tourists were stranded during the days of the gold rush.

A survey will soon be made for the purpose of blazing a skyline route through the district. Such a plan will be perfected at little or no cost and will attract the attention of thousands of tourists who annually come west in quest of a closer communion with nature.

Although all the plans have not yet been worked out, it is definitely established that routes will be cleared along Rocky creek, Miller creek, Savage creek, Oscar creek, Wildcat creek and the Applegate. By the proposed network, those who are promoting the plan point out that tourists could easily traverse practically all the district without the hardship of leaving a regular trail.

Cabins To Be Built Under the direction of G. H. Grover, head of the recreation committee of the chamber of commerce, plans to have cabins, rustic benches and improved paths dotted through the landscape having the approval of property owners of that section. Already eight persons have declared intentions to build summer cabins.

In a communication to the chamber of commerce the Southern Pacific road publicity department asked for pictures and data on the plan. It is the plan of the railroad to carry an article with pictures. The official publication has a wide circulation in the east. All the information sought has been forwarded by Jack Harvey, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

UNEMPLOYED CUT APPLEGATE WOOD

APPLEGATE, Jan. 23.—(Sp.)—The Jackson County Unemployment Relief Association has several crews working on the Applegate cutting timber. The forest service donated some dead timber on Beaver creek, and another crew is cutting wood on the Billy Anderson place on Yale creek. People who are unemployed otherwise are cutting wood at 30c per hour which they turn over to the commissary at Medford and receive the equivalent in supplies. The wood is cut in pole lengths and hauled to Medford by those men who have trucks but are unable to buy gas and oil which is furnished by the association. The wood is stacked at the fire hall and is cut into stove lengths, then given to those unable to buy wood. This is for the unemployed only and is run exclusively by them. Clyde Stevens of the Medford fire department has charge of the wood.

This much, however, is true: By using the right kinds of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos in just the right proportions... by blending and cross-blending them together in the most careful way... we make Chesterfield what smokers say it is... a cigarette that's milder, that tastes better. ANCIENT FORK IS BENNETT HEIRLOOM

Typifying the table manners of more than 100 years ago, probably unknown to even Emily Post, a little two-tined fork was brought to the Mail Tribune yesterday by N. S. Bennett of this city.

The two small prongs of the handle-wooded steel protrude from a handle of yellowed bone. The fork belonged to Mr. Bennett's grandfather, Joel Bennett of Virginia, who fought in the war of 1812. It was a part of the wedding set with which Joel Bennett and his bride started housekeeping.
